LOTTIE O'NEILL ENTERS RACE FOR SENATOR

Runs as Independent on Dry Platform.

BY PARKE BROWN.

Mrs. Lottie Holman O'Neill of Downers Grove announced her candidacy for the United States senate yesterday. She is a Republican but will run as an independent on an arid platform, probably with the backing of the Anti-Saloon league and similar organizations.

In discussing her decision, Mrs. O'Neill said it was brought about by the moist platform adopted by the Republican state convention and the defeation of Mrs. Ruth Hanna McCormick, Republican nominee for the senatorship, to abide by an expression of majority opinion in the state referendum on prohibition at the November election.

The Democratic nominee for the senatorship is James Hamilton Lewis, a wet. The situation was further complicated immediately after Mrs. O'Neill's entry into the race by an announcement from a second wet, Abe Lincoln Wisler of Chicago, that he also will run, his petition being circulated by the Liberal party, a new organization.

Mrs. O'Neill Makes Statement.

Mrs. O'Neill is retiring from the state legislature this year after four terms there. Instead of being a candidate for a fifth term in the lower house she ran for the senate last spring against Senator Richard J. Barr and was defeated about 5 to 2. She was the first woman elected to the Illinois assembly.

Her statement of her candidacy follows:

"I have permitted the use of my name as an independent canidate for the United States senate for the following reason:

"The action of the Republican convention in Springfield on Aug. 22 in repudiating the national platform and the Hoover policy as regards the 18th amendment alienated many of the loyal Republicans of the state.

Tells Her Dry Stand.

"It was the intention of the Chicago wet delegation to control the convention and with the aid of the nominee for the United States senate on the Republican ticket they were enabled to do so. The voters in both parties who believe in prohibition were therefore left without a candidate for the United States senate and have prevailed upon me to permit my name to appear on the ballot as an independent candidate and one on whom they knew they can depend to stand by the cause of prohibition in the same steadfast manner in which I have supported it during my four years in the legislature.

"The entire movement for a third candidate developed since the convention held on Aug. 22 so far as I know. While, of course, there are points on which many of us differed with the Republican nominee, I am sure we should have gone along and supported her had it not been for the unfortunate turn of events at the convention.

Protest Made to Committee.

"In response to many requests I appeared before the resolutions committee carrying with me the names of representatives of dry organizations throughout the state which came to me after the publicity that a wet plank was threatened.

"I called the committee's attention to this protest and asked them to heed it, but to no avail. The reading of the resolution was ruled off the floor and delegates were not permitted to enter into a discussion of the issue.

"I regretted this because I knew that it meant trouble ahead. It is only after the most careful deliberation and the conclusion that I would be shirking my plain duty if I refused that I have consented to permit the use of my name as a candidate.

Makes Pledge to Supporters.

"The groups backing this candidacy will announce themselves and make their own statement later. They represent the people in our state who resent the tactics used by some of our political leaders in bowing to political expediency instead of supporting principle. I am flattered to have their endorsement and shall do all possible to aid their cause and, if elected, to carry out their wishes.

"Included in this group are Democratic organizations and individual voters who are not satisfied with the stand of the candidate as well as a large group of Republicans who think they have a right to expect the Re-

Dallas Greets French Ocean Flyers

Good Will Tour of U. S. Assured.

Dallas, Tex., Sept. 4.—[Special.]—Conquerors of the Atlantic from east to west, Dieudonne Coste and Maurice Bellonte at 5:29:45 p. m. (6:29:45 Chicago daylight saving time) completed an epochal Paris-New York-Dallas aerial pilgrimage by landing at Love field here with 1,700 miles of land flying added to their log of achievement.

They had proved that this country of magnificent distances offered less of an obstacle to the seasoned Question Mark than did the vast reaches of the Atlantic. Eleven hours 34 minutes and 45 seconds had elapsed since they lifted their plane from Curtiss field, New York, at 7:55 a. m. New York time (6:55 Chicago daylight saving time).

Crowds Welcome Them.

More than 20,000 Texans, massed at Love field, continued the acclaim which greeted the Frenchmen in New York, while millions of Americans had watched the skies for the cardinal hued plane as it progressed in almost perfect flying weather on the last leg of a record breaking journey.

Not even Col. Lindbergh, three years ago, evoked a warmer welcome in Dallas than did Coste and Bellonte.

With wild enthusiasm the crowd at Love field rushed the plane as it landed. Cheering thousands lined the downtown streets to get a glimpse of the visitors as they were convoyed to their hotel for a respite from their second test of nerve and endurance within the week.

Missed by Escort.

First glimpse of the Question Mark and its accompanying pilot plane was when the two craft flew out of the northeast after having been reported over Greenville, Tex., at 5:12 p. m.

They slipped in ahead of the escort of ten Texas planes which had gone out to meet them, but had no difficulty in locating the field, which they circled.

The two planes then flew over the city and back from the south to the landing place. The crimson Question Mark was slightly ahead of the pilot plane as the two passed over the business district.

Landing was made far out in the field, Coste and Bellonte taxiing the plane toward the vast crowd, the way pointed by a flagman.

Crowd Overruns Guards.

When the craft was within 100 yards of the crowd the throng broke through and almost overwhelmed the 100 mounted national guardsmen and a detail of fifty police officers, who with difficulty made a way through the jam for the Frenchmen.

The visitors were taken to the Southern Air Transport administration building, where they were formally greeted by Mayor J. Waddy Tate, General Manager J. Ben Critz of the chamber of commerce, and George Smith, newspaper man of Snyder, representative of Col. William E. Easterwood, whose prize offer of $25,000 Coste and Bellonte won by their flight here.

Prize Assured by Donor.

Cullen F. Thomas, Dallas lawyer, extended Gov. Moody's greetings for the state to the Frenchmen. Coste and Bellonte responded with brief expressions of their satisfaction at the conclusion of their undertaking, speaking to the world at large through a nation-wire radio hookup by station WFAA.

Talking over the Atlantic radio telephone to Dallas from his hotel in London today, Col. Easterwood, donor of the $25,000 prize, said:

"If Coste and Bellonte land in Dallas within the time specified they will have complied with every provision of the contract for a Paris-to-Dallas flight and will receive the $25,000 offered.

"I am flying from London to Paris immediately to confer with the French air minister as to the details of the presentation of the check. The presentation will be made by me in Paris, New York or Dallas."

Coste and Bellonte will take off from Dallas at 7 or 8 a. m. tomorrow en route to Washington, where they will be greeted by President Hoover Monday. They announced at a late hour that they likely would stop in Louis-

Two Glencoe boys, Thomas Straus, 9 year old son of Melvin L. Straus, vice president of S. W. Straus & Co., and William Greenebaum, 10 years old, a stepson of Attorney Julius Hoffman, were wading at the beach of the Lake Shore Country club at Glencoe yesterday when they stepped into a deep hole and sank. Mrs. Leo Straus, grandmother of Thomas, was watching the boys from their car. The chauffeur, Edward Stoneburg, pulled them from the lake. The Greenebaum boy was unconscious when brought ashore. An inhalator squad of Glencoe firemen revived him and he was taken to the Highland Park hospital.

W. C. T. U. Is Witness to Polite Battle

Mrs. Stanley Field, prominent Lake Forest society woman and wife of the president of the Field museum, inspired some discussion on Wednesday when her opinions on the prohibitory law met with resistance of a spirited type.

About thirty members of the Lake county chapter of the W. C. T. U., it became known yesterday, were meeting in the Agard Deaconess home, Lake Bluff, when Mrs. Field appeared, accompanied by her daughter, Mrs. T. Clifford Rodman, and by her neighbor, Mrs. Carlyle M. Keyes, wife of a Chicago attorney.

Attend W. C. T. U. Meeting.

As the three women took seats towards the rear of the room there was suppressed whispering and craning of necks. The members of the W. C. T. U. were aware that Mrs. Field had accepted chairmanship of the Lake Bluff branch of the Women's Organization for National Prohibition Reform.

Miss Helen Hood, state president of the W. C. T. U., was on the platform urging the members to stand staunch in their determination against modification or repeal of the prohibition laws. When she had concluded Mrs. Field arose and asked permission to put a question to the speaker.

Mrs. Scott Durand, also prominent in north shore society and president of the W. C. T. U. chapter, granted Mrs. Field's request.

Questions W. C. T. U. President.

"How is it," Mrs. Field inquired, "that, if the liquor problem has been settled and the bane of booze swept away, that the Keeley institute for inebriates at Dwight, Ill., has a greater patronage than before prohibition?"

"That's simple," Miss Hood retorted. "The Keeley institute now has a monopoly on a business formerly shared by a dozen such institutions now closed. And besides, they now treat drug addicts as well."

Depicts Dry Era's Evils.

There was scattered applause, but Mrs. Field had not finished. She walked to the platform, asked permission to make an address, and for ten minutes sketched a picture of the prohibition era, emphasizing the gang feuds, official corruption and lawlessness attending what she called "the noble experiment."

"It is apparent that Mrs. Field has been misinformed about present conditions," said Mrs. Durand. "For our part we ladies of the W. C. T. U. will do everything in our power to keep this truly noble law on the statute books. The bootlegging problem has been created by a few of the rich, who patronize bootleggers. This problem will be eliminated in time."

Reports that the discussion approached violence were denied by Mrs. C. P. Tibbits of Libertyville, chairman of the Lake county division of the W. C. T. U.

"Mrs. Field made several absurd statements," said Mrs. Tibbits. "Some of the ladies were bored. Others were infuriated and got right up and told her a few things. Feeling ran pretty high, but there was no physical violence."

Mrs. Field refused to discuss the episode.

LON CHANEY LEAVES ESTATE OF $550,000; EX-WIFE WILLED $1

Hollywood, Cal., Sept. 4.—[Special.]—An estate valued at $550,000 is disposed of in the will of the late Lon Chaney, film star. Probate hearings today were set for Sept. 29.

The bulk of Chaney's property goes to the widow, Mrs. Hazel Hastings Chaney, who is named executrix.

Cleva Creighton Bush of Pasadena, divorced wife of Chaney, is left $1, the will explaining in a short paragraph that this is done in order to prevent a contest. Also the writer asserted that he is under no obligation to do anything for her.

John Jeske, Chaney's chauffeur and companion, is left $5,000. The will further declares that George and John Chaney and Carrie Keys, brothers and sister of Chaney, and Creighton Chaney, a son, are provided for in the actor's life insurance, which amounts to $275,000.

Wife's Story of Kidnap Ride Baffles Police

A pretty brunette who last night drove up to the Woodlawn police station from Michigan City, Ind., with a kidnaping story and a $22.75 taxi bill precipitated a mystery as to her identity that was still unsolved early this morning.

She said she was Mrs. Nathan Kerner of 3286 Cortland street, Detroit, and that her husband is the owner of the Eastman amusement park there. She had no money to pay the taxi driver, but she showed two diamond rings, one worth $1,000 and the other $1,500. A neighborhood butcher, who happened to be in the station, advanced the money.

Tells of Kidnaping, Robbery.

She told Desk Sergeant Felix Golden that Wednesday night about 7 o'clock, as she was driving alone in her eight cylinder sedan, a car with a man and a woman in it crowded her to the curb. They got into her sedan, the man tying her feet with a rope and putting a coat over her head. Then he robbed her of a sable wrap valued at $1,000, a $100 wedding ring, and $35 in currency. Previously she had dropped the other rings into the bosom of her dress.

They drove all night, she said, the woman at the wheel, and the man sitting in the rear seat with Mrs. Kerner on the floor of the tonneau. She could tell from his conversation he was drinking heavily. At daylight they untied her, and put her out by the roadside. She walked four miles to Michigan City and hired the taxi, she said.

After finishing her story to Sergt. Golden she became hysterical and collapsed. She was taken to the Washington Park hospital, where she threw a pillow at a photographer who took a flashlight of her.

THE TRIBUNE'S Detroit correspondent telephoned the Kerner home and was informed by a man who said he was Mr. Kerner's brother that Mrs. Kerner had not been kidnaped. "She's right here now," he said. Then a women spoke over the phone to the correspondent, saying, "I'm Mrs. Kerner." The Detroit police said they had had no report of the case.

Police Receive Call.

In the meantime, however, Operator Joseph Lynch of the Woodlawn station, answering the telephone two hours after the woman had been taken to the Washington Park hospital, was informed by a man's voice:

"This is Nathan Kerner of Detroit speaking. I want to know about my wife. I have been notified by the Detroit police she was kidnaped. I certainly have been worried. I made some inquiries quietly, because I didn't want any publicity. I am leaving tonight on a Michigan Central train and will be in Chicago tomorrow."

Operator Lynch quotes Mr. Kerner as saying he had received no threats of any kind and had had no trouble with any one. The woman spent the night at the Washington Park hospital, where it was said she had no apparent physical injuries and that her trouble seemed to be nervousness.

N. Y. Metropolitan Area Has 10,740,693 Population

New York, Sept. 4.—(AP)—The population of New York City's metropolitan area is computed at 10,740,693 by a committee of the Merchants' association, a gain of 1,200,000 since July 1, 1926. The territory includes New York City, Nassau, Suffolk, Rockland, and Westchester counties, eight New Jersey counties, and part of Fairfield county, Connecticut.

SAN DOMINGO WRECKED, BUT FLORIDA IS SAFE

Mountains Break Up Force of Storm.

Florida Danger Past

Washington, D. C., Sept. 4.—(AP)—Unless the tropical hurricane which devastated Santo Domingo yesterday gathers force anew, Charles L. Mitchell, forecaster of the Washington weather bureau, said tonight, danger to the Florida cost from the disturbance was past.

The storm advisory issued tonight by the weather bureau said no winds of gale force had been reported from the disturbance tonight.

Mr. Mitchell explained the mountains of Santo Domingo had acted as a brake upon the swirling air currents and had apparently broken the wind's force until it was no longer dangerous.

He said there was a possibility it might again gather strength in crossing the ocean after leaving Cuba, but added he was hopeful that danger to the coast of the United States had passed. He said the highest wind of the day from the hurricane area was only 50 miles an hour, as compared to a wind of 136 miles reported from Santo Domingo yesterday.

SAN JUAN, Porto Rico, Sept. 4.—(AP)—Gov. Gen. Theodore Roosevelt was informed tonight that 800 men were dead in the city of Santo Domingo alone as the result of the tropical hurricane, with no part of the interior of the Dominican republic heard from. The governor's information came from Maj. Cary I. Crockett, who flew from San Juan to the Dominican capital this afternoon. Maj. Crockett's estimate was made after he had conferred with President Trujillo and Charles B. Curtis, American minister.

Maj. Crockett radioed Gov. Roosevelt that the American minister with his staff and all Europeans were saved but that the American legation was destroyed.

He said that three-quarters of the houses were practically destroyed and that the entire city was badly damaged.

Finds Hundreds Hurt.

The 800 deaths were estimated by President Trujillo. That many had been counted at the time of the conference and it was indicated that the number in the city might go higher, with the remainder of the country yet to be heard from.

Hundreds of others were injured, but the message did not attempt to estimate the number. Maj. Crockett said there was urgent need for physicians, medical supplies, tents, cots, blankets, clothing and 50,000 to 100,000 rations. He added that funds from the Red Cross also were badly needed.

Maj. Crockett had been sent to Santo Domingo by the American Red Cross at the instance of Gov. Roosevelt. He radioed back to Roosevelt as soon as he had landed that the Dominican capital was almost obliterated.

"City Almost Wiped Out."

"Just arrived at landing field," read a message sent by the Pan-American radio apparatus. "As viewed from plane the city is almost obliterated."

The Bull insular line received a message from Ramon Martinez, its resident agent in Santo Domingo, which confirmed the impression of Maj. Crockett.

Martinez said that 55 per cent of the city was destroyed and that the company house in which he lived, a modern concrete structure, was demolished, he and his family barely escaping. Officials of the company said that the house was in the new Gascue residential section of Santo Domingo and only a short distance from the presidential mansion.

Hunger and Disease.

SANTO DOMINGO, Sept. 4.—(AP)—The specters of hunger and disease following the tropical hurricane yesterday confronted authorities here this afternoon and calls were issued for medical supplies and food.

The city itself still is isolated from the rest of the republic and all estimates of casualties and material damage over the country are mere guesswork, since the hurricane which struck the capital with such devastating fury must have wreaked similar if not heavier havoc in the interior.

Early Fall Sends Men To Stores For Apparel

Stop cheating the horses. Give Dobbin his hay. It's time to buy a hat. Visits to a number of stores this week indicate that many have taken our advice even before we gave it. We never saw so many men standing before mirrors. "Many more men than last year have let it go to their heads," said a merchant yesterday, speaking of fall hats.

Upstairs in the clothing department attendance is good, too. The early autumn has helped bring that around. A coolish zephyr getting through one's loose summer knit is persuasive. Or maybe it's because fabric for fabric and make for make suits cost less than a year ago. In any case men are buying suits, hats and furnishings, taking advantage of the lower range of prices while the assortment is complete.

city today who has not suffered either bodily or materially from the storm. Thousands of native houses were flattened and its inhabitants are without light and water and a shortage of food also is imminent. Help is urgently needed.

Storm Blew Four Hours.

The hurricane struck Santo Domingo at 2 p. m. and blew for four hours. Houses in the aristocratic quarter were razed to their foundations. Dwellings of the poor simply disappeared on the wings of a wind estimated to be blowing around 150 miles an hour.

Scenes whose horror exceeded anything witnessed here in ten years followed its passage. President Rafael Trujillo took personal charge of the relief work. The entire army was called out.

In the neighborhood of the capital bridges were wrecked and roads were rendered impassible. Telegraph lines simply vanished.

The lunatic asylum was destroyed and those inmates escaping death ran wild through the city streets, adding to the horror of the disorder and confusion everywhere. They were finally recaptured by soldiers and police.

There have been many robberies.

The districts of Nueva Villa, Duarte, and San Carlos were destroyed, scarcely a wreck of a wall left standing.

Cuba Answers Appeal.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

HAVANA, Sept. 4.—Scenes of death, horror and hunger were contained in the first official authentic report received here from the republic of Santo Domingo today by President Machado. Requesting that the government of Cuba, if possible, come to the immediate assistance of her sister republic and, informing the administration that the Cuban legation in that country had been totally destroyed, the Cuban minister at Santo Domingo sent the following cable to the Cuban executive:

"The cyclone Wednesday has destroyed the city and surroundings, causing death to more than 300. The number of injured is not known at this hour. Rescue efforts are very difficult and slow. Thousands are homeless and bad weather persists; the situation is desperate. Almost chaotic conditions are prevailing. The edifice and the furniture of the legation have been completely destroyed as well as all other legations."

Upon this appeal the government of Cuba tonight chartered a Ford trimotored plane which will leave early tomorrow morning with eight Cuban physicians and medical supplies bound for Santo Domingo. The plane is expected to arrive there late tomorrow afternoon. The doctors will make a survey of conditions, reporting directly to President Machado as to the supplies needed. They will also aid in relieving the suffering and distressed.

Four Deaths in Dominica.

BARBADOS, Sept. 4.—(AP)—With reports yet to arrive here from two-thirds of the British island of Dominica in the Lesser Antilles, four deaths and extensive crop damage had been reported today as a result of the hurricane.

The entire lime and cocoa crops were wiped out and extensive damage was done at Roseau, the capital, where many houses were unroofed.

A brief official report received from Dominica today by a circuitous route said a hurricane of considerable intensity struck the island Monday, causing widespread destruction of crops and private property, especially the houses of peasantry and laboring classes.

Outside of the four deaths, no other serious casualties so far could be ascertained. Many vessels, including a coastal schooner and coastal motor launches, were lost. There was no immediate shortage of food or other supplies.

Telephone communication throughout the island has been cut off and complete reports from the other districts are unavailable. No accurate estimate of the damage could be had. A dispatch from Santiago de Cuba says that 20 persons were killed in Dominica.

Red Cross Rushes Aid.

Washington, D. C., Sept. 4.—(AP)—The American Red Cross tonight authorized Gov. Roosevelt of Porto Rico to spend $5,000 for emergency medical supplies to be shipped to Santo Domingo tomorrow for relief of hurricane victims. The medical supplies will be shipped on the steamship Catherine from San Juan to the stricken island republic.

Earlier in the day the Red Cross had made an initial appropriation of $15,000 for relief of Santo Domingo.

Coincidentally with the issuance of the forecaster's reassuring report the American Red Cross moved again to extend relief to devastated Santo Domingo.

Order $10,000 Emergency Fund.

Acting after reports had been received from Gov. Roosevelt of Porto Rico that 800 were dead in Santo Domingo city alone, with no reports from the interior sections, the Red Cross first announced that the governor had been authorized to spend $5,000 for emergency medical supplies and later this amount was increased to $10,000.

Earlier in the day the relief agency had made an "initial appropriation" of $15,000 in cash to be expended under the direction of American Minister Curtis and Capt. Antonio Silva, who went from Porto Rico by airplane.

Gov. Roosevelt also had asked permission from the war department to draw upon the army commissaries there for needed relief supplies. The American destroyer Grebe was proceeding from the Virgin islands tonight to San Juan where it will pick up tomorrow 30 medical personnel, under the direction of Dr. Fernos-Isern, assistant health officer of Porto Rico.

Ships to Rush Supplies.

Dr. Fernos-Isern was acting health officer at the time of the Porto Rican hurricane and will direct the medical relief work in Santo Domingo.

Later in the day the all-American cable ship will leave San Juan for Santo Domingo, the Red Cross said, with tents, cots, and other supplies, and the steamship Catherine will transport the medical supplies purchased by Gov. Roosevelt.

The Red Cross said emergency committees to aid the governor had been established in San Juan, and for the present that city would remain headquarters for the relief operations.

U. S. Navy Rushes Plane.

Upon recommendation of Col. R. M. Cutts, commander of the First brigade at Port au Prince, Haiti, Secretary of the Navy Adams and Maj. Gen. Ben H. Fuller, commandant of the marine corps, approved the sending of a plane from Port au Prince to Santo Domingo to ascertain if medical or other assistance was desired, and at the same time Secretary Adams approved the sending of medical supplies to the stricken area.

Col. Cutts said he had been unable to establish direct communication with Santo Domingo, which is on the eastward end of the island from Port au Prince.

Admiral F. C. Billard, commander of the coast guard, offered to the Red Cross use of the cutter Pontchartrain, now at Mobile, for transporting supplies to Santo Domingo if it is needed.

State department records showed today approximately 3,000 Americans reside in the Dominican republic. The records, however, did not show the number residing in the city of Santo Domingo or other cities or the occupations of the remainder.

HURRICANE LOSES ITS FORCE

Black line on map shows course of hurricane which on Wednesday almost obliterated Santo Domingo, capital of the Dominican republic, and, according to latest reports, left 800 dead in that city. The storm swept over this island republic after ravaging the British island of Dominica.

After wrecking the Dominican capital, and missing the western end of the island, containing the republic of Haiti, it swirled from its west-northwest direction directly north with its force considerably diminished.

The Washington weather bureau last night announced that though Cuba and Florida were in the hurricane's path the mountains of Santo Domingo had acted as a brake and had apparently broken the wind's force until it was no longer dangerous.

FEAR RELICS RUINED

Washington, D. C., Sept. 4.—(AP)—Reports of death and destruction wrought in Santo Domingo by the first disastrous hurricane of the season aroused fear in the minds of historians today that long preserved relics in the first new world settlement may have been destroyed.

Some of the buildings in the picturesque city dated back to the first years of the sixteenth century and were targets for the cannons of Sir Francis Drake when he raided the Spanish main. At this city all of the vessels laden with gold for shipment to Spain congregated twice a year to make the overseas journey in a group.

The white gold of sugar has replaced the ore which streamed through the port in former days, and many modern touches have been brought to the city, but there still look down upon the harbor many of the solidly constructed buildings that were built in the early settlement days.

Among these are the ruins of the castle of Diego Columbus, son of Christopher Columbus; the homage tower, built in 1503; and the cathedral where some say lie the bones of the discoverer of America. The cathedral was built between 1514 and 1540, and Columbus was buried there and remained there until 1796, when some historians record that the remains were removed to Havana.

LINER, TOSSED ABOUT LIKE CORK, ARRIVES IN PORT

Hurricane Nearly Ruined Ship, Captain Says.

SAN JUAN, Porto Rico, Sept. 4.—(AP)—A battered tropical passenger liner arrived at this port today after having passed through the very center of one of the worst hurricanes the Caribbean has known in many years. The ship, the Porto Rico liner Coamo, Capt. Thomas Evans commanding, escaped annihilation narrowly. The ship suffered damage of at least $75,000.

The Coamo turned back from Santo Domingo, her destination, last night, and for a dozen hours no word came of her fate. Her wireless failed early in the evening and it had been feared disaster had been visited upon the ship and all on board.

Emerging from the great windstorm this morning, Capt. Evans brought the Coamo safely to anchor, but he could not explain how, with the storm at its height all about him, amid furious seas, the ship missed being wiped out, he said.

Hurricane Strips Decks.

Buffeted for more than seven hours, the engineers raced the engines at full speed but could make little or no headway. The wind stripped the decks of everything movable, tore off the hatches, and threw the vessel so far over on her side that the oiling machinery was useless. At last Chief Engineer McGough was forced to stop the engines entirely so that emergency oiling could be done and fuel oil ballast could be pumped from port to starboard bunkers to trim the ship.

In all of this maelstrom not a life was lost and only a few passengers were slightly injured. Dr. W. F. Gray, ship's surgeon, who made a further examination of all in his charge, announced that their injuries were trivial.

Because of storm warnings the Coamo had delayed sailing from San Juan for Santo Domingo a full day. During the early hours of yesterday the barometer went on a rampage, rising and falling, and stopping at 27.75 because it could go no lower.

The ship was then four miles off Santo Domingo harbor. The seas were running too high to permit anchorage. Capt. Evans cruised about, hoping for calm.

Suddenly a strong off shore wind and rain blotted out the island before the skipper's gaze. From then until afternoon the storm rose in intensity. Just before 1 p. m., the captain said, the ship approached the center of the disturbance.

"In all my years at sea I never have encountered more wind," Capt. Evans said.

Victor Braegger, a passenger, describing the storm, said: "At 1 o'clock all of a sudden, the wind subsided as if by magic. We had reached the center of the storm and an oasis of comparative calm.

Birds Seek Ship's Shelter.

"Mountainous waves were rolling past us. The ship became a haven for all kinds of sea birds seeking shelter, clinging to the railing, ropes canvas, and window sills of the cabins. The birds seemed exhausted as if from a struggle of hours in the terrific gale.

"At 1:30 p. m., with a terrific pounding and slamming of wind and waves, we were driven right into the thick of it again."

"The ship seemed to spring leaks everywhere. The water came in through ceilings, doors, windows, broken skylights—from everywhere and nowhere. All you could see was here or there a flash of spray. The din was terrific. The ship would tip until it seemed it never could right itself."

On arrival all Coamo passengers were sent ashore to hotels in midmorning. The crew spread mattresses, bedding, curtains, and furniture on the decks in an attempt to dry them out for the voyage to New York, scheduled to start tomorrow morning.

FLOOD IN INDIA DRIVES 100,000 OUT OF HOMES

SHILLONG, India, Sept. 4.—(AP)—More than 100,000 persons have been driven from their homes by floods on the River Brahmatutra, particularly near Bokoni and Laokhoa, where the water has risen over housetops.

Many granaries have been washed away and cattle drowned. Communications have been cut off from the inundated area and no trains are running. The government has ordered relief measures.

Quake Demolishes Villages.

RANGOON, Burma, Sept. 4.—(AP)—Information reached here today of a serious earthquake at Tyapon, 80 miles southwest of Rangoon. Villages were demolished, waterways disorganized, and crops destroyed. There were no details as to loss of life, but many persons are missing, and considerable live stock has been destroyed.

ADVERTISE IN THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE

MEYER SELECTED FOR GOVERNOR OF RESERVE BOARD

Senate Radicals Sure to Renew 1928 Fight.

BY ARTHUR CRAWFORD.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Sept. 4.—[Special.]—Although senate radicals are virtually certain to stir up a row, President Hoover is prepared to announce the selection of Eugene Meyer as governor of the federal reserve board.

The appointment has been made possible, it was learned authoritatively, by the willingness of Edmund Platt, present member of the board from the New York federal reserve district, to resign. Continuance of Mr. Platt, who plans to accept an offer outside the government service, would have made Mr. Meyer's appointment impossible under the law prohibiting the naming of more than one member from any district.

Close Friend of President.

The President has long been a close friend of Mr. Meyer and regards him as a financier of outstanding reputation, as such as he has been seeking since the resignation of Gov. Roy A. Young, announced last week. Mr. Meyer, who gave up New York banking connections when he entered war service, and who remained with the government as director of the war finance corporation and as head of the farm loan board until last year, is wealthy and is understood to have consented reluctantly to take the governorship of the federal reserve board.

Democrats May Decide Fight.

Whether or not the probable fight on Mr. Meyer's confirmation in the senate assumes formidable proportions is contingent upon the attitude taken by the Democrats. The radical Republicans lined up against Mr. Meyer's confirmation when he was named by President Coolidge in 1928 as head of the farm loan bureau. At that time most of the Democrats voted for Mr. Meyer and he was confirmed by a vote of 60 to 13. In the negative were seven Republicans and six Democrats, with such radicals as La Follette, Blaine, Brookhart, Frazier, McMaster, and Nye leading the opposition.

This time the radicals are expected to appeal for Democratic aid in a fight on the plea that Mr. Meyer's appointment means Wall street influence on the federal reserve board.

The view of the more extreme radicals toward Mr. Meyer was expressed by Senator S. W. Brookhart [Rep., Ia.] in the senate in May, 1929, at the time of the announcement of Meyer's resignation as head of the farm loan board.

Scored in 1929 by Brookhart.

"I want to say that this is the most fortunate moment for the cooperative movement in the United States in all its history," said Senator Brookhart.

"The cooperative movement has been sidetracked, deserted, headed off and thrown down by decoy ducks and traitors to the movement largely sent in there by the Wall street crowd for just that purpose. I hope the President will nominate a man that we can approve as a real cooperator, and not one who has worked the Shylock game for the interests of big business."

President Hoover, in accepting Mr. Meyer's resignation at that time, expressed great appreciation for his work in reorganizing the farm loan board following the upheavals due to the new collapse of joint stock land banks.

While Mr. Meyer performed service in relation to agriculture credits in a manner which gained the commendation of Presidents Harding, Coolidge, and Hoover, and previously in war time was in the confidence of President Wilson, he has incurred enmities among some farm groups. He also clashed with a group of joint stock land bankers. He was instrumental in bringing about the prosecution of a number of these bankers, including Guy Huston of Chicago, who was convicted in the lower federal court, together with William H. Gold, for violation of mail laws in promoting the southern Minnesota joint stock land bank. The United States Circuit Court of Appeals reversed the decision. On the basis of that decision the joint stock land bankers involved have accused Mr. Meyer and others who acted for the government of persecuting them.

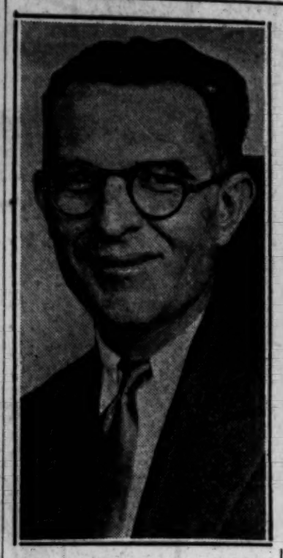
May Be Announced Today.

President Hoover may announce Mr. Meyer's appointment tomorrow in case Mr. Platt's resignation reaches him in time.

There will still remain an appointment to be made as a member of the board to succeed Mr. Young, who was a resident of the Minneapolis federal reserve district.

Mr. Meyer was born in Los Angeles in 1875 and graduated from the University of California and from Yale. He studied banking and international finance in Europe for two years and headed the firm of Eugene Meyer Jr. & Co. in New York City, and was a director of many corporations from 1901 until 1917, when he resigned to take up war work.

Again Escapes Georgia Chain Gang



Robert Elliott Burns, who became Chicago publisher after first escape in 1922, but was finally returned to state from which he has again fled.

Lillian Salo, pretty violinist, for whom Burns had deserted his wife, who on that account opposed Burns' appeal for a pardon.

ROBERT E. BURNS AGAIN ESCAPES GEORGIA PRISON

Former Chicago Publisher Hunted by Posses.

Atlanta, Ga., Sept. 4.—[Special.]—Freedom today beckoned again to Robert Elliot Burns, one time Chicago publisher and the man who converted his first prison break eight years ago into a successful business venture. Once more he walked away from a Georgia chain gang.

Burns was serving a far from completed six to ten year robbery sentence following the recapture which ended a little over a year ago his seven years of liberty. Recently made a trusty at the Troup county chain gang and given the water boy assignment, he went to the well for his first bucket at 7:30 this morning. Late tonight he had not returned.

Posses On His Trail.

The man, remembered by the guards as a small, dapper figure with highly polished manners—according to the code of south Georgia prison authorities—was being hunted by posses sent out soon after his escape had been discovered and with no clew in sight.

In March, 1922, Burns was convicted in the courts of this county of robbing an Atlanta grocery store of $1.33. He had drifted into this state after being discharged from the army and two chance companions assisted in taking the contents of a store till, $4, which they split three ways.

Recaptured in Chicago.

In June, 1922, he escaped from the Campbell county chain gang, to which he had been "farmed out" by Fulton county. He was recaptured in Chicago when Georgia officers and a Chicago policeman surprised him in his publishing office.

There were delays in Chicago about extraditing him and nation-wide appeals were filed in his behalf. Newspapers all over the country emphasized the three months' chain gang service and the $1.33 Burns profited by his lapse into crime.

Finally, however, Burns waived extradition and returned to Campbell county with the Georgia officers. He reimbursed the state of Georgia for the expense of returning him. Preliminaries for filing a clemency plea were launched immediately.

First Plea Denied.

One plea was denied, but on July 9 last an application for pardon or parole was heard by the state prison commission, but no recommendation has ever been transmitted by the board to Gov. L. G. Hardman, who is said to be sympathetic toward Burns.

Opposition to the parole came from Burns' wife and is assigned to the former publisher's desertion of her for Lillian Salo, pretty 22 year old violinist.

Legionnaires of Chicago urged his parole, but one district group in Georgia adopted resolutions condemning the use of its name in connection with the move for pardon.

GOVERNOR STAYS EXECUTION OF 2 NEGRO SLAYERS

Two Negro slayers, Lafon Fisher and Leonard Shadlow, condemned to die in the electric chair shortly after midnight, were given a thirty days' reprieve last night by Gov. Emmerson at Springfield. The reprieve was asked by attorneys after Justice Frederic De Young of the Illinois Supreme court refused to issue a writ of supersedeas.

The reprieve was granted to give the condemned men an opportunity to file an appeal following a recent jury verdict that they are sane, the governor's office announced. A third Negro, Leon Brown, sentenced to death along with Fisher and Shadlow, is scheduled to go on trial Monday for his sanity.

The three Negroes were convicted of the slaying of Martin French, a guard and former policeman, in the robbery of the Franklin Park Trust and Savings bank. They were originally sentenced to death in May, 1929, by Judge Gentzel. The reprieve granted last night to Fisher and Shadlow is the eighth so far won by them in the case.

Girl Tells of Plot to Kill Suburban Chief of Police

A pretty 17 year old girl athlete tossed her red curls defiantly yesterday in the office of Assistant State's Attorney James Brown as she calmly related how she and her 19 year old sweetheart attempted to murder a police chief. The attempt had been carefully planned as the first step in what was to be a short career of crime as a means of financing their wedding.

The girl is Lucyle Wilkinson, 329 West 106th place, who attended Fenger High school for three years. An interested listener was Chief of Police A. A. Terry of Midlothian, the selected victim, who captured the girl when her sweetheart, Emil Kleckner, 1 West 154th street, Harvey, fled.

Athlete at High School.

Lucyle met Emil through his sister, Grace, a classmate at the high school where Lucyle was a member of various athletic teams.

"We fell in love," she said showing her dimples. "And I still love him. We decided to get married long ago, last June, but we didn't have any money and we didn't know how to get any. On Aug. 26 we decided to get married anyhow."

With this resolution the two ransacked the Kleckner home, when the family was away. Emil found $5 and Lucyle rifled sister Grace's finery. With this money they registered in a Roseland hotel and put their heads together to find a way to get money on which to marry. When the $5 was exhausted the two lived for several days in prairies, sleeping in the open and stealing food from farmers.

It was Emil, the girl said, who first suggested the holdup. Chief Terry was named as the victim after another day's deliberation. Emil telephoned the chief and lured him to Shedd's pond, a swampy region near the Oak Forest infirmary.

"Emil made a club," Lucycle said "He said he was going to kill Chief Terry. I said I didn't want the chief killed because he has four young sons at home. But we needed the money, so I couldn't argue very well. If we didn't get much money from the chief we were going to take his gun and hold up gas stations. After we got enough money we were going to settle down.

Chief Saved by Fall.

Chief Terry was saved by a misstep. As he climbed out of his car he slipped and fell on one knee. Emil missed a swing with his club and fled. Chief Terry fired four shots at him as he seized Lucyle. Terry was known to both the girl and the boy and had befriended them several times.

"Emil said he'd kill me if I wouldn't go through with it," the girl related.

"Why didn't you come to me with your troubles?" Chief Terry asked.

"Well, I love him and wouldn't double cross him," she answered.

SHERMAN JABS AT NYE; TALKS OF LEWIS' SOCKS

Raps N. Dakota Senator as a Meddler.

BY ARTHUR EVANS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Springfield, Ill., Sept. 4.—A return to "Jacksonian simplicity" in politics was termed the "prize joke of 1930" by L. Y. Sherman, former U. S. senator, tonight in an onslaught in his old characteristic vein upon Senator Gerald P. Nye of North Dakota and his methods. It was the headliner speech as the Republican caravan reached the state capital. Before an audience that filled Elks' hall, the speaker expounded the "old gospel of Republicanism."

Mr. Sherman, who a few years ago went to Florida to regain his health and was elected a Florida delegate to Kansas City, declared that Mr. Nye, as a product of the "bolshevist" state of North Dakota, has "something of a crust to try to set up a dictatorship in Illinois."

Concerning Jacksonian and Jeffersonian simplicity in primaries, Sherman said it looked funny to him to observe James Hamilton Lewis' "rainbow socks and silk hat, spats and gloves as adjuncts and trimmings of Jacksonian simplicity."

"Senate Has Not Improved."

Mr. Sherman apologized for having voted for the constitutional amendment for the direct election of senators.

"Since then the senate has not improved," he said, "but it has deteriorated. Its chief aim now seems to be to go out scouting on investigating expeditions, nowadays the first duty of a senator is to vote so that he can play himself up as the big shot in his state party and be reelected and stay there forever.

"One reason we're going to send Ruth McCormick to the senate is because it needs purification."

Ex-Senator Sherman got through once or twice, but the audience cheered him into continuing, until when he was through there was little time left for the rest of the party celebrities.

"Gerry Nye says he has been shocked," said Sherman. "Well, it's his business to be shocked. That's why he came to Illinois, to throw a professional shudder. When I saw what his committee was doing, I made up my mind I was good for one more fight, so I'm here.

Sees Shadows Everywhere.

"I'd be surprised if Gerry doesn't buy the Masonic temple and the courthouse before leaving Chicago. I see he says he is shadowed by four detectives and found a shadow in his ham and eggs at breakfast time. He comes from the wide open spaces of North Dakota, a state which has had the most bolshevik government we've known in America, and he has enough North Dakota ozone in his system to attempt to manage our affairs in Illinois for us.

"In the Newberry case the Supreme court said a primary is not part of an election. This is something that concerns us all—Illinois has the right to nominate candidates of its own choice. It is none of the senate's business how we nominate them or not; it belongs to Illinois.

"Mrs. McCormick has made a complete accounting of every dollar expended; she has answered every question, not a penny was spent for wrongful purposes, and she's entitled to fair play.

"I see that the Democratic nominee in concert with Gerry Nye speaks of a return to 'Jacksonian simplicity' in primary campaigns. You can't go back to the homespun and the spinning wheel, to the horse carriage and the quill pen, and who wants to? James Hamilton Lewis may talk of 'simplicity,' but he still wears tailored clothes, and a $25 hat, and with all his talk of good old Jacksonian homespun Jim Ham still sports his scented lavender hanky, his spats, gloves, and rainbow hued cravats: What's wrong here, as the fashion notes say?"

Glenn Talks at Jacksonville.

Earlier in the day the Republican caravan appeared at Jacksonville, in a Democratic dry congressional district which the Democrats have picked as the launching spot for their state campaign ten days hence.

The principal speaker at Jacksonville was Senator Glenn. The senator, dwelling upon "assistant Democrats," a term the party orators have been applying to Senator Nye, said they were "mavericks and anti-Hoover guerrillas" who are seeking to destroy the Republican party and the administration at Washington.

"What the country needs is a Republican congress," said Senator Glenn. "We have a Republican house. In the senate are 53 Republicans and 43 Democrats, but 14 of these Republicans are not Republicans, but assistant Democrats. They are mavericks and anti-Hoover guerrillas, whose aim is to obstruct and impede. When farm relief, tariff, waterways and other important measures were up you'd see every fifteen minutes Senator Pat Harrison conferring with Senator George Norris and La Follette talking in the ear of Joe Robinson. They've been combining, confederating and conspiring to block the administration.

"What the country needs is more loyal, constructive members of the senate, and the senate needs more fighting leadership on the Republican side and that's what it will get from the election of Ruth McCormick."

Dwell on Organization.

Gov. Emmerson and Speaker Shanahan dwelt upon organization. "We're organizing as never before," said the governor. "I think it means the rolling up of vast majorities for the state ticket. The audiences so far have been astonishing."

Mrs. McCormick, dwelling on organization, said the great need was "Preaching the gospel of Republicanism."

NATURE PROJECT WINS HAWES FROM SENATE CANDIDACY

New York, Sept. 4.—[Special.]—A heavily endowed nature conservation commission, with the improvement of game shooting as one of its main objectives, is being formed by Joseph P. Knapp, magazine publisher, with the cooperation of other New York sportsmen.

Harry B. Hawes, United States senator from Missouri, has advised his friends he has accepted the salaried presidency of the conservation commission and will not be a candidate to succeed himself as senator in 1932. An Associated Press dispatch from St. Louis, where Senator Hawes' decision was made public today, reported the commission would be endowed to the extent of approximately $10,000,000.

Senator Hawes expects to announce his acceptance of the position at the Missouri Democratic platform convention in Jefferson City, Mo., next Tuesday.

LOTTIE O'NEILL ENTERS RACE FOR SENATOR

Runs as Independent on Dry Platform.

publican party to stand by the national platform.

"In brief, my platform is the platform adopted at Kansas City at the time Herbert Hoover was nominated, and I do not hesitate to say that the people who support me are the regular Republicans and not the group that repudiated the national platform at Springfield and are now campaigning throughout the state asserting their steadfast Republicanism.

Refers to Fund Inquiry.

"I invite the closest scrutiny of my acts while in public office in Illinois, both as to behavior in office and my method of arriving there. I am heartily in accord with the committee commissioned by the United States senate to ascertain what was and what will be spent in a campaign for this office and will do all I can to enlighten them as to my actions as a candidate.

"My headquarters will be at my home in Downers Grove and I shall manage my own campaign, as I have in the past, depending on volunteer workers who believe in the cause which I represent to carry on."

Mrs. McCormick's Statement.

At the time of Mrs. O'Neill's announcement Mrs. McCormick had reached Jacksonville in a tour of the state with other Republican candidates and leaders. When she reached Springfield in the early evening she complied with requests for a statement by issuing the following:

"The filing of a third ticket in the Illinois senatorial race is important only in the respect that it strikes a blow at the cause of law enforcement in Illinois. It is calculated to split the vote against the Democratic candicate, who stands for nullification and violation of the laws enforcing prohibition and nullification and violation of the constitution of the United States.

"The Democrats have declared against majority rule in Illinois and the third candidate now entering the race is likewise opposed to majority rule. I accept the issue.

"For Law Enforcement."

"I am for law enforcement, as pledged in the national Republican platform of 1928 and as again pledged by the Illinois Republican platform and unanimously adopted in the convention in Springfield on Aug. 22, and as advocated by President Hoover in his inaugural address of March 4, 1929, in which he said:

"'If citizens do not like a law, their duty as honest men and women is to discourage its violation; their right is openly to work for its repeal.'

"My Democratic opponent would encourage violation of the law and the constitution, and the third candidate, now in the race, disagrees with the President when he says citizens have a right to work openly for repeal. I disagree with the two positions taken by my opponents and agree with both of the principles advocated by Mr. Hoover.

"I am a dry. I am a Republican. As a matter of fact, Mrs. O'Neill indorses my position as a Republican up to the point where I indorse the fundamental American and Republican doctrine of majority rule. On that question she disagrees with me. As an American I believe in majority rule on any or all questions. On that basis I cheerfully leave my candidacy in the hands of the voters."

1928 Convention Recalled.

Mrs. O'Neill has criticized Mrs. McCormick publicly on several occasions since the Republican national convention at Kansas City in 1928. At that convention Mrs. O'Neill was the Deneen candidate for national committeewoman to succeed Mrs. McCormick, who was retiring from that position because of her nomination for congresswoman-at-large.

The Deneen group had candidates for all the positions to be filled by the Illinois delegation. A deadlock developed. It was broken by an agreement that United States Senator Deneen be made chairman of the delegation, his lieutenant, Roy O. West, national committeeman, and Mrs. Bertha Baur, national committeewoman.

Mrs. McCormick was credited with the selection of Mrs. Baur. During the last regular session of the assembly Mrs. O'Neill charged from the floor that Mrs. McCormick also had dictated Speaker Shanahan's refusal to give her (Mrs. O'Neill) the committee chairmanship she sought. Both Mrs. McCormick and the speaker denied there had been any communication on the subject between them. But Mrs. O'Neill made a second attack when she resigned as one of the vice presidents of the Illinois Women's Republican club. She charged that the organization was dominated by Mrs. McCormick.

Wisler, the fourth candidate in the senatorial fight, was a candidate for the Republican nomination in the April primaries, chiefly on an anti-chain store platform. He received 19,778 votes.

Matter of Ethics, Says Mrs. O'Neill

BY KATHLEEN M'LAUGHLIN.

It is ethics first and politics second with Mrs. Lottie Holman O'Neill. If to be a good W. C. T. U. she must be a poor Republican, the time has come when paths diverge, she admitted yesterday. But she made it plain that in invading the field as an independent candidate for United States senator from Illinois, she feels herself the most loyal Illinois Republican of them all.

"Prohibition hasn't been given a fair chance, and neither has Mr. Hoover as President," she declared in the living room of her rambling big yellow and green house at Downers Grove, which already has taken on the semblance of the political headquarters she expects to make it. "Neither has had the support to which they are entitled from the Illinois Republicans.

"Any one who says my candidacy has anything to do with personal feeling between Mrs. McCormick and myself doesn't know what he is talking about. This is a matter of conscience with me. I feel that it is my duty to run—so I'm doing it."

Her defeat in the April primaries for the nomiantion for state senator against Senator Richard J. Barr of Joliet has not discouraged her at the prospect of a campaign for a national office instead. Eight years of experience in the legislature at Springfield have netted her much experience in matters political.

"And," says the tall, slim widow from Downers Grove, who has set out to beat, if possible, the tall, slim widow from Byron—both of them mothers of children—"I'll have my volunteer forces to do the work. I haven't any great sums of money to help elect me, and the real thrill of holding an office, to me, has always been in standing for a principle, anyway. Whether the majority wants it or not—if it's right, I'm for it."

W. J. O'Neill, who died in 1925, was one of his wife's most ardent political supporters. Since his death she has lived in the residence at 741 Summit street, Downers Grove, where a tall green hedge borders the walk and huge shade trees protect the front stoop with its two hospitable white benches. Her two grown sons, Elmer and William Jr., make their home with her.

CLASH OF JUDGES PREDICTED OVER 2 JAILED GUNMEN

McGoorty Criticizes Lyle's Summary Action.

Judge John H. Lyle of the Municipal court last night indicated that he will insist that Israel (Izzy) Alderman and Joe Condi, the two gangsters whom he jailed on Wednesday night, serve their full six months' terms at hard labor.

A clash was considered imminent between Judge Lyle and Chief Justice John P. McGoorty of the Criminal court, before whom is pending a habeas corpus action involving the two gangsters.

Judge Lyle declared that the place for an appeal from his order sentencing the gangsters to the Bridewell was not in the Criminal court but in the Illinois Supreme court, which, according to recognized legal procedure, he said, is the proper appellate tribunal.

"The solicitude being shown for these two ex-convicts and criminal gangsters," remarked Judge Lyle, "demonstrates why hoodlums like to live in Chicago."

McGoorty Criticizes Action.

Chief Justice McGoorty yesterday continued until today the habeas corpus action filed by Attorney Benjamin Feldman in behalf of Alderman and Condi. The chief justice criticized the action of Judge Lyle in sentencing the two hoodlums under the vagrancy act while the habeas corpus proceeding, was pending before the Criminal court.

"Every man, whether rich or poor, of high station or low, is entitled to be represented by counsel," Chief Justice McGoorty said after he was informed by Attorney Feldman that Judge Lyle had disregarded the defendants' pleas for lawyers. So speedy was the justice of Judge Lyle in the case of the two gangsters that Attorney Feldman, who was sitting in the court of Chief Justice McGoorty awaiting the discharge of his clients, never knew what had happened until Alderman and Condi were on their way to the Bridewell.

Jailed Under Vagrancy Law.

Both gangsters were sentenced to six months' imprisonment and fined $100. Their conviction on the vagrancy charge marked the first important case in which the vagrancy law was invoked in Illinois to harass notorious gangsters.

Chief Justice McGoorty during yesterday's hearing permitted Attorney Feldman to have opportunity for the amendment of his petition for the writ of habeas corpus to include a description of what transpired before Judge Lyle. The chief justice indicated that he would consider the entire matter from the time of the filing of the writ through the trials conducted by Judge Lyle.

Assistant State's Attorney Charles F. Rathbun, specially assigned to the investigation of the murder of Alfred Lingle, was in court before Judge McGoorty yesterday and asked the judge to dismiss the petition for the writ.

"There appears to be a misunderstanding all around in this case," Attorney Rathbun said. "Chief Justice McGoorty will remember that when he telephoned to me, notifying me that a writ had been presented, I promised him that we would see that the men, Alderman and Condi, would be booked by 3 o'clock or released. Thereupon your honor informed me that if this was done the writ would be dismissed.

"The defendants were booked on charges of vagrancy at 2:30 o'clock. Therefore, I ask your honor to dismiss this petition."

Judge McGoorty denied the motion. Attorney Rathbun argued that Chief Justice McGoorty's instructions had been faithfully complied with. If Judge Lyle directed that the charges be tried immediately, and held a hearing on them and sentenced the defendants, that was a matter beyond the control of the state's attorney, the police, or the Criminal court, Prosecutor Rathbun declared.

Detective Sergeants Francis J. Donohue and Charles Reynolds, assigned to the office of Coroner Bundesen, returned yesterday from central Indiana, where they had made a search for Harold A. Denman, former Chicago policeman, who is accused of having supplied weapons to gangsters.

No trace of Denman was found, but at Bass Lake, Ind., the investigators were informed that a coterie of notorious gangsters had been dwelling in cottages nearby. The information was that Mrs. Joseph Esposito, widow of the murdered politician and gangster, Diamond Joe Esposito, had a cottage at the lake and that she had been visited recently by Scarface Al Capone.

In Los Angeles a day's peak of 93 degrees was officially recorded, while outlying sections submitted heat readings that notched between that and 103.

TWO GANGSTERS MISSING; POLICE SEE RIDE CLEWS

Wife Fears Tommy Abbott Is Victim.

Two north side gangsters, Tommy Abbott, reputed affiliate of the Moran-Aiello mob, and Dominick Nuccio, recently delegated lieutenant of Al Capone in the Chicago avenue police district, are missing from accustomed haunts, and police suspect that both may have been slain.

Abbott's disappearance became known yesterday when his wife, Irene, asked whether police had him in custody. Similarly the disappearance of Nuccio was indicated when a lawyer, on the mistaken assumption that he had been arrested, applied to Judge Daniel Trude in Criminal court for a writ of habeas corpus. Police records established that neither man was a prisoner.

Try to Seize Zuta Territory.

Nuccio, once a member of the notorious Gioriana gang, became a factor in the north side liquor traffic three weeks ago when, armed with the authority of Capone, he visited speakeasies and announced that the Capone forces had taken over trade previously handled by the slain Jack Zuta. This move may have been his death warrant, police conjectured.

Abbott is to stand trial in Rockford on Monday on a charge of carrying concealed weapons. He was arrested after the murder of Joe Giovingo in that city on Aug. 14. Giovingo was killed on the main street of Rockford within a few paces of where Abbott and three others were seated in Abbott's car.

Abbott Accused by Joyce.

Abbott, who, the police say, is affiliated with the Aiello-Morap gang, was named by the late State Senator John T. Joyce as a member of the gang of hoodlums who terrorized voters in the 42d ward last primary day. When Joyce died friends, hinting at poison, named Abbott as one who would be interested in the senator's death.

Mrs. Abbott said that her husband left their home at 1130 Wrightwood avenue last Friday morning. Later in the day he called her by phone and told her to prepare to leave for a motor tour in Wisconsin over the week-end. He set the hour of their departure at 4 o'clock Saturday morning. He did not appear.

Mrs. Abbott said her husband had only $35 when he left home and that he wore a light palm beach suit. These facts indicate that he was not contemplating leaving town, she said. The Abbotts have been married six years.

The wife appealed to Attorney Charles S. Dougherty to learn whether her husband was in custody. The police expressed elation at her expression of fear that he may have been killed, holding it to be "good riddance."

SEARCH FOR SLAYER OF SOUTH BEND GIRL SHIFTS TO TENNESSEE

South Bend, Ind., Sept. 4.—[Special.]—Police here tonight were waiting the reports of two detectives who have secretly been stationed in Gallatin, Tenn., since last Sunday, before determining their next important move in the investigation of the slaying of 8 year old Marvine Appel.

Detectives Raymond and Delinski are expected here tomorrow from the town where the murdered child was buried Tuesday. Police here will question Mrs. Eula Appel on her return.

Prosecutor Harry Taylor and Coroner C. B. Crumpacker, responding to public appeals to speed the murder investigation, may call a general conference of all enforcement agencies in the case. The grand jury will get into the investigation next week.

A resolution adopted by the American Legion here last night asking for a special prosecutor was turned down by the prosecutor's office today on the grpund it would interfere with police work.

NEW YORK JUDGE IN HIDING, POLICE PROBE INDICATES

Disappearance Planned, Is New Theory.

New York, Sept. 4.—[Special.]—Evidence which Police Commissioner Edward P. Mulrooney said tended to show that Supreme Court Justice Joseph F. Crater, missing since Aug. 6, "deliberately intended dropping from sight," was found today by detectives who searched his desk in the county court house and his apartment at 40 5th avenue.

At Justice Crater's apartment a detective found the judge's watch, chain, and fountain pen, all engraved with his initials, and his engraved card case. There was evidence, which the commissioner did not reveal, that the judge had removed all marks of identification from his clothing.

Pledged Aid to Secrecy.

Before he disappeared the judge told his personal attendant, Joseph Mara, that he was "going up Westchester way," and pledged Mara to keep his whereabouts secret. Mulrooney said. He added that his detectives are looking for Mara as well as for Justice Crater. The commissioner said Mara left his home in the Bronx three days ago. Mara is the son of John Mara, Tammany leader of the Twenty-third assembly district.

Justice Crater's disappearance was further complicated today by the inability of federal authorities to find Barrett Carmody, Crater's neighbor in an apartment house in West 122d street. Carmody is secretary to Supreme Court Justice Phoenix Ingraham.

Carmody, who, it is understood, has been wanted on a federal grand jury subpoena, has not been available for service at his home for two weeks. Federal and state investigating agencies today began to wonder whether he had accompanied Crater into the unknown.

Sought in Ewald Case.

Assistant Attorney General Thomas Penney Jr. continued his search for the missing judge, whom he wants to question in connection with his investigation into the charge that George F. Ewald, publicly described by Mr. Crater as a close friend, purchased an appointment as a city magistrate three years ago.

Mr. Penney indicated that request subpoenas would be issued for Mayor James J. Walker and for George W. Olvany. The mayor appointed Ewald, and Mr. Olvany was leader of Tammany hall at the time of the appointment.

Mr. Penney refused to comment about the story that Mrs. Betty Ewald, first wife of former Magistrate Ewald, had been questioned three times recently by Attorney General Hamilton Ward and that she had said Justice Crater's name "was to be brought into the case."

Wagner Denies Partnership.

United States Senator Robert F. Wagner, returning from Europe today, denied that the missing justice was ever his law partner and said that he knew nothing Crater's whereabouts.

New York's judiciary scandals were mentioned by Mayor Walker today in ceremonies welcoming and honoring the visiting delegates of the International Law association.

The mayor declared he was "not unmindful that if the politician has full swing and in his mad chase after impossible political laurels tears down the bench and destroys the confidence of the people, there is but one inevitable result—bolshevism and the end of us all."

ICE CREAM AND CRABS DON'T MIX; 500 VETS ILL

Convention at Baltimore Calls for Doctors.

Baltimore, Md., Sept. 4.—(AP)—Five hundred members of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, inured to the dangers of battle, were brought to a realization of the perils of peace today by illness laid to a crab and ice cream luncheon yesterday on the grounds of the Naval academy at Annapolis.

Physician delegates to the annual convention and Baltimore doctors were kept busy all night and today treating at hotels the veterans and members of the ladies' auxiliary. Some of the sufferers had ptomaine poisoning and others just grievous cases of stomach ache.

None was considered to be in a serious condition tonight, according to available information.

Election Postponed.

So many of the members of the auxiliary were absent from a session this afternoon that the scheduled election of officers was postponed by the national president, Mrs. Bessie Hanken of Revere, Mass.

Some of the chief figures at the convention were ill, among them Mrs. Julia Pitcock of Ohio, chairman of the resolutions committee of the auxiliary and Paul C. Wolman, Baltimore, senior vice commander of the veterans. Physicians' reports listed ninety-one members of the auxiliary as patients, a number of them elderly. Another made ill was Mrs. Margaret Aldridge, Providence, R. I., a past national president of the auxiliary.

More than 3,000 persons here for the convention were taken to Annapolis yesterday on three steamers, and after a welcome address by Rear Admiral S. S. Robison, the superintendent, a luncheon was served on the grounds.

Mix Crabs and Ice Cream.

No official criticism of the food as such was forthcoming. The patients groaned unanimously that the unwise mixture of crabs, ice cream, and such was to blame. Meanwhile, however, an investigation was started by the Annapolis post.

The blight failed to prevent sessions of the veterans, who heard an address by Brig. Gen. Frank T. Hines, administrator of veterans' welfare, and approved several resolutions. A hospital erected by the auxiliary at the veterans' national home at Eaton Rapids, Mich., was formally presented to the organization, Mrs. Hanken, who supervised erection of the building, which cost $31,000, making the presentation.

The resolutions approved included submission to congress of a petition requesting immediate legislation for relief of veterans having foreign service disabilities not heretofore recognized, and also passage of a bill increasing the allowance of civil war veterans.

Van Lear Black's Son Cut Off with $50,000 May Sue

Baltimore, Md., Sept. 4.—(AP)—Van Lear Black Jr., cut off with a $50,000 trust fund in the will of his father, Baltimore publisher and world flyer, said today he was not willing to say whether he would contest the will.

"I have nothing to say as yet, but may have later," he said over the telephone at Lancaster, Pa.

2 ARE KILLED, 2 BYSTANDERS HIT IN N. Y. GANG WAR

New York, Sept. 4.—[Special.]—Meyer Shapiro, reputed king of Brooklyn's slot machine racket, and his ex-prize fighter brother, Irving, are under arrest as the result of a new outburst of slot machine warfare, which killed one victim early today sent two innocent bystanders to hospitals, one of them probably fatally wounded.

There was an outburst of gang warware in Manhattan, too, and a drug peddler, long sought by the police for murder, was riddled with bullets by underworld enemies and dumped out of an automobile on Riverside drive.

Both the Brooklyn and Manhattan shootings occurred only a few hours after newspapers received an anonymous telephone call from a cool voiced man who announced that important events were about to take place in the underworld—particularly in Brooklyn.

"Little Augie" Pisano, bosom friend and Brooklyn lieutenant of "Scarface Al" Capone, is going to Chicago for two months soon, and Meyer Shapiro, who runs the slot machine racket in the Brownsville and East New York sections of Brooklyn is going to take over the Pisano-Capone rackets, according to the tipster.

Samuel Cohen, 25, of Brooklyn was shot and killed by an unidentified man during an argument over slot machines in a Brooklyn candy store and within a few hours the police had arrested the two Shapiros at their home.

The victims of the gang killing in Manhattan was Morris Howard, a narcotics peddler, 42 years old.

Indian "Healer" Sentenced to Six Months; Fined $200

John J. Normand, Indian "healer," who says he is a member of the "Kenno tribe of Quebec," was sentenced to one year in the Bridewell and fined $200 yesterday by Municipal Judge W. W. Damron on a charge of practicing medicine without a license. Normand was arrested by state officials after an investigation of the death of Mrs. Franceszka Wilczewska, whom he had treated for dropsy with a salve of his own concoction.

INVESTIGATOR IN KRAFT CASE TO REGAIN OLD JOB

Cabinet Aid Orders His Reinstatement.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Sept. 4.—[Special.]—Arthur R. Johnson, the civil service army investigator who was transferred to a minor clerical job in the basement of the quartermaster depot at Chicago after his success in uncovering the $200,000 Kraft scandal in the Illinois National Guard, was ordered restored to his original position today by Acting Secretary of War Frederick H. Payne.

The assistant secretary of war acted after a two hour conference with District Attorney George E. Q. Johnson of Chicago, under whom Johnson, the investigator, worked while compiling the evidence that resulted last July in the return of an indictment charging embezzlement against Col. Charles J Kraft, National Guard officer.

Investigator's Work Praised.

At this meeting District Attorney Johnson praised the work of the army investigator and recommended his retention in the army in an investigating capacity.

Acting Secretary Payne requested District Attorney Johnson to discuss the case with him at the war department today following publication of press dispatches in Chicago stating that Johnson, the investigator, had been demoted after the Kraft investigation. Interest was manifested by the war department in intimations that pressure brought on army officials, presumably by Chicago Illinois National Guard officer friends of Col. Kraft, may have had something to do with the decision to remove Johnson from the investigating field. It has been reported that Johnson's demotion was actually a punishment for his efficient work in uncovering the theft.

Inquiry Believed Ended.

The war department statement reversing the action taken by Lieut. Col C. L. Corbin, commanding officer of the Chicago quartermaster depot, gave no hint as to whether the circumstances surrounding the move to turn Johnson the investigator into a minor clerk would be the subject of further investigation by the army. Indications are that nothing further will be done for the present.

Col. Corbin was reported on reliable authority to have summoned Johnson to his office before the return of the Kraft indictment. There, it was reported, Col. Corbin told the investigator he could choose between "letting that Kraft case alone" and handing in his resignation.

Col. Corbin Quoted.

Col. Corbin also was reported as making these assertions:

"The state officials are very indignant about your investigation of the guard matters. Gen. Parker (commander of the 6th corps area) also has asked me to take you off. If you make any report on that case to the United States attorney's office there will be no more investigating for you to do."

Maj. Gen. Parker asserted that it was his understanding Johnson was wanted by Lieut. Col. Corbin in the quartermaster corps, but that he never contemplated removing him from the inquiry until it was completed.

Although Col. Corbin admitted he assigned Johnson to the clerical work in the basement, he did not question the investigator's ability. He commended Johnson's "special aptitude" for "that sort of work."

Payne Makes Statement.

The statement issued by Mr. Payne today was as follows:

"Mr. George E. Q. Johnson, United States district attorney, being in Washington, called upon the acting secretary of war at his request, and explained certain cases which were in process of investigation in Chicago, especially those in which Mr. Arthur R. Johnson of the quartermaster corps has been assisting as a special investigator. The acting secretary of war was impressed with the assistance that Mr. Johnson has rendered in his capacity as special investigator, and has given directions that his employment be continued indefinitely."

It was stated also that Johnson would be given 100 per cent coöperation by the war department during the preparations for the trial of Kraft.

It was pointed out today that while Johnson had been employed by the quartermaster corps for thirteen years in an investigating capacity, his investigating in recent years had all been done for the Sixth army corps. Johnson was classified as a superintendent of labor when he entered the corps due, it was said today, to the fact that other eligibles made it impossible to appoint him an inspector in the civil service.

Given Work as Clerk.

As had been done on several other occasions, Johnson was loaned to the Sixth army corps last spring to look into a new National Guard scandal. Before he had completed his investigation District Attorney Johnson placed him under subpoena to make certain he would not be removed from the case by Illinois National Guard officials. On Johnson's return to the quartermaster corps he was advised by Lieut. Col. Corbin that as no investigating work was available he would have to go to work as a clerk. Johnson protested and asked for leave while he sought another position. At that time the demotion of Johnson was called "outrageous" by James C. Leaton, the assistant district attorney who secured the Kraft indictment.

While no official explanation was made, war department officials were inclined to hold war department retrenchment policies responsible for Lieut. Col. Corbin's decision to place Johnson on a clerical basis. It was pointed out that the war department had ordered commanding officers to cut down expenses wherever possible.

Calls on President

GEN. JOHN J. PERSHING.
[Pacific and Atlantic Photo.]

Washington, D. C., Sept. 4.—(AP)—Gen. John J. Pershing called on President Hoover today at the White House grounds and saw the young women's drill team from Des Moines, Ia., which won a prize at Baltimore. At the end of the brief maneuver the young women's captain saluted the general, who returned it and commented: "That was fine. No wonder you won the prize. I would have given it to you myself."

HELD ON MURDER CHARGE.

William J. Montgomery, 34 years old, 1308 East 62d street, identified as having shot and killed John Woody, a laundry driver, last June 25, was held to the grand jury yesterday on a charge of murder by Judge McKibley.

OIL LAMP BLAST BLAMED IN BOAT FIRE; 3 RESCUED

An explosion of an oil lamp in the cabin of the Mildred II. was blamed for the fire which partly destroyed the 30 foot sloop early yesterday three miles off the Oak street beach. Three men were rescued from the blazing boat by Walter Reed of Highland Park in his sloop, Blanca Flor. The rescued men are Norman W. Blondell, 4517 North Lawndale avenue, owner of the boat; E. A. Blondell, his brother, and R. E. Coyle, 538 North Leamington avenue, a guest.

Girl Swimmer Loses Foot; Struck by Boat Propeller

Los Angeles, Cal., Sept. 4.—[Special.]—Miss Ruth Jacobson, 20, lost a foot today as a result of an accident while swimming in the surf at Coronado Beach, near San Diego, yesterday. A motor speed boat came close to her, and the girl, in making a hurried effort to avoid being struck, was forced under the boat, and the propellor struck her foot.

PREDICT STORM AHEAD FOR CAR FINANCING PLAN

Franchise Foes Ask Cash for Security Holders.

BY OSCAR HEWITT.

William Hughes Clarke, a dealer in bonds, who criticized the transportation franchise approved by the voters on July 1, predicted yesterday that there will be opposition to the proposed financial plan of consolidating the surface and elevated lines. This plan has not been announced, but it is probable that it will be presented to the bankers' advisory committee next week for comments and suggestions.

Frederick T. Kuhn of Farnham-Kuhn company, realtors, at 6 North Michigan avenue, who was one of the aggressive opponents of the franchise, also predicted that security holders will oppose the consolidation plan. Both Mr. Kuhn and Mr. Clarke have issued statements attacking the plan on the one feature where the intention of the consolidation manager, Halsey, Stuart & Co., is thought to be known.

Urge Payment in Cash.

It is reported that Halsey, Stuart & Co. will not recommend any payment in cash to present holders of first mortgage bonds. Messrs. Kuhn and Clarge urged that the first mortgage bondholders be given more than one-third in cash.

Halsey, Stuart & Co. have twice replied to this suggestion that they will not recommend a plan which will not permit the raising of $200,000,000 for extensions and improvements in the next 10 years and subsequent amounts as needed.

Messrs. Clarke and Kuhn insist that the Chicago Surface lines have sufficient cash on hand to pay first mortgage bond holders a substantial percentage of each bond in cash.

Gives Figures on Surplus.

Mr. Clarke in his formal statement asserts that the surface lines "have more than $28,359,268 in surplus and reserves, which cash is pledged under the first mortgages for payment of $89,547,500 in bonds, and amounts to more than $350 cash for each $1,000 bond."

Part of these bonds have since been paid off, so Mr. Kuhn gives the reserves and surplus of the surface lines as $21,630,715, or 26.7 per cent of the bonds, instead of 35 per cent.

In these reserves and surpluses is the aggregate cash in the reserve funds set aside for renewals and depreciation and in the special renewal fund. According to Mr. Kuhn, these total $17,712,726.

Money from Car Riders.

This is money paid in by the car riders for keeping the surface lines in first class condition. It is to be used to make renewals of tracks and other major parts of the system when they wear out.

Under the franchise this sum is to be transferred to the new company as part of the property of the surface lines and is to be spent later for renewals as needed, according to the aldermanic interpretation.

Messrs. Kuhn and Clarke urge that this money be distributed among first mortgage bond holders.

Explains Aldermanic View.

"That was never the intention of the city council in passing the last franchise," explained Chairman J. B. McDonough of the council transportation committee. "The car riders paid in that money to maintain good cars and good tracks, not to give to any bond holders. If it is not going to be spent for that purpose, it should be given back to the car riders.

"It was the distinct desire and intention of the city council to keep that money to maintain the consolidated lines in first class condition; and if there is any attempt by the bond holders to get hold of that cash you can be sure that the council will do its best to have it turned back to the car riders. I can't understand why any one would suggest dissipating that fund."

HELEN KANE CAN KEEP THAT $50,000, COURT IN NEW YORK RULES

New York, Sept. 4.—(AP)—Helen Kane, baby talk actress, can do anything she wants to with $50,000 she received from her friend, Murray Posner, shortly before his dress company went bankrupt.

On Aug. 11 an order was issued directing Miss Kane and the dress company to show why she should not be restrained from withdrawing the money from a bank, and temporary injunction was issued forbidding withdrawal. Today the injunction was terminated.

Miss Kane said she had given Posner the money to invest for her, and that he failed to do so and returned it. The transaction had nothing to do, she said, with the affairs of the dress concern.

GERMANY CLEARS BORDER REVISION ROW WITH FRANCE

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, Sept. 4.—On the eve of the assembly of the league of nations and the discussion on a United States of Europe scheduled to start at Geneva Monday, Aristide Briand conferred with Ambassador Von Hoesch of Germany at the Quai D'Orsay this morning.

It is understood that Von Hoesch transmitted a direct repudiation by the Reich government of the fiery campaign for the revision of frontiers conducted by Gottfried Treviranus, minister of occupied territories, and which aroused the popular resentment in France and Poland to a dangerous pitch.

Coming on the heels of the direct slap at Treviranus taken by Chancellor Bruening at a cabinet meeting recently, the Von Hoesch-Briand interview is said to have cleared the atmosphere for Geneva. M. Briand later saw M. de Margerie, French ambassador to Berlin, who has returned to report upon the nearing German elections.

CHICAGO TENTH OF 94 BIG CITIES IN EMPLOYMENT

Des Moines, Ia., Is Leader in Middle West.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Sept. 4.—[Special.]—Official unemployment figures issued by the census bureau today for cities of 100,000 inhabitants or more placed Chicago tenth in the list of 94 cities, ranked according to the percentage of the total population without a job, able to work, and looking for work.

With 145,852 jobless persons counted by the enumerators on April 1, out of a total population of 3,375,329, Chicago's unemployment percentage was set at 4.3. The percentages of nine other cities were higher and those of 11 were lower. That of Tampa, Fla., was the same.

Duluth, Detroit Top List.

Duluth and Detroit topped the list with unemployment percentages of 5.4 and 5.0 per cent, respectively, the only large urban centers in the country with more than 5 out of each 100 persons out of work. Miami and Newark tied for third with percentages of 4.9 each. Other cities with percentages higher than Chicago were: Camden, 4.7; Lowell, 4.6; Cleveland, 4.6; Indianapolis and Portland, 4.4 each.

Nashville took first honors as the city having the least unemployment, with only 1 per cent of its inhabitants jobless. Oklahoma City and Memphis had percentages of 1.4 each; Peoria, 1.5; El Paso, 1.6; Washington, Des Moines and Wilmington, 1.8 each.

Figures for Big Cities.

A summary of the unemployment figures for the five cities of the country with populations of more than one million follows:

	Unemployed.	Per-centage.
New York	234,854	3.4
Chicago	145,852	4.3
Philadelphia	73,275	3.7
Detroit	78,153	5.0
Los Angeles	41,243	3.3

Des Moines, with an unemployment percentage of only 1.8, reported the most favorable condition of any of the cities outside Chicago in the Chicago area, the detailed reports of which follow:

	Unemployed.	Per-centage.
ILLINOIS.
Peoria	1,558	1.5
WISCONSIN.
Kenosha	15,916	2.8
INDIANA.
Hammond	2,364	2.8
Fort Wayne	2,575	2.2
Gary	2,128	2.1
Indianapolis	15,942	4.4
South Bend	3,140	3.0
MICHIGAN.
Detroit	78,153	5.0
Flint	3,642	2.3
Grand Rapids	5,099	3.0
IOWA.
Des Moines	2,534	1.8

Generally speaking, the unemployment appeared from the census bureau city reports to be greatest in the largest cities. Although New York's total percentage was only 3.4, that of its most congested boroughs was proportionately higher. In Manhattan borough the percentage was 4.6, while in Queens borough, less thickly settled, it was only 2.3.

ASSESSORS AGAIN IGNORE PLEA TO LIFT TAX VALUES

For the second time within a week the board of assessors yesterday ignored the recommendations of Harry S. Cutmore, director of appraisals for the board, for an increase in real estate valuations. Some fifty property owners from West Town, summoned before the board to show cause why their 1929 assessments should not be raised over the 1928 figures, were sent home with the assessors' promise that the old valuations would stand.

Most of the property under consideration yesterday was on Lake street between Western and Leavitt avenues. Cutmore's 1928 valuations had been reduced by the board of review, but were restored in the 1929 assessment.

The assessors declared they couldn't raise valuations on property of this character and advised Cutmore "to bring in the big fellows, the fellows with the money, and we will fight tooth and nail to place their assessments where they belong." Last Friday the assessors refused to raise the figure on 250 pieces of property in the 43d ward.

INDICT FORMER BANK OFFICIAL.

Taylorville, Ill., Sept. 4.—[Special.]—Ralph D. Ricks, former vice president of the John D. Colegrove & Co. State bank, was indicted on six counts for receiving deposits while the bank was insolvent by the grand jury which reported to Judge Dove here this afternoon. The grand jury then adjourned.

Stomach Pain From Acid and Gas Ended

THOUGHT HE WOULD DIE

"The other day I felt very sick, having a splitting headache and being sick in the stomach from acid and gas. I thought I would die," says Mr. J. J. Jandus of Chicago, Illinois. "I took several medicines but they only made it worse. Then I tried Acidine—took one spoonful in water and within a short time I was able to get out of bed feeling fine. I have never used anything that relieved me like Acidine—it works like magic." End acid stomach troubles, sharp pains before or after eating, gas, belching, bloating, dizziness, heartburn, fullness with Acidine. Stops pain and gas. Acidine relieves where all others fail because it is entirely different from other remedies. HURLEY INSPECTS SITES FOR DAM AT TRI CITIES

Decides Project Entitled to Early Attention.

BY WILLARD EDWARDS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Aboard U. S. S. Gen. Allen, near Muscatine, Ia., Sept. 4.—[Special.]—With almost 500 miles of the twisting upper Mississippi behind them, Secretary of War Hurley and his party of engineers, cruising from St. Paul to New Orleans, tonight decided that the most important project entitled to their immediate consideration is the proposed lock and dam at the bend in the river where Moline and Rock Island, Ill., and Davenport, Ia., are clustered.

Secretary Hurley spent two hours today in the tri-cities inspecting dam sites and conferring with local officials. He came to the conclusion, he said, that the most serious obstacle to the upper Mississippi navigation lies in the swiftly moving, shallow current at this point.

Brookhart Pledges Coöperation.

The secretary encountered what he termed "enthusiastic coöperation" from local representatives. He remarked that the response to the proposed improvements was in marked contrast to the reception at Clinton, Ia., 46 miles up the river, where antipathy was expressed to the proposal to construct a barge terminal. Business men at Clinton told the secretary that there was local resentment against "the wasting of federal funds" on the Mississippi and declared their belief that a navigable channel would never become a reality.

Senator Smith W. Brookhart [Rep., Ia.] was among those who met the secretary at Rock Island. The senator asserted that he would coöperate fully with Mr. Hurley in plans for a navigable channel in the river. Maj. C. J. Hall of the corps of engineers on the secretary's boat declared that the Rock Island project was the key to upper Mississippi improvement. The current at this point is very swift. An added difficulty is the fact that for 14 miles the river bed is of rock and may not be dredged. Engineers plan to overcome this handicap by building a high dam 100 feet upstream above Arsenal island, which lies between two branches of the river, and by erecting a sea wall on the left bank five feet higher than the present wall to protect adjacent land from floods. The dam will increase the depth of water and quiet the present rapids.

Project Will Cost $C,600,000.

The project will cost approximately $6,600,000, according to estimates. Public hearings must be held before the engineers submit a final report and four years will be required before the lock and dam will be completed. With a deep channel assured, coal may be shipped into this industrial region at cheap rates and manufactured goods exported at low cost, it was pointed out.

Conclusions reached by the inspecting party at this stage of the river cruise are that the river, though very low, is still a navigable six foot channel; that skillful piloting and cautious maneuvering are necessary to a successful cruise; that the river would be impassable if it were not for the government dams already completed; and that more barge terminals must be built by river cities before upper Mississippi commerce can be given a fair test. Keokuk, Ia., where another dam has been built to facilitate navigation, will be the last stop of the party before reaching St. Louis Saturday morning. The engineers are awaiting the passing of the Illinois river mouth late tomorrow to note the effect which increased lake diversion at Chicago has had upon the depth of the Mississippi.

INCREASE IN FLOW FROM LAKE RAISES ILLINOIS TWO FEET

Peoria, Ill., Sept. 4.—[Special.]—Since the government granted permission to increase the water flow from Lake Michigan the Illinois river here has raised more than two feet. The reading today was 11.4 feet, a rise of two-tenths in twenty-four hours. River men claim that the level will be still higher and continue to climb until the flow is decreased.

ALL LAKES BUT SUPERIOR FALL DURING AUGUST

Despite the drought throughout the central states all of the Great Lakes remained at high levels during August, according to the monthly United States lake level survey. All the lakes, however, with the exception of Superior, showed more than the normal fall for the month.

Lake Superior, with a stage of 602.98 feet, remained the same during the month. Since 1860 the average rise for Lake Superior in August has been .11 of a foot. Lakes Michigan and Huron, with a stage of 581.12 feet, dropped .16 of a foot during August. Since 1860 the average drop has been .05 of a foot.

Lake Erie, with a stage of 573.05 feet, was .43 of a foot lower than in July. The average fall of Lake Erie for the month since 1860 has been .18 of a foot. Lake Ontario, with a stage of 247.46 feet, is .63 of a foot lower than in July. The normal fall for the month for this lake is .30 of a foot.

OFFICIALS DROP INVESTIGATION OF JOYCE POISONING

Official investigation into the death of State Senator John T. Joyce was dropped yesterday on the presumption that he had been poisoned accidentally with prussic acid. The contest over Joyce's nomination as the Republican candidate to represent the 29th district in the upper house at Springfield also was dismissed by Circuit Judge David M. Brothers.

The East Chicago avenue police accepted the verdict of the coroner's jury, returned on Wednesday, as in accord with the accepted belief that the death was accidental. The widow, Mrs. Mary Daly Joyce, and other relatives declared they were not convinced Joyce was not poisoned by political enemies. They are positive, however, that he did not commit suicide, they asserted.

The police were satisfied that no outsider gained entrance to the Joyce home at 207 East Chestnut street. Even if one had, they contended, the poison could not have been forced on the senator, even though he was sleeping. A struggle or an outcry would have met such an attempt, they reasoned.

Officials Are Mystified.

The officials were mystified by the absence of any bottle or container in which prussic acid had been kept. The finding of Dr. Clarence Muehlberger, coroner's chemist, of prussic acid in the organs of the deceased senator satisfied the police that Senator Joyce had not been drugged the night before. Coroner Bundesen suggested that the prussic acid might have been in a capsule which would not have killed Joyce until the covering dissolved. This would account for his having been in bed when he died.

In Recount Fight with Rival.

Joyce, at the time of his death, was fighting to retain the nomination he had won over Wallace F. Kirk. A recount had cut his lead from 272 to 161 votes. Kirk had a petition pending to have the court rule out the votes of certain precincts where he alleged fraud had occurred. Had his petition been allowed Kirk would have been the nominee.

Attorney John F. Tyrrell, counsel for Joyce, told Judge Brothers yesterday that he believed that inasmuch as the court action was directed against Joyce, the cause was abated at his death. Attorney Urban Lavery, for Kirk, stated that Kirk had rights that could not be abrogated by the death of another person.

Judge Brothers, however, ruled with Tyrrell, and Charles E. Peace, Republican committeeman of the 42d ward, who had been nominated by the senatorial committee of the district, thereupon became the legal Republican nominee for the senate seat held by Joyce for eight years.

Poisons Her 2 Children, Self; She Dies, They Live

Portland, Ind., Sept. 4.—[Special.]—Carrie Powell, 32, took poison in her home today and gave it to her two children, Joseph, 6, and Elizabeth, 5. The mother died. The boy is expected to live, but the girl's condition is serious.

I THOUGHT Flo Ziegfeld was handing me a great big Ha-Ha.

He came back all steamed up after hearing this new record.

For 15¢ . . . a full-size record . . . high priced orchestras . . . big musical hits!

I had to laugh. I hadn't had a good laugh since before I was caught short in the market. For 15¢? For 15¢ you couldn't buy even a piccolo solo!

But then I heard the record played, right alongside a 75¢ one.

That's when I became interested in the business!

I listened to six of these Hit-of-the-Week Records, and if there's any difference between them and the kind I plunk down 75¢ for, I must be wearing ear muffs.

These records are one-sided. You can buy the music you really want without plunking down good dough for a dud on the reverse side.

And they don't break! I took one home. I sat on it. I hit it with a hammer. We used it as a cocktail tray. Even my pre-war (that is, "pre" the next war) stuff couldn't scar it. And then the cook fried an egg on it. It played just the same. There's not a break in a boxful!

They're made of Durium, folks, and that's the whole secret. It's a remarkable new material that records sound perfectly. When I was told the technical name it made me dizzy, but, anyhow, the stuff looks something like brown patent leather.

With the old type of record, a man and a machine can turn out 700 a day. With Durium, a man and a machine can turn out 70,000.

Now your money can buy music instead of expensive material! That's why Hit-of-the-Week Records can sell for 15¢!

But that's not all. There are more reasons why this is the biggest thing that ever hit the phonograph business.

Only one record will be made each week, and that will be a hit that has proved itself on the stage, and over the radio, and on the dance floor.

Flo Ziegfeld, Vincent Lopez and I will act as a music jury to pick out the most popular piece of music every week.

Then it will be recorded by one of the best orchestras that money can hire.

Every record a hit! No flops admitted here!

That's why you can buy Hit-of-the-Week Records without bothering to hear them beforehand. You just know that each one's a wow.

So step up, folks, and give a poor margin-called actor a break, and give yourself a treat.

You can buy these records AT ANY NEWS STAND OR DRUG STORE as easily as buying a magazine. Get yours today.

ON THE CRIME FRONT.

The judges of the Criminal court have acted with commendable promptness upon one of the suggestions of the Cook county judicial advisory committee which promises better trial juries. A general panel will be called and from this body the chief justice will select 18 veniremen for each court. Selection in the trial court in the usual time wasting manner will thus be cut to the choice of the best jurymen. The result will be not only a saving of time but the preliminary elimination of the least fit for service.

If this plan succeeds, as we are confident it will, it will illustrate what has been said frequently by THE TRIBUNE and other students of our procedure—namely: that the courts themselves can do a great deal to improve the administration of justice without recourse to legislation.

The plan also is encouraging evidence of a general intensification of the battle against organized crime. The Cook county judiciary is showing a special resourcefulness and energy. The state's attorney and his assistants are doing excellent work. In the federal jurisdiction District Attorney Johnson is making admirable use of his powers, notably through the opening up of the possibilities of income tax frauds, a most effective flank attack upon organized crime. The study of scientific methods of crime detection inaugurated at Northwestern university has already contributed valuable new resources to police work and will add more if the police will take advantage of them. Civic associations and organized business interests are wide awake and giving active support to official action. The war on organized criminality has entered a new and most encouraging phase and results we are confident will be prompt and substantial. We may hope, too, that permanent gains in method will be achieved.

EFFECTS OF THE DOLE.

Here is an interesting letter to the London Times:

"I give three examples from my own limited experience of the effect of the dole, not on the 'work shy' but upon good workmen.

"My estate carpenter, after two years' excellent service, suddenly began to neglect his work, and obviously sought dismissal. After repeated warnings I discharged him. I found he had come into some money and sought dismissal in order to obtain the 'dole,' for which he in due course applied.

"My wife came across an excellent mechanic and his wife and child who had been living for months in one room on 25s a week 'dole.' Although we had no actual vacancy we offered him a good cottage we had empty, with fruit and vegetables, and 30s a week, to rise to £2 in a month or two if he made good. He said they would much like the job, but he felt he ought not to work for 5s a week! Fortunately, I persuaded him. He is now earning 45s a week, and happy.

"A neighbor had a good Welsh maid, daughter of a respectable miner out of work. She recently showed us a letter from her parents, saying that her sister had got herself dismissed from her factory in London to come home, that her brother at work in London was trying to do the same, and suggesting that she should try to qualify for the dole by leaving service and entering a shop and subsequently coming home, when the combined income would enable them to live without working!

"Yet all of these families would have regarded poor law relief as a disgrace."

This reveals the joker in the dole system. How serious it is we do not know. Taxpayers and conservatives feel that it is very serious, that the dole is thoroughly demoralizing the working morale of British labor and will continue to do so increasingly until there is none left. Americans are always hearing this side of the matter which presents the dole as a disastrous blow to British prosperity, a device for encouraging sloth at the expense of industry, the shirk and the waster at the expense of the thrifty and industrious. If this view is comprehensive and justified by the facts, Britain is on the road to economic ruin.

Laborites and many Liberals take a more moderate view, which does not deny that there are serious evils inherent in the dole system and grave defects in its administration, but it holds they are largely offset under existing conditions by its benefits. At the close of the war there was a sudden release of soldiers and not nearly enough employment for all of them. Britain was confronted with the alternative of letting them starve or making provision for them. There was not only the returned soldier to take care of but also thousands of workers engaged in war supply industry. The dole was not a good method of meeting such a situation, but it had to be met in some way. It saved Britain from worse consequences, its defenders or apologists assert, and does so still. There is little destitution in Great Britain even in the present depression, and there have been no serious outbreaks of violence or bolshevism.

One of the facts of the system is not much attended to in America, and that is the contribution of nearly a third by employed labor. Since 1912 it is estimated that the dole has amounted to a little over 21 hundred million dollars, of which the taxpayers have contributed about six hundred million. The present cost of the dole is, roughly speaking, 375 million annually.

That there should be better provision against old age, illness, and unemployment than we have yet evolved on a comprehensive scale is coming to be realized, but American thought and practical experiment will find ways to accomplish it on juster and less demoralizing terms than the dole represents. Private industry, which is, we think, more enlightened and aware of its own interest in the general prosperity and security of the people than that of Europe, is already engaged in promising experiment and we believe a system will be eventually worked out which will distribute the cost of such provision more fairly than government can or will do, and which will reduce to the minimum the real danger of demoralization and waste inherent in political devices.

TRACTION DAWDLING.

A financial plan for the consolidation of the surface and elevated lines will be in the hands of the advisory committee within a few days, it has been reported. After this committee, consisting of Messrs. Arthur Reynolds, Albert H. Harris, and Melvin Traylor, has passed upon the plan it will be forwarded to the protective committees representing the various groups of security holders.

We hope this report proves to be true. The settlement is long overdue. As long ago as last spring the spokesmen for the groups of security holders wrote identical letters to the city council stating that they were in substantial agreement on terms of reorganization and had only to iron out minor differences. Months have intervened and the voters have approved the traction ordinance, but the minor differences, whatever they may be, still are blocking the way.

Efforts to obtain additional capital pending the reorganization have not been particularly successful. Presumably the investment bankers do not care to run the risk of a failure in the negotiations, and they can hardly be blamed for caution. The inevitable inference is that little in the way of extensions and improvements can be expected until the terms of reorganization have been agreed upon at least by most of the groups of security holders, thus providing a sound basis for additional credit.

Meanwhile public impatience is rapidly turning into public indignation. The unemployed who might be at work on improving the transportation lines are jobless. The straphangers are still clinging to their straps, with no relief in sight. The transportation companies are losing the good will of their customers and in return are obtaining nothing more valuable than the pleasures of prolonged horse trading.

Meanwhile prices are beginning to show signs of firming up. When the settlement is finally achieved, as it must be sooner or later, it may be found that the new capital will buy less in extensions and improvements than it would today. Every one—straphangers and senior and junior security holders—will be the loser. This aspect, we should think, would make a particularly strong appeal to the bankers who are in control of the negotiations. They can hardly pretend that they are so occupied with other matters that they cannot give undivided attention to the traction reorganization. There is little business of any sort on the financial horizon in Chicago these days and nothing, it need scarcely be said, of anything like as much importance, whether measured in dollars or in intangible values to the community, as the traction settlement. We can see no excuse for further delay.

A NEW ROAD TO DETROIT.

The proposal for a 40 foot road between Chicago and Detroit has been indorsed by representatives of the Michigan counties through which the road is to pass. The project, as outlined at a gathering at Lansing, will require the expenditure of several million dollars and will involve the rebuilding of U. S. Highway No. 12. The new road will be an express highway, skirting the larger towns to avoid the congestion and delay of a succession of Main streets. The connection through Indiana has already been provided for and parts of the road have been built already north of New Buffalo in Michigan.

This express highway to connect Detroit and Chicago may soon be completed to the extent that the states of Michigan and Indiana can complete it. Unfortunately, the saving in time that it promises to effect will be lost in large part unless something is done to improve the entrance of the road into Chicago. From Gary into Chicago the road is manifestly inadequate today and will be more so when added traffic on the new highway increases the need for terminal facilities here.

It has been suggested that a road be built into Chicago along the course of the Little Calumet. Whether this or another route is adopted is relatively unimportant. Some route must be selected without delay and paved to a width of at least forty feet from Gary to a connection with Chicago's boulevards. Unless this is done we shall have a four-track road all the way from Detroit to Gary and a two-track road from Gary on. If the Michigan Central had four tracks through southern Michigan and Indiana and only two into Chicago the management could properly be accused of idiocy.

Editorial of the Day

TIME TO WAKE UP.

[Cedar Rapids, Ia., Gazette.]

With the discovery in Jack Zuta's safe deposit boxes of more than one item of incriminating evidence which political crooks will find difficulty in waving aside, it seems at last inevitable that some progress will be made in Chicago's feeble effort to rid herself of gang domination and racketeering.

Worthy of thought, however, is the probability that as Chicago thugs find the Illinois metropolis growing too warm for comfort they will transfer their activities to the less irksome atmosphere of smaller cities in the middle west. That the emigration already has begun is indicated by recent violence in St. Paul and Kansas City.

Only last week a representative of a Chicago liquor syndicate is reported to have been in Cedar Rapids attempting to establish local agencies. He is said to have offered to deliver beer at $55 a barrel to one local store. That particular local business man refused to become involved in the traffic. Perhaps some other prospective distributor was more amenable.

The situation calls for more vigilance and intelligence than has been displayed by Iowa peace officers in the last few months. The inability of state and county officials to apprehend and bring to justice desperadoes who committed recent murders at Washington and Tipton certainly will not tend to frighten away criminals who contemplate invasion of Iowa.

BETTER HEALTH—MORE WORK—MORE PAY.

DR. W. E. DEEKS reports the following results from the anti-malaria campaign of the United Fruit company:

In a certain division or plantation the pay envelope of the average laborer increased over 30 per cent in a three year period. In four years the average amount of sugar cane cut per day per hand rose from less than one ton the first year to 1.23 tons the second, 1.39 tons the third, and 1.61 tons the fourth, almost double the amount of work done by the average farm hand—an increase accomplished in a period of four years. The malaria rate in all the plantations was 239 in 1925, 215 in 1926, 147 in 1927, 100 in 1928, and 89 in 1929.

Dr. Deeks writes that, due to improved camp sanitation and the anti-malaria campaign, the laborer is now healthier, has less sickness, is more contented, and has more money. "The workmen put in more working days; there is more stability and contentment."

At first the children of the laborers were sore eyed, sickly, and poorly nourished; now they look healthy and vigorous. At first the laborers were somewhat antagonistic; now they are for the program. At first there were some misgivings lest the program would drive labor away; now the danger is in the other direction—there are more applicants for work than there are jobs. Infected people try especially hard to get into the camps to make good wages, to live in good houses, and to be cured of their malaria.

Let us hope planters, railroad officials, and business men will read this story and be stimulated by it to read the full report. This is a big business proposition, and as such should appeal to big business men. This company has plantations all over the mainland and the islands of the Caribbean region. These plantations are, and must be, in the swampy, low lands along the coast. They cover millions of acres of land in regions where drainage is poor, rainfall is heavy, and malaria and mosquitoes abound. The experience covers one hundred and fifty thousand people.

The company, in its effort to promote the economic welfare of the regions in which it operates, conducts stores which sell to any one who wants to buy; loans the money and supplies the engineering and the administrative experience to build water works and other sanitary necessities for the general population; has hospital and other medical and preventive services for the employés and their families. It is part of the business management of a big concern which finds it to be good business policy.

WHITE CORPUSCLES.

M. D. writes:

1. What infections cause an increase in white corpuscles?
2. Would a white corpuscle count of something over 7,000 denote much infection?
3. Would a hemoglobin test showing color 80 plus and red corpuscle count 2,030,000 denote any marked secondary anemia?
4. Which condition is most damaging to health, a lack of hemoglobin or a lack of red corpuscles?
5. What foods tend to build red corpuscles?

REPLY.

1. All pus infections, including the pneumonias. In leucemia there is an enormous increase in certain white cells, but this is not an infection; the tendency is to regard it as akin to cancer.
2. That is about a normal white cell count.
3. A blood examination giving the figures you mention causes a strong suspicion of pernicious anemia. Investigate that possibility.
4. Lack of red corpuscles.
5. Liver, tripe, good meat, and green vegetables.

IT MAY BE RINGWORM.

C. B. writes: What causes the skin to peel off all the time with red spots under where the skin peels off? This is a condition of the feet.

REPLY.

The probable explanation is ringworm of the feet. Your physician can cure this.

The red-brown road is distant far
From turbid city streets;
Upon its cool sequestered aisles
No glaring noontide beats.
Begirt by slopes of pink and gold,
And arched by fronds of green,
It winds its way, then runs astray
To view the river's sheen.

It welcomes home the fretted soul
Of him who comes again
To find surcease from petty quests
Amid the hives of men.
The torture of a thousand cares
No more exists for him
Who wanders as a joyous boy
Beside the river's rim.

The red-brown road, the orchard lands,
The river, calm and free,
The daisy field of godly gold,
The warblers' minstrelsy—
They bring lost voices back to earth,
They make us dream anew;
But, ah! We lack the old time grace
To make those dreams come true.

THOMAS CURTIS CLARK.

IT STRIKES the Wake-Line those Cubs are drawing the pennant race finish just a trifle too close. Of course, they'll win all right, and we all soon will be wondering about our world series tickets, but we've been around race tracks too long not to know that the payoff comes at the finish line and not in the stretch. The Cubs are leading by several lengths and all mathematical odds are in favor of their repeating the 1929 feat, but we've had mild wagers on nags which were leading into the stretch by several lengths and then lost interest in the business at hand. Not that the Cubs are losing interest, far from that, but we just feel that as an occupant of this column to encourage civic achievement we should sound a little warning. We're not really greatly concerned yet, but we simply wish to perform our duty.

SPEAKING of baseball, Hack Wilson is going to wear his straw hat, despite Cub custom of smashing such headgear on Sept. 1, until the pennant is clinched. Knowing of no more popular or illustrious example to follow, so are we.

Then the sweet young thing piped up, "Oh, I'm so sorry I can't accommodate you, but there's plenty of Hiram Walker in our grip."

16 YEARS AGO TODAY

SEPTEMBER 5, 1914.

PARIS.—The war office at Bordeaux sent the following communication: "On our left the Germans appear to neglect Paris to pursue their turning movement. They have reached La Ferte-Sous-Jouarre (department of Seine and Marne, 11 miles east of Meaux), passed Reims, and descended on the west bank of the river in Argonne. On our right, in Lorraine and in Vosges, the fighting proceeds with alternative fortunes. Maubeuge, which is being violently bombarded, resists vigorously."

LONDON.—The allies have their backs to Paris after a continued advance of the Germans to within 32 miles of the French capital. The onrush of the Germans has not been checked, despite unofficial reports that their right wing has been pushed back until it is resting on St. Quentin.

PETROGRAD.—Two million Russian soldiers, operating along a front of 250 miles from Zamost, Russian Poland, to the vicinity of Suczawa, in the Austrian province of Bukovina, have driven the Austro-Hungarian armies back with heavy losses. It is reported six German army corps have been rushed to East Prussia and Galicia from France.

ROME.—The Italian premier gave out this official statement: "The Italian government is firmly determined to maintain the strictest neutrality."

CHICAGO.—With wheat advancing 5 cents a bushel, the prospects were that the housewife soon will have to pay 90 cents or more for a sack of flour. The price has been 85 cents.

30 YEARS AGO TODAY

SEPTEMBER 5, 1900.

LONDON.—A dispatch from Shanghai tells of the first official communication from the fugitive Chinese emperor to Li Hung Chang, which explains that he fled from Peking for the west with the empress in consideration of her safety. He fears that the foreign powers are incensed and orders the viceroy to use every endeavor to open peace negotiations. The governments of the powers have wired their ministers in Peking for opinions on Russia's proposal for withdrawal of the allies' troops. It is computed that the number of missionaries known to have been murdered in the provinces since June is 60 and that 87 others are missing.

WASHINGTON. — A dispatch was received from Gen. Chaffee at Taku saying that hostilities have practically ceased, only occasional shots being fired from cover. No considerable body of Boxers has been discovered. Gen. Chaffee asks if the United States intends to keep a military force in China until terms of peace are arranged. There are now about 5,000 effective American troops in China.

CHICAGO. — The Ogden Gas company met the 50 cent rate of the Municipal Gas company by saying it would make a similar rate and would, in addition, begin quo warranto proceedings to test the right of the new company to operate without a franchise from the city council.

65 YEARS AGO TODAY

SEPTEMBER 5, 1865.

WASHINGTON.—Capt. R. B. Winder, son of the infamous rebel, Gen. John H. Winder, of Libby prison notoriety, was arrested last week at Drummondstown, on the eastern shore, while trying to make his way to Baltimore, from where he hoped to escape to Europe. The prisoner is the man who laid out, under the direction of his father, then rebel commissary general of prisoners, the prison pen at Andersonville. He is now safely lodged in the old Capitol prison, and will doubtless be tried on the same charges as those on which his confederate, Wirz, is arraigned.

MILWAUKEE.—Today has been another epoch in our city's history. We have rejoiced over Fort Donelson, Vicksburg, Richmond, and Lee's surrender, but today the hero of those victories has been among us. Gen. Grant arrived at 3 o'clock this morning and was escorted by the military to his apartments. At 11 o'clock business was practically suspended as crowds thronged the streets to see and cheer the great man as he drove in a carriage with Gen. Pope to the Music hall, where he was introduced by Gov. Solomon and thanked the people heartily for his reception.

A THIRD CANDIDATE.

Radnor, Pa., Sept. 1.—The news from Illinois to the effect that the Anti-Saloon league and the W. C. T. U. are planning to support an independent candidate for the senate, because Mrs. McCormick adheres first and foremost to the principles of American democracy, in spite of her personal dry convictions, is very illuminating.

Are the surviving adherents of the "dry or die" cause unwilling to admit the validity of the principle of majority rule—unless they know conclusively that their side of a much debated question constitutes a majority? To endeavor to ward off a referendum on a question of public concern, when the people are supposed to be the real rulers—Mr. Gerard to the contrary notwithstanding—or to denounce a candidate for public office for feeling morally bound to respect a mandate of the people, suggests an attitude of fear or czarism.

The rank and file of American citizens are weary of the prohibition issue in politics and desire to give some attention to the many pressing problems to be solved. For this reason many of the original supporters of the eighteenth amendment are now convinced that this method of handling the liquor question is an error. However ardently they desire the banishment of liquor, they see that the time has come to end an experiment that is making us known abroad for what we are in fact, a nation of hypocrites. Because of the great change of opinion by sober, law abiding citizens [not to consider the fanatical wets who are as one sided as the fanatical drys], a referendum is long past due in order that our representatives in congress may know just how the country stands.

It is to be hoped that the Republican voters of Illinois and the many independent supporters of the Hoover administration will not be humbugged into wasting their votes on any straw man set up to defeat Mrs. McCormick.

ALICE M. FIELD NEWKIRK.

NO CHOICE FOR DEMOCRATS.

Chicago, Aug. 29. — The Democratic voter as a dry or as a wet must take the position: You shall have this repeal whether you want it or not. Now Mrs. McCormick offers herself to the people through the referendum. If it is the wish and desire of the people of this state to have it wet or dry, Mrs. McCormick has given her word of honor that she will carry out the wish of the people, thereby satisfying the majority and not a few. The question is, Should a congressman or senator be elected to represent his own convictions or those of his constituents? J. D.

TRACTION DELAYS.

Riverside, Ill., Aug. 26.—Your excellent editorial yesterday spurs me to urge you to insist on full publicity without any more silly secrecy about transportation affairs. Half the precious 120 days is gone. Six weeks earlier the council on May 19 were persuaded to pass the ordinance by the authentic letters from protective committees claiming the proposed financial plan provided, in their judgment, for the "relative values," etc., subject to certain "relatively minor adjustments." Did those letters represent deliberate deceit? Or has the inability arisen since? What were the "adjustments" then in progress? Due perhaps to differences of guesses regarding the values of the old properties to the new merger in contrast to determining accurately what the old properties are still worth to the old security holders? Your editorial might have adopted a much stronger word than "quibbling" if you had only taken the bull by the horns, and your comment need not have been confined only to the engineers and attorneys. It will be immensely beneficial if THE TRIBUNE will only exert all its power to ascertain the true status of this miserable mess and why? E. B. NELSON.

VENDERS AT SOLDIERS' FIELD.

Chicago, Aug. 27.—We regret the fact that Mrs. H. C. Hansen of Park Ridge was disturbed by venders at Soldiers' field at the music festival as related in the Voice of the People. In hearty cooperation with the wishes of the south park board our venders are instructed to do their selling without inconvenience or disturbance to the patrons. The 150,000 surprise over capacity audience no doubt worked some undue enthusiasm on this particular vender, who makes his meager living working while the spectators are enjoying themselves. Very truly yours, FRED C. BECHER,
Secretary, Woodlawn Service company.

WHAT, INDEED.

Chicago, Sept. 1.—The highups of organized labor talk about conditions which they cannot improve, for the trouble is too deep seated for either business agent or boss to remedy. The clouds have been gathering for years, they have burst, and we are in the midst of the storm. Between centralized wealth, the unsexed women, and the efficiency of machinery, men are undone; there is no place for them in the scheme of things; no work for them to do; so gradually, but surely, they will starve to death. The barnyards will be full of hens; the proud chanticleers will be buried in oblivion.

The hens' heaven is here, but what of the eggs? H. P. MORRIS.

Announcing

A New Program of Vital Interest to Owners and Buyers of Fine Cars

Introducing brilliant new products and deeply lowered prices

Six months ago, Cadillac's international reputation as the foremost builder of fine motor cars was tremendously advanced by the announcement of the Cadillac V-16—immediately acclaimed the world's finest automobile . . . Now, out of an experience which produced this great car—and which has built and marketed more than 600,000 Cadillacs and La Salles—comes a new Cadillac and a new La Salle, both V-8's and (shortly to be announced) a new Cadillac V-Type 12-cylinder car—sharing and benefiting in all that has contributed to the brilliant success of the V-16 . . . The Cadillac Motor Car Company presents in the new Cadillac and La Salle, strikingly new elements of value in appearance, performance and comfort, but of even more timely interest, extremely low prices—the lowest prices in the last twelve years of Cadillac history.

THE NEW EIGHT-CYLINDER

CADILLAC

PRICES RANGING FROM $2695 TO $3795 F. O. B. DETROIT

The New Eight-Cylinder CADILLAC

The new Cadillac Eight—embodying every sound, high principle established by Cadillac throughout the years—is one of the fruits of the greatest manufacturing program in all Cadillac history.

It surpasses all previous Cadillac Eights in performance and beauty—in the originality of its design, the costly richness of its interiors and the craftsmanship of its Fisher and Fleetwood bodies.

And still the prices are much lower.

It has raised Cadillac standards of engineering and manufacture—embodying features developed by the Cadillac V-16, which confer upon it still greater steadiness, quiet, ease and riding restfulness.

All of this value has been created by the simple logic of Cadillac's great fine car demand—plus the unrivalled resources of General Motors.

Here, then, is a car that is bound to widen the circle of Cadillac ownership, for the sound economic reason that it represents the greatest price and quality-value available today.

THE NEW EIGHT-CYLINDER

La SALLE

PRICES RANGING FROM $2195 TO $3245 F. O. B. DETROIT

The New Eight-Cylinder LA SALLE

The new La Salle is a dramatic demonstration of what a great industrial institution can do when it drives steadily year after year toward higher quality and at the same time toward lower price through constantly increasing ownership.

La Salle benefits again by its association with Cadillac—and especially by the greatly expanded Cadillac manufacturing program.

Nothing less than this, and La Salle's share in the powerful economizing influences exerted by General Motors with its wealth of scientific saving resources could possibly accomplish such a saving for the public in the fine car field.

The brilliant new La Salle offers a new and more powerful V-type eight-cylinder motor, greater beauty of bodies, designed by Fisher and Fleetwood, greater richness of upholstery, and interior appointments.

By the simple logic of building better and better each year—by sharing the benefits of its companion cars, the Cadillac V-8, the Cadillac V-16 and the Cadillac V-12—La Salle puts into the hands of a new and vastly larger public a car of fine calibre never before within their reach.

THE NEW V-TYPE TWELVE-CYLINDER CADILLAC

The Cadillac complete line will consist of THE LA SALLE V-8—THE CADILLAC V-8—THE CADILLAC V-12—THE CADILLAC V-16. Ranging in price from $2195 to $15,000.

Cadillac will shortly announce a highly important addition to the Cadillac line—rounding it out into complete coverage of the fine car field. . . . After a year of demonstration side by side with the 16, the new V-type twelve-cylinder Cadillac is almost ready for public presentation. It will be a superfine car of 140-143-inch wheelbase, ranging in price from $3795 to $4995, f. o. b. Detroit. . . . The Cadillac V-12 will be announced and delivered to the public at a very early date.

Easy Payments

The G. M. A. C. Deferred Payment Plan is available to all Cadillac and La Salle purchasers. The appraisal value of your present car is acceptable as cash. Payment of the balance is made easy by taking advantage of this convenient service.

WOODCOCK BARS BOYS AS SPIES ON BOOTLEGGERS

Insists Press Put Undue Emphasis on Plan.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Sept. 4.—[Special]—Prohibition Director Amos W. W. Woodcock took issue today with Harry M. Dengler, head of his agents' school of instruction, on the suggestion that boys might be used to advantage in spying on suspected prohibition law violators.

Explaining that he did not sanction such a procedure, the director ordered Dengler to delete from the text of one of his lectures a paragraph mentioning boys as aids in detection work. The paragraph read as follows:

"If he [the suspect] is suspicious, boys can be used to advantage. Two boys can engage in games near the home of the subject without attracting attention, whereas a man loitering in a neighborhood soon arouses suspicion."

Police Detection Methods.

Both Director Woodcock and Mr. Dengler complained that "undue emphasis" had been placed on the paragraph in newspaper reports, which had singled it out of a detailed discussion of the best ways and means of shadowing suspects. Mr. Dengler ran to cover quickly as a result of the publicity given to his plan for boys as snoopers. He said the idea of using boys did not originate with him or with the prohibition bureau, but was an incidental suggestion gleaned from a study of various police detection methods, and that there never was any intention of using boys in such a way.

In the same lecture, which was prepared for 34 enforcement officers who are attending the school now in its first day, Mr. Dengler described ways of following a suspect, overhearing his conversations and of trapping him into a confession.

"The whole purpose of the school is to train agents to be more efficient and honest and to raise their standards," said Mr. Woodcock. "One of the important things we are trying to teach them is to be fair and to respect the rights of citizens. This is a corner stone of my policy."

Invoke Strict Discipline.

Elaborating further on his policy, Woodcock asserted that he intended to invoke strict discipline in cases where it was clear agents had invaded citizen's rights. Although such agents will be given impartial and full hearings, he said, they also will be punished impartially when guilty.

Tomorrow night Director Woodcock will leave on the first of a series of inspection trips which will carry him to all the enforcement districts in the country.

"I am going to the people this time," he commented. "I want to hear all the complaints they have to offer and I expect to know a good deal more about enforcement conditions."

Early in October the director will go to Chicago and from there start a long western trip that will carry him to the Pacific coast districts.

INDIANA EDUCATOR BURNS HOME, SELF; HIS WIFE ESCAPES

Muncie, Ind., Sept. 4.—[Special.]—Demented by a long illness, Dumont Lotz, 65, widely known educator, set fire to his home at Royerton, six miles north of here, early today and was burned to death.

Mrs. Lotz was seriously burned and their son John, 23, who arose in time to observe his father scattering gasoline on the floors, was severely burned while grappling with his father. The elder Lotz placed gasoline on his clothing. Mrs. Lotz finally escaped by jumping through the bedroom window.

After graduation from Purdue university in 1889, he was professor of chemistry there, and later at Indiana university, University of Chicago, and Oregon Agricultural college.

From 1895 to 1900 he was principal of the South Bend High school. At Purdue Mr. Lotz was on Purdue's first football team in 1887. He won letters in football in 1889 and 1890. He also played on the baseball team, and was a member of the track team, specializing in the hammer throw.

NEW CANADIAN MINISTER BACKS SEAWAY PROJECT

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

TORONTO, Ont., Sept. 4.—Canada's new minister of canals, Robert J. Manion, returned today from Fort William, center of Canadian pro-seaway sentiment, and publicly declared:

"There is no doubt that the St. Lawrence seaways project will be carried out. I hope that during my régime of office we may see at least the beginning of this great development and possibly the completion of it."

The statement was made at the Canadian national exhibition luncheon.

FLIGHT TO TEXAS, COSTE SAYS, WAS JUST EASY JAUNT

Motor and Weather Are Both Agreeable.

BY DIEUDONNE COSTE.

[Copyright, 1930, in North and South America, by the New York Times and The Chicago Tribune. All rights reserved.]

Dallas, Tex., Sept. 4.—We flew from New York to Dallas in 11½ hours today.

It was not hard.

Pouf pouf, it was nothing at all.

We arose from our beds in New York after getting very late to bed Wednesday night, at 3 o'clock this morning. We had been to the city hall, dined with Col. Lindbergh, and attended a reception with the German flyers, and O, we were tired.

No Navigation Problem.

My partner, Maurice Bellonte, mapped out our route in about 10 minutes, and we flew to Dallas just as one would navigate a boat on a calm lake. It was not a long flight. I do not think any one ever made $25,000 more easily. I have made many non-stop flights of greater length.

Col. W. E. Easterwood, I think, will meet me in New York to present me with the $25,000 check. The contract is in Paris. I know your Col. Easterwood. I do not worry in the least about my check, I shall have it when the time comes.

Yes we are pretty tired, but we are happy tonight.

Not Much Sleep in Sight.

We have had about 5 hours sleep since leaving Paris, I think. We return half way, to Louisville, I think, leaving Dallas Friday. Then we fly on to Washington, will be there by Sunday, and expect to lunch with your President, M. Hoover, Monday.

The reception we received here was marvelous! Never has any one so generously and enthusiastically greeted us, not even in New York. Our hearts were touched by your welcome. I wish to give these thanks to the Dallas people.

The ship, she is like us, a little tired, but still in good health. She flew tirelessly to Dallas, and she deserves a rest. Never before has any other plane flown first across the ocean and then in so long a continuous flight the next day. They say this is another record—this Dallas flight from overseas. We do not think we are heroes, achieving this, but we are glad the Texas people liked us and our flying.

Made Fast Time.

At a speed of 132 miles an hour over 2,300 kilometers (1,450 miles), the ship beneath us sang. At such a rate, in such a time, we could have flown completely around our belle France. But your country is one of great distances—assurement. That I know because I had flown over New Orleans, Montgomery, New York, across the continent to San Francisco, and afterward to Tokio, on our world flight in 1928. We had not forgotten—mais non!

We left early for we feared bad weather blowing up if we lingered. We had no difficulty, once we got under way.

We had favorable winds all the way. The weather—it was superb; the breeze with which we started blew from the southwest. Later it blew upon our nose, a little, but after it came strongly from the east. There was no fog at all! Only a little rolling was caused by waves of heat. There were no thrills, it was all steady flying, as you would fly to a nearby city in your state of Texas.

If the fog or the rain had risen, it would have been very dangerous, particularly over the Mississippi. But we were soon over that. There was only the one difficulty—few landmarks by which we might direct our course.

Reminded of France.

The country in some places looked a little like our own France, and made us a little homesick. But the distances are so much greater here.

It was out second greatest thrill—to sight your great city. The greatest was when we sighted Newfoundland. I think never again will I have so light a heart as when we saw that coast after the fierce storms.

We had a gesture of farewell from your Texas as we flew away from New York. Your Monsieur Hawks of Houston, who recently set a transcontinental speed record, escorted us for several miles and waved us farewell.

In our petrol tank we carried 1,400 gallons of gasoline—essence, we call it. So we did not fear we might give out of fuel. We carried no other baggage.

We will go back to Paris by ship, but you ask if we would like to fly that course again. Ah, oui, again—sometime.

We circled the field three times as we came over the hangar. The other red plane, in which flew our Manager Rene Racover, landed with us and together we taxied around the field.

Then came the deluge. I have only a feeling of arms, legs and faces as the tide rolled over us. Several horses were in the crowd, ridden by gendarmes—messieurs the police. Mon Dieu, the crowd they nearly trampled the horses in that push!

They carried us on their shoulders from the plane. As we reëstablished contact with each other, Monsieur Recover murmured to me: "These people, they are charming, are they not? And the girls—how beautiful!"

We were taken through a mad crowd that lined the streets to the Adolphus hotel, where they served hors d'oeuvres. O, that prohibition! But I do not mind, for I drink very little besides water. Nevertheless, if I would make a suggestion for improving the relations between your country and France—why not move the Statue of Liberty to Paris?

Bath Outranks Banquet.

Later we attend a banquet in the hotel, and people are nice to us once more. But we are very tired, my comrades and I. Later when we are rested we shall know how to express our thanks better.

Is it worth it to fly here for $25,000? Vraiment, yes, it is.

Our first desire upon arrival? A bath, I assure you. After talking of the trip for a while, we were free to wash the accumulated dust of this entire great continent from our tired bodies. It was food and drink to our souls, that bath.

Next time I make such a trip as this I shall take an American with me, for I am sure he will keep me entertained. We find you very amusing—you Americans.

I want to conclude with this message to the people of Dallas: From our hearts we thank you for the wonderfully enthusiastic greeting you gave to us. It has touched our hearts. We shall never forget it.

BRITAIN'S 'AIR MINDED' PRINCES TO GET OWN AIRPORT ON KING'S O.K.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Sept. 4.—Great Britain's flying princes are to have their own private airdrome at Sandringham, the royal family's country residence. The plans under consideration only await King George's approval.

The scheme coincides with the prince of Wales' recent promotion to air vice marshal and that he pilots his own machines. The hangars are to accommodate Wales' service reconnaissance plane, two light planes, a two seater biplane and a three seater monoplane, as well as Prince George's light plane.

They will have their own ground and engineering staff at Sandringham to "pass on" machines before flying, in accordance with air ministry regulations. The prince of Wales has flown his own machine to Sandringham on his last three visits.

German Atlantic Flyers Will Visit Hoover Today

Washington, D. C., Sept. 4.—(AP)—The German embassy announced today that Capt. Wolfgang von Gronau and his three comrades on the recent trans-Atlantic flight, would pay their respects to President Hoover tomorrow at noon. Arrangements for a visit to the White House were made by Clarence M. Young, assistant secretary of commerce for aeronautics. Later the flyers will be guests of the German charge d'affaires, Dr. O. C. Kiep, at a reception in their honor.

PLAN GOOD WILL TOUR

New York, Sept. 4.—[Special.]—Leaders in American aeronautics, together with officials of the French embassy and officials of the state department of commerce in Washington, made definite arrangements today for a good will tour of the United States by Capt. Dieudonne Coste and Maurice Bellonte.

It is understood President Hoover will make available for the tour the aviation facilities of the nation.

Charles Hayden of Hayden, Stone & Co., New York, bankers, consented today to act as chairman of the committee on arrangements in forming the itinerary of the projected tour. It was understood that the department of commerce would be in charge of flight operations, but would not arrange for the stops.

Will Visit Herrick's Grave.

Among the earlier suggestions entertained was one for the two flyers to pay homage to the late Ambassador Myron T. Herrick by a visit to Cleveland, O., where they would place a wreath on his grave.

The good will tour is tentatively planned to occupy about forty days and to follow the route of Col. Lindbergh's tour of the country following his trans-Atlantic flight.

Coste and Bellonte took off from Curtiss field for Dallas at 7:55 o'clock. Escorting them were several planes with camera men and the Stanavo Lockheed flown by W. W. White and carrying Rene Racover, the representative in America by the flyers. A minute later the craft disappeared in the morning haze over Queens.

Photographers' Plane Crashes.

One of the planes carrying photographers came to grief, without serious injury to its occupants, over Kew Gardens. According to reports the motor died. Murray Becker, a cameraman, was treated for cuts at Flushing hospital and went home.

Plane Groomed for Ocean Flight Damaged by Fire

Boston, Mass., Sept. 4.—(AP)—The plane with which Russell N. Boardman planned to hop off soon on a trans-Atlantic flight in the interests of the American Legion convention was partly destroyed by fire at the East Boston airport here late today.

Boardman and a mechanic had a narrow escape from injury as the plane burst into flames.

Two Hungarian Aces Plan U. S. to Budapest Flight

Detroit, Mich., Sept. 4.—(AP)—Two Hungarian war aces will take off from here tomorrow afternoon or Saturday morning on the next leg of a flight to Budapest, Hungary, intended as a patriotic gesture to win sympathy for their native land. They are Capt. George Endres and Capt. Alexander Magyar. They arrived here late today from Flint, Mich.

Their next hop will be to Roosevelt field, N. Y.; from there they will fly to Harbor Grace, N. F., then take off for Budapest. Their plane is a Lockheed Sirius, the same type as is now used by Col. Charles A. Lindbergh.

Boston Bound Steamer on Mud in Plymouth Harbor

Plymouth, Mass., Sept. 4.—(AP)—Four hundred passengers were marooned on the steamship Plymouth of the Nastasket Steamship company today when the vessel grounded on a mud flat in the harbor here. LINDBERGH BEAM SLANTS TOO HIGH, PILOTS DECLARE Suggest Faster Revolution of Big Beacon.

The Lindbergh beacon is cast too high to be of the best benefit to air mail pilots and revolves more slowly than it should, an assembly of opinions disclosed yesterday. Observation of the Sun Flash beacon seemed to indicate that its stationary red gleam does not attract aviators' eyes as easily as a revolving light.

Pilots who carry the night mail from the four points of the compass into Chicago were unanimous in recommending that the Lindbergh light, turned on at the Palmolive building last week, should be set lower. Its present angle carries the long blue-gray beam out at two degrees above the horizon, which is not the correct slant, the flyers say.

Seen 140 Miles Away.

The longest distance at which the beacon was seen is about 140 miles and that from a height of 11,500 feet. Mail flyers do not choose that altitude often, but Pilot Robert Radell of the National Air Transport, in seeking to test the visibility of the light, climbed that high Wednesday night on his way to Kansas City. He was near Moline, Ill., at the time and the weather was described as fairly clear.

"The angle of attack is too great," Radell reported. "The beam should be canted lower so that it can be of use to pilots flying at the average height—3,000 feet. It turns so slowly that it is lost very easily. Instead of two revolutions per minute, its present speed, it should make four or possibly five. I would predict that, thrown on a lower plane, the beacon would be visible for 200 miles."

Coming in from Cleveland for the N. A. T., Pilot Walter J. Addems caught the beam about fifty miles east of Chicago in faint flashes. Another Cleveland-Chicago flyer, Robert Coulter, reported seeing both the Lindbergh light and the Sun Flash beacon, which shines out from the La Salle-Wacker building, at La Porte, Ind., about sixty-three miles away by air. Coulter was at 3,000 feet and reported the light as being too high.

Others Ask Lower, Faster Beam.

A. C. Lybarger caught the Lindbergh light at La Porte and the Sun Flash at Hammond. Both Lybarger and J. H. Herlihy, who had a similar experience, united in the same criticisms of the light's angle and slowness.

E. Hamilton Lee, crack Boeing pilot, who has flown more than one million miles with the air mail, came from Omaha and Iowa City, but could not distinguish the Lindbergh beacon until he was about twenty miles west of Chicago. Lee believes that the smoke and haze over the west side is responsible, the light being unable to pierce it.

The Lindbergh beacon is not visible beyond Milwaukee, eighty miles north, according to the observations of A. T. Peterson of the Northwest Air lines. On a foggy night recently he caught it about thirty miles from Chicago, but did not see the Sun Flash beacon. Peterson believes the visibility of the big light will be increased if the angle is lowered.

Urges Faster Revolution.

Earl Barnes of the Embry-Riddle lines, which flies the mail into the southeast, saw the Lindbergh beacon on his way from Indianapolis, about forty miles from Chicago. He commented that if the light is speeded up it will be of greater benefit in thick weather, inasmuch as a pilot could spot the beam at shorter intervals. At the present time, he said, a thirty second intermission is too long.

BREAKS RECORD

MARYSE BASTIE.

(Copyright: 1930: By the New York Times.)

PARIS, Sept. 4.—While Coste and Bellonte were approaching a successful conclusion of their historic flight, a French girl, Maryse Bastie, climbed into her own plane at Le Bourget field, and disappeared a moment later in the thick mists. That was exactly 7:31 p. m. Tuesday.

Today at 9:6 a. m. she landed, having established an official world endurance record for women and an unofficial world record for the longest sustained flight by a lone pilot. Her actual time was 37 hours 55 minutes and 43 seconds.

It was Miss Bastie's fifth attempt since June. Curiously enough, the previous world records, which she broke, were held by another French aviatrix, Lena Bernstein, who remained aloft 35 hours 57 minutes and 46 seconds.

TELLS ABOUT HER ALIMONY BATTLE WITH HUSBAND, 77

Let Him Stay in Jail if He Won't Pay, Wife Says.

After nearly four years of court battles before five judges to collect alimony from her 77 year old husband, William Hudson Donald, whom she accused of philandering, Mrs. Catherine Anne Donald, 71 years old, 1160 East 54th place, admitted being a "little tuckered out" yesterday.

Donald was sentenced to six months in jail on Wednesday by Judge Philip Finnegan when he said he could not pay $646 in back alimony to his wife. The white haired, ruddy cheeked man is believed to be the oldest member ever to join the Alimony club. Donald's home is at 6539 University avenue.

Tired of Stories, She Says.

"I'm all tired out from hearing William tell all those tales," confided Donald's estranged wife yesterday. She bobbed her white head determinedly. And when she was asked if she was sorry her husband was in jail she replied.

"If he wants to serve a sentence instead of paying me, let him stay in jail.

"He says he hasn't any money to pay me. I'd like to know what he did with $4,000 in bonds and the $1,400 he had in a downtown bank and the $600 in our joint account he drew out for himself and our two flat property. He told one judge he drew all that out and put it in a tin box in a drawer in the dining room and some one stole it while he was on a fishing trip. Even the judge was skeptical about that.

"And he says I stayed out till 10 o'clock. Well, he made it so unbearable at home the only peace of mind I had was when I went out in the evening to be with friends.

"Then there was that woman he got for a housekeeper within six weeks after I left him, on Feb. 2, 1926. She must be 70 if she's a day. They say she brought a van of fine furniture when she came to be his housekeeper. Housekeepers don't usually bring fine furniture with them.

Says Husband Hid Auto.

"He bought our automobile in my name so that if an accident happened he wouldn't have to pay anything. Later he took it and hid it in a garage just to make me think it was stolen.

"When my insurance matured in 1925 he called me a thief because I went down and put it in my own account. He said it was his money.

"It all started on Dec. 18, 1925. That's my grandniece's birthday and I was going to Crystal Lake to spend it with her. William said he couldn't be left alone at night, so I went early in the morning. He asked for our joint account book before I left and threatened to draw it out and put it in his account. When I came back he had drawn out the money.

"I left after he threatened me. He kicked me out of bed and carried on. I was under a doctor's care two years I was such a nervous wreck. I didn't know about the other woman until I left him."

BACK BROKEN FOR 11 MONTHS, A FOOTBALL PLAYER IS RECOVERING

Peoria, Ill., Sept. 4.—[Special.]—Eleven months ago Chicago medical specialists advised George Hunt's friends to take him home to El Paso, Ill., to die from the result of a broken back suffered in a football game between El Paso and Pontiac High school teams. Hunt, an orphan, was taken to Chicago and other points for special medical observation, but received little or no encouragement.

Today Hunt is a patient at the St. Francis hospital, Peoria, and appears to be on the road to recovery. He gets around in a wheel chair and friends say he'll be walking soon if he continues to improve as he has during the last few months.

BLAST WRECKS GAS SUPPLY OF INDIANA CITIES

Petersburg, Ind., Sept. 4.—[Special.]—The gas generator of the Bement Gas company, which furnishes gas to Petersburg and nearby cities, blew up last night when thieves entered the building and struck a match. The explosion ignited the building and liberated millions of cubic feet of gas.

The Petersburg fire department was powerless to combat the flames and the fire was only extinguished after workmen for the gas company shut off the gas from each well feeding the main to the city.

MOTHER OF EIGHT, A WIDOW, JAILED AS DRY VIOLATOR

Rented Space for Stills; Arrest Baffles Her.

A widowed mother of eight children became aware, apparently for the first time, of prohibition in this country when she was taken to the county jail last evening, having no money to make bond.

The woman, Mrs. Sophie Delki of 10829 Hoxie avenue, was arrested by prohibition agents who found three alcohol stills at her home. There were two 200 gallon stills in a rear shed, one of them in operation, and a smaller plant in the basement of the small frame dwelling. Vats containing 12,000 gallons of mash and twenty-five 5 gallon cans of alcohol were found.

Hearing Set for Today.

The 44 year old widow told United States Commissioner Walker she spoke no English when he asked her to make a plea. No Serbian interpreter was available and a hearing was set for today, the prisoner being held in lieu of $2,000 bond.

"How long have those stills been running?" the woman had been asked by prohibition agents when she was arrested.

"I don't know," she replied then. "Some men come to the house. They pay me $60 a month rent. My husband is dead four years. I got eight children—six boys, two girls."

"Do you know it's against the law to allow stills in your home?"

"I don't understand."

"How much does it cost?" she wanted to know.

Mrs. Delki would have nothing to do with the professional bondsmen in the federal building.

Wants to Go Home.

"I have no money. I want to go home to my children," she said.

Neighbors told the dry agents that the stills had been running at the widow's place for some time and that the smell of corn sugar mash emanating from the shed and basement had been the subject of much back yard gossip.

No men were found on the premises, but the raiders believe the stills had been tended by regular alky cookers who escaped.

SMOKE REDUCED TO LIMIT—REPLY OF I. C. TO CRITIC

Railroad Official Asks Public Patience.

A plea that the public for the time being tolerate "with as much patience as possible" such smoke and noise as is "unavoidably" produced by steam locomotives along the Grant park lake front was made yesterday by George E. Patterson, vice president in charge of operation of the Illinois Central railroad.

"Every thinkable means is being taken to reduce to the lowest minimum the smoke and noise of such steam locomotives as we must still, despite electrification, bring into the Grant park yards," said Mr. Patterson. "We've gone so far even as to assign an official of the road to remain in those yards at night to see that all unnecessary noise and smoke are eliminated."

Answers Vox Pop Author.

Mr. Patterson admitted a number of complaints as to noisy and smoky locomotives have been received from hotel residents along Michigan avenue in the downtown section, and to a lesser extent from hotel and apartment dwellers farther south. His statement was prompted by a letter appearing recently in the Voice of the People column of THE TRIBUNE from a correspondent who signed himself Frank R. Donaline.

"The engines," wrote Mr. Donaline, "put on special performances from midnight until 6 a. m. when they are not making night hideous with backing and switching. From three to nine locomotives park between 7th and 9th streets and let off steam so they will be sure to wake up everybody within half a mile."

Much of the objectionable noise and smoke comes from the steam locomotives of other roads which pull interchange freight cars in and out of the yards, Mr. Patterson insisted. Steam engines must also still be used on through passenger trains, he said.

Heed All Complaints.

"Under conditions existing now, my conviction is that we are operating as smokeless and noiseless a rail yard along the lake front as it is possible to operate," he said. "We are doing our best and heeding every complaint received."

Oil burners now used must be kept in service at Randolph street, he said.

PASTOR, HEAD OF DRY LEAGUE, FED UP ON POLITICS

Assailed for Backing Men He Sold Oil Stock.

Denver, Colo., Sept. 4.—[Special.]—The Rev. A. J. Finch, superintendent of the Anti-Saloon league of Colorado and president of the Fitzsimmons Oil and Leasing company, has had his fill of political campaigns.

At Colorado Springs today, Mr. Finch, whose oil stock sales to candidates recently were made public, said this probably would be the last campaign in which he would take an active part.

The Anti-Saloon league became embroiled in the heated contest of George E. Shaw and Williams V. Hodges, Denver attorneys, for the Republican United States senatorial designation, when Hodges was designated as "satisfactory" and Shaw as "unsatisfactory."

Indorsed by Dry League.

The Rev. Mr. Finch, as president of the Fitzsimmons company, has sold stock to political candidates in this state, including a number who have been indorsed by the Anti-Saloon league. Three weeks after Hodges announced he would seek the Republican nomination to succeed Senator L. C. Phipps, who retires in December, he purchased 300 shares of stock from Mr. Finch, on which the Anti-Saloon league head received a 25 per cent commission.

Since this disclosure continuous newspaper and political assaults have been made upon Mr. Finch. Until today he has refused to talk.

Hodges is supported by Senator Phipps. Shaw has the backing of United States Senator Charles W. Waterman. Thus the primary campaign has become a struggle between Phipps and Waterman. The primary will be held next Tuesday.

Charges Hodges Is Controlled.

Hodges has charged that Shaw, who is general counsel for the Public Service Company of Colorado, is controlled by that organization.

Shaw accuses Hodges of receiving in the last six years as attorney for the Public Service company, "at least $45,000" in fees and retainers. Hodges was a director of the company many years.

Because of excessive campaigning expenditure charges leveled at both men, Senator Gerald P. Nye and his campaign funds investigating committee will come to Denver Sept. 29 to hold public hearings.

2 STUDENTS DEAD, 30 HURT IN RIOT AT BUENOS AIRES

BUENOS AIRES, Sept. 4.—(AP)—Police tonight estimated casualties in rioting between students and police earlier in the evening at two dead and 30 wounded. Minor shooting incidents were reported in various parts of the city.

The newspaper Critica said that while the students and police were fighting, members of the cabinet were closeted with the president, demanding that he give up office.

The casualties on the Plaza de Mayo occurred after 2,000 students had been pushed back three times by mounted police, but had broken through the guard to reach the plaza. Witnesses said that revolver shots came from the adjacent government house.

New York, Sept. 4.—Rumors of football are beginning to arrive in the mails, including the bright annual announcement that the New York university band of 165 more or less musical young men will spend a week at the football training camp on Long Island, learning to horn sweet winds and spell out the names of their opponents of the season in marching maneuvers.

CHICK MEEHAN.

This department of football is not as highly developed along the eastern seaboard as it is in some other sections of the country and the problem of covering band practice comes under the head of new business, the football experts contending that band practice isn't football and the musical experts insisting that, whatever it may be, music is distinctly what it isn't. A compromise opinion holds that band practice is a terrible thing, of which the least said the better, and the officials of New York university probably are to be thanked for sending their band to a section where the nearest neighbors are far away to hold their exercises.

Can't Compare with Others.

At its best, or loudest, New York university's band can hardly be compared to the spectacular Lion Tamers with the epaulets, the flowing capes, and the high knee action who go down the fields blatting alma mater songs at the University of Illinois and certain other schools between the halves of big games.

However, it is undoubtedly the loudest and gaudiest school band in this region and therefore eastern champion. The boys generally point for their contest against Carnegie Tech as the big engagement of the season, but Carnegie Tech uses the Scotch bagpipe, an instrument commonly held to be outlawed by the rules of civilized band competition, and it is almost impossible for an orthodox band to win.

Yale, Harvard and Princeton go in for modesty in band apparel and numbers and, while it is practically impossible for any band to efface itself, still the boys have a tradition that bands should be heard and not seen. They march in demure outfits consisting of white pants, jerseys and small white caps and seem to be of the opinion that shakos and patent leather boots are the trappings of the mentally immature and therefore collegiate and thus unsophisticated and consequently to be avoided. Notwithstanding which reserve, it was Yale that gave Rudy Vallee to the world and vice versa, proving what?

Meehan Has 42 in Squad.

There are 42 athletes of various degrees of certainty or promise consuming official rations and occupying official quarters at the New York U. training camp at Farmingdale, 24 of whom saw action as members of the regular squad last year. As an additional power on his team, if he cares to employ him, Chick Meehan, the coach, has an absent member who is capable of great influence, the late Al Lassman, once captain of New York U., who was permanently crippled playing the game and lost his life a few weeks ago saving three boys from drowning at a camp in Maine.

Lassman's death was first misrepresented as a suicide and the subsequent disclosure that he gave his life to save the three boys established him as a hero of the school who will be remembered long after any mere football performer. Some coaches might deem it permissible to go in for deliberate dramatics between halves, using the spirit of Al Lassman for emotional effect on the athletes, but I don't believe that is Mr. Meehan's style of appeal, and, anyway, Lassman was too close to him for that. But football players are not all blasé, and Al Lassman may deserve an assist in many a posthumous touchdown this year and in seasons to come.

Sasse Uses Warner System.

At the United States Military academy, Maj. Ralph Sasse, the cavalryman who assisted Riff Jones until the big artillery officer quit coaching to get on with his career, has taken command of the football team, intending to imitate the Glenn Warner style of play which became so popular on this coast when Warner's team came on from Stanford two years ago and gave the Army a spectacular lesson in speed and illusion. Harry Wilson, the last great Army back before Red Cagle, has returned as a lieutenant of the air force, to assist in the coaching of the backs.

Cagle has taken up his job as back field coach at Mississippi A. and M. at $5,500 for the season, the best paid novice assistant coach in the game and a very serious and ambitious young civilian now.

The Army seems quite well off in

ACCURACY WILL WIN IN TRIBUNE'S PASSING CONTEST

Distance Is Useless if Aim Is Bad.

Accuracy in throwing a forward pass is more desirable than distance. This is obvious. Perhaps that is the reason school boys disregard it for the more exhilarating effort of throwing the ball as far as the arm will permit.

THE TRIBUNE'S forward passing contest, which will be held in seven sections of Chicago at 9 o'clock Saturday morning, Sept. 20, are proposed with the purpose of encouraging accuracy. Boys 14 years of age and under will throw five times at a target 15 yards distant. The senior group of contestants, boys between 15 and 19 inclusive, also will try five passes from a distance of 20 yards. The target will be a hoop with a diameter of 3 feet.

Not as Easy as It Looks.

The passer and the target will be stationary, making the simplest drill possible. However, if you try it out you'll be surprised to find it's more difficult than you expected.

Of course in a football game the receiver almost always is in motion. The passer runs backward or drifts to the right (if he is a right handed thrower), but when he releases the ball he generally does so from set position. Some few passers, more gifted or as a result of years of practice, can throw accurately while in motion. But it is certain that in their early forward passing drills these stars threw from a stationary stance.

THE TRIBUNE'S passing contests are based on fundamentals. If a player can not throw accurately from a set position, it is not reasonable to expect him to throw accurately to a moving target or while he is in motion himself. There are no other restrictions. Passes may be thrown with any degree of speed.

Seven Sectional Trials.

The sectional contests in forward passing and drop kicking will be held at Bessemer park, Washington park, Douglas park, Mills' stadium, Kelvyn park, De Paul university, and Loyola university. The winners, or those tied for first place, will meet in the finals on Sept. 27 at Mills' stadium.

The drop kicking tests for boys 14 years of age and under are 20 yards from the goal posts. The senior group will be 30 yards distant. Each contestant will have five chances and four seconds in the time limit for each kick.

The winners will be the guests of THE TRIBUNE at either the Notre Dame-Navy game at South Bend, Oct. 11, or the Northwestern-Illinois contest at Champaign Oct. 18.

IT'S IN THE AIR AGAIN

Football's back again and candidates for Chicago high school elevens aren't wasting any time getting down to business. Capt. Stan Frankowski of Schurz flies over Moose Katz, Schurz center. Coach Bob Koehler's team is out to repeat the victory of last year, when they upset Lindblom in the championship game.

Friends to Honor Harmon's Generosity in Benefit Show

BY WILFRID SMITH.

Paddy Harmon, who made his dream of a $7,000,000 sports stadium a reality, died penniless. Many times since his early years on the west side Paddy had heard men speak of his "fortune." But Paddy never was more than moderately "well off."

PATRICIA HARMON.

Harmon reached moderate independence at one time from his dance halls and the six day bicycle races which he first brought to Chicago. But his dream of building the world's largest stadium for Chicago took his last penny and all he could borrow.

Had $300,000 in Common Stock.

When the Stadium was completed Harmon had $300,000 of common stock, his friends say. This stock did not represent an investment of this sum, however, for he received a portion of the stock for his promotional activity.

Later Harmon used the stock as collateral for bank loans. The holdings now are rated at $60,000 under the financial reorganization of the Stadium corporation and are not sufficient to cover his borrowings, it is said. When Harmon died following an automobile accident on the Northwest highway July 23, it was found he had left no estate other than the Stadium stock. And there were other creditors who had loaned him money believing he would win his fight back to independence.

The Stadium Paddy built was erected by his ability to make others believe in his dream. For two years he held options on the land at 1800 West Madison street. These options were exercised with capital of those he interested in the sports building.

Hold Benefit Card Thursday.

Friends of Paddy Harmon will honor his memory at a boxing show Thursday night. His four year old daughter, Patricia Mary, will be the beneficiary of the trust fund thus established. Arrangements were completed yesterday with the First Union Trust and Savings bank. Patricia will receive the income from the fund until the age of 25, when she will be given the fund outright.

Judge Henry Horner of the Probate court and Judge John H. Lyle are named as trustees.

In one sense the Stadium's bouts are not a charity show. Rather they are an opportunity for Harmon's friends to pay their tribute to one whose generosity was famous.

Never Forgot Kids.

Paddy never gave a thought to his financial future. To have done so would have been a contradiction of his manner of living. But he never forgot those children who started life much as he did 53 years ago on Vedder street near the gas house.

The bouts Thursday night promise action. Tony Canzoneri and Billy Petrolle are leading lightweights. King Levinsky, Chicago's light heavyweight of the west side, meets his greatest test in Leo Lomski. Three supporting bouts complete a card of 42 rounds.

Petrolle began training yesterday at the Arcade gymnasium. He boxed impressively in his four rounds. Frankie Frisco, a lightweight, stepped two rounds with the weaving, bobbing Petrolle, and in each round Billy staggered him to the ropes with short rights to the body and head. Jack Kane, a welterweight, gave Petrolle his best workout.

He's Got Title Ideas.

"Billy has been vacationing for five months. Last year he had an idea he wanted to quit boxing principally because he'd saved $70,000, married, and built a home in Duluth. But now he's come back with championship ideas.

"In his last fourteen fights he has won twelve by knockouts."

King Levinsky also drilled at the Arcade yesterday. The youngster from Maxwell street faces the most severe test of his brief career when he meets Leo Lomski. Lomski took his first workout at Barry's and looked as tough as ever. His draw with Maxie Rosenbloom is something for the King to worry about between now and Thursday.

RUSSELL'S GREAT RIDE ON TANTIVY WINS BY A HEAD

Beats Hot Shot, Willa in Last 40 Strides.

BY FRENCH LANE.

Harry Payne Whitney's Tantivy got up in the final strides to win the Roosevelt road purse by a head at Lincoln Fields yesterday. But it was Jockey Kenneth Russell's riding rather than Tantivy's running that turned apparently certain defeat into victory.

If you are not acquainted with this Russell boy's riding here are a few points that will enlighten you:

In 1929 Russell ranked second on the list of America's leading riders. He performed so brilliantly that Owner Whitney authorized the purchase of his contract at a big figure.

During most of the 1930 season the ranking of American jockeys as far as the number of winning mounts was concerned shows Sonny Workman, Whitney's eastern rider, at the top of the list. This western boy, Russell, was second. He gave up second place only a few days ago to H. R. Riley, a sensational boy, who is winning many races in Ohio. But Russell clings to third place by a comfortable margin.

Winner Starts Slowly.

In the Roosevelt road purse Tantivy was clashing with some of the best western sprinters at six furlongs. He drew the outside post position in the field of eight. The going was difficult and horses on the outside had been winning most of the early struggles. Consequently Tantivy picked up tremendous backing near post time, but not enough to make him the favorite. Jesse Spencer's Willa was the choice, having scored a brilliant victory here no later than last Saturday.

The early stages found Willa and Tantivy both back of the leaders. Hot Time and Hot Shot were running their heads off fighting for the lead, but Walla saved ground and was up near the front when the field hit the lower bend and began the run down the stretch.

Tantivy didn't show a sign of wanting to run. He was away back in sixth place and had to lose ground as he rounded the turn. His backers were groaning.

Wins in Last Strides.

But they didn't take into consideration the riding power of Russell. He picked a safe path out near the center of the track coming down the stretch. He encouraged the Whitney racer so much without even going to the whip that he soon had Tantivy running over horses with a furlong to go.

Hot Shot was in front, Hot Time was folding up and dropping back but Willa was hanging on with determination next to the rail. In the last forty strides Russell brought Tantivy to the lead. Hot Shot shut off Willa sharply and got second money. Tantivy ran the six furlongs over the difficult track in 1:14 2-5. In the betting he paid $7.32 to win, $3.64 to place, and $2.60 to show.

Terry First Giant to Lead League Hitters in 15 Years

BY ARCH WARD.

Whether or not the Giants are successful in their fight to wrest the National league championship from the Cubs they are almost certain to grab one of the season's major prizes.

BILL TERRY.

Bill Terry, socking the ball at a .407 clip, looks good for the league batting championship. He must keep busting the fences at a sprightly pace, however, if he wants to finish in front of Chuck Klein of the Phillies and Babe Herman of the Robins. They are sporting an average of .389.

If Terry maintains his leadership to the end of the campaign he will be the first Giant to win the National league batting crown since 1915, when Larry Doyle outslugged his rivals with an average of .320.

Comparison of Doyle's mark with the present record of Terry is striking evidence of the effects of the so-called lively ball. An average of .320 would be good for about 45th place in the 1930 National league batting averages.

None other than Rogers Hornsby put an end to .320 averages for the batting champions of the senior major league circuit. He came along in 1920 with a mark of .370 and led the parade every year thereafter until 1926, when Hargrave of Cincinnati crept in with a percentage of .353. Paul Waner won the 1927 title, but Hornsby regained his place in 1928. O'Doul of the Phillies was the champion last year.

If Klein beats out Terry for the 1930 crown he will be the second Philadelphia player to hold that honor since Sherwood Magee in 1910. Herman has a chance to be the first Brooklyn athlete to top the league since Zach Wheat made good in 1918 with a mark of .335.

A Reader Squawks.

A subscriber protests a recent remark appearing in these columns that Joe McCarthy of the Cubs is earning a place among the great managers of baseball.

"Couldn't almost any manager have done as well as McCarthy did last year?" the reader inquires. "Who makes the team, anyway—the manager or the players? Who could help winning a pennant with Hornsby, Wilson, Stephenson, Cuyler, Grimm, and English? He has had practically the same group this year plus Hartnett and some remarkable reserves. Come, now, did McCarthy win the 1929 championship for the Cubs or did the players win it for McCarthy?"

Signed—North Side Mike.

Dear me! It seems we newspaper fellows are always stepping on the corns of the aristocracy or getting tangled up in altercations with the peasantry. Mr. Burns is out of town and Mr. Vaughan at the moment is not in the office, so we can't say authoritatively whether McCarthy won the 1929 championship for the Cubs or whether the Cubs won it for McCarthy.

We are certain, however, that it has gone into the record books that Joe McCarthy was manager of the team that won the 1929 National league championship for Chicago.

Tulane Grows Up.

There is a feeling down in New Orleans that "Hanley fears Tulane."

It seems there has been a misunderstanding over the rules governing the football game to be played at Evanston Oct. 4 between Northwestern and Tulane. The Northwestern folks thought the game was to be played under Western conference rules, which prohibit teams from starting practice before Sept. 15. Tulane began work Sept. 1, as permitted by Southern conference regulations.

Harry Martinez, sports editor of the New Orleans States, comments on the controversy as follows:

"Is Northwestern getting a bit frightened over Tulane, fearing a repetition of what happened at Stagg field in 1925? If you don't believe that Tulane's every move is being watched by the officials at the Evanston school, you're mistaken.

"Tug Wilson, athletic director of Northwestern, called Dr. Wilbur C. Smith, athletic director of Tulane, over long distance telephone Tuesday night, inquiring about Tulane.

"'We had an agreement that Tulane would not start practice until Sept. 15, the same day we start,' Wilson told Dr. Smith. But the Tulane official did not remember having made such an agreement. It was his understanding that Tulane accepted the game under the rules of the Southern conference and that Northwestern would abide by its rules of the Western conference, the same as when the two teams last met.

"Wilson seemed positive that he had such an agreement, however, and had to be assured that Tulane is only working out in track clothes and would not start scrimmage before Sept. 15. With this assurance Wilson said there would be no hitch in plans for the game.

"When a university like Northwestern becomes so exacting we take it for granted that little old Tulane has 'em sitting up and taking notice. After all, they're still Southern conference champions."

BarneyBalding Hurt; Lost to British Four

New York, Sept. 4.—[Special.]—The ill luck which Great Britain's polo team has encountered since it arrived here to prepare for the international series which starts Saturday continued today, when Barney Balding became the squad's third casualty. Barney, brother of Gerald Balding, who is now riding at No. 1 for the British, was severely injured in a game at the Meadowbrook club and will be unable to take part in the matches against the United States.

Barney Balding, reserve member of the team, played in a pickup contest at Westbury today with Earle W. Hopping, Stephen Sanford, Elbridge T. Gerry, and others. In a particularly hard play, Balding's pony went down, and the British player was thrown heavily on his shoulder, bruised badly, and suffered a severe shaking up.

Balding, who did not come over with the British squad, was pressed into service when it was found that Aidan Roark and Capt. Richard George, candidates for the number one position, would not be able to take part in the contests.

GABBY'S TENTH INNING DRIVE WHIPS PIRATES

Champions Lead by 4½ Games.

The Giants and Cardinals are tied for second place, 4½ games behind the Cubs. The Robins, who occupy fourth place, are six games in arrears.

If the Cubs dally along, winning 11 and losing 10, the Giants or Cardinals could take the National league pennant by winning 17 and losing 5. The standing then would be:

	W.	L.	Pct.
Giants	91	63	.591
Cardinals	91	63	.591
Cubs	90	64	.584

BY EDWARD BURNS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Pittsburgh, Pa., Sept. 4.—Gabby Hartnett, with two homers good for six runs, this afternoon was the main celebrant of Old Settlers' day, a ceremony that saw, among other things, the return of Rogers Hornsby to second base after an absence of more than three months. Old Settlers' day was a glowing success, for the Cubs beat the Pirates in ten innings, 10 to 7, and increased their lead over the New York Giants, who dropped to a tie with the Cardinals for second place. B th are 4½ games behind the Cubs.

GABBY HARTNETT.

Gabby's first homer, which was his thirtieth of the year, came with two on and one out in the sixth while the Cubs were trailing 6 to 2. His thirty-first also was with two on and one out and came in the tenth with the score tied at 7 to 7. Charley Wood, the boy wonder, was the victim of No. 30, which went into the right field stand, and Steve Swetonic pitched No. 31, which was over the left field wall.

Soothes Nerves of Panicky.

Kiki Cuyler also made a homer, his 15th of the year, which tied the score at 6 to 6 in the eighth. While Kl's hitting has been constant, it was the first maximum swat he had accomplished since June.

Manager McCarthy decided on the Old Settlers' day to soothe the raw nerves of the panicky lineup that had represented Mr. Wrigley in losing four out of five prior to today's battle.

The idea of getting some more grizzled money players into the cast started with the return of Hornsby and Stephenson. As the notion grew, however, the old grayheaded Jess Petty got in for some swell relief pitching and received credit for the victory, and old Capt. Charley Grimm returned in a pinch batting rôle. Added to these things was the fact that old George Kelly singled and scored in the sixth, eighth and tenth innings.

L. Waner Saves Pirates.

The "youth will be served" slogan had its moments, however, for the youthful Waner brothers knocked a double and a triple with two out in the ninth to tie the score, and Lloyd, the younger of the pair, made two marvelous one handed catches to rob Stephenson and Hartnett of triples in the eighth. The two callow Chicagoans who got into the contest, English and Dan Taylor, each made a single and a run.

Today's triumph gave the Cubs the edge in the season series with the Pirates, 10 games to 9, with three to go; two of them here tomorrow and Saturday, and the third at Wrigley field Sunday. The Cubs now have 21 games to play, 16 away from home and five at Wrigley field. Malone, who pitched the tenth today, will come back tomorrow. Brame will start for the Pirates.

Bush Soon Goes on His Way.

Guy Bush again attempted to show some class at the start of today's game, but soon showed he had not returned to form. He was opposed by Charley Wood, a left handed rookie who went into the game with a record of having pitched 21 scoreless innings.

After Wood had made it 22 scoreless innings in the Cubs' first inning, Grantham bounced a single off Bush's glove after two were out and scored on Traynor's double. The inning ended when Hornsby showed great agility and threw out Comorosky.

Wood increased his runless chain in the Cubs' second to 23 innings, although Cuyler led off with a double.

The Cubs tied the score at 1 to 1 in the third inning after two were out and had the bases full when the session ended. English singled with two down. Then Hornsby walked for the second time. Wilson singled to right, scoring English and putting Hornsby on third. Cuyler walked, filling the bases, but Stephenson filed to L. Waner.

Tie Is Broken Immediately.

The score didn't stay tied long, for in their end of the third the Pirates made two runs. Wood singled and, after L. Waner had popped to Kelly, scored on P. Waner's double to right, Paul taking third on the throw in,

OLYMPIA FIELDS WOMEN GOLFERS WIN TEAM MEET

Beebe Sisters Star in 20 Point Victory.

Olympia Fields won the women's team championship for the fifth time in matches played yesterday at the Evanston Golf club between representatives of the north, west and south sections of the Chicago district.

The squad from the south had 26 points; La Grange, from the west had 14½, and Sunset Ridge, representing the north, totaled 11.

Two Tie in Second Class.

In the second team matches, Indian Hill and Lincolnshire tied for first place, each with 18½ points, while Oak Park was able to score only 8.

The victory of the Olympia Fields team was brought about largely through the efforts of June and Florence Beebe, the former making 6 points and the latter, 5½. June's 41—44—85 was the low for the day.

The Nassau system of scoring was used, whereby each individual is pitted against one on each of the opposing teams. A player gets a point for winning each nine holes and a point for winning the match, making it possible to score three points against each opponent.

June Beebe Scores 6 Points.

In making her six points, June Beebe beat Virginia Ingram of Sunset Ridge and Mrs. H. E. Spear of La Grange on nine hole scores and on the match. Her sister, Florence, took 3 points from Mrs. A. T. Goodyear of Sunset Ridge and 2½ from Mary Joslyn of La Grange. Individual scores follow:

Baba Kenny Easy Victor in Matron Stakes

New York, Sept. 4.—[Special.]—Col E. R. Bradley scored a cherished victory today at Belmont Park when his filly Baba Kenny captured the twenty-fourth running of the Matron stakes and earned $24,650 for her owner.

The Matron is a six furlong race for two year old fillies. By her race today when she beat Joseph E. Widener's Buckup by four lengths, the daughter of Black Servant gained a lot of backers for the futurity which will be a week from Saturday.

Opposed by eleven others and held as the favorite at odds of 7 to 10 after opening at even money, Baba Kenny was easily the best of the field. She was given a good ride by J. Smith who broke her on top and kept her there throughout the going. Buckup was in close quarters in the early going but got through to make something of a battle of it with Baba Kenny.

The Rancocas stable's Ladana followed a length back of Baba Kenny for a furlong and then was overhauled by Backup but hung on to finish third. Baba Kenny ran the six furlongs in 1:12.

This was the sixth start for Baba Kenny. Her total earnings for the year now are $28,350.

CHICAGOAN WINS AMERICAN LEGION PISTOL MATCH

Camp Perry, O., Sept. 4.—(AP)—J. J. Marek, a Chicago policeman and lieutenant colonel in the infantry reserve, won the American Legion pistol match here today with a 260 score out of a possible 300.

R. C. Brown, Columbus, O., was second with 257. A. V. Sackett, New York City policeman, scored 255 for third. C. F. Shayior, Portland, Ore., took fourth with 253, and fifth place went to J. L. Wendel, New York City policeman, who scored 252.

This Band Must Have Run Out of Funeral Marches

Music hath charms, but much depends on the tune.

Last spring when the major league shows were about to open, President Fuchs of the Braves figured a brass band at every game would cheer up the athletes as well as the customers. Accordingly the band was hired and it tooted vigorously at every game. This added attraction prevailed until recently. Then the music suddenly ceased, and sleuths set out in pursuit of the cause. Here it is:

One afternoon a double header was staged at Braves' field. In the first game the Braves were almost annihilated by the opposition. As soon as the game was over the band broke loose with "Happy Days Are Here Again."

President Fuchs promptly fired the musicians on a charge of bad judgment. The leader offered to explain. He said he meant to play, "Cheer Up, Good Times Are Coming," and Fuchs replied, "Not for the band."

Wires Deluge Cubs' Leader After Victory

Pittsburgh, Pa., Sept. 4.—[Special.]—Although the "wolves" of Wrigley field have been howling during the last few days while the Cubs were losing four out of five games, Manager Joe McCarthy discovered today that his team is not without supporters.

Before today's game telegrams began to arrive from Chicago exhorting Joe and his Cubs to "carry on" and "keep up the old fight," expressing other appropriate sentiments calculated to inspire the Bruins to greater heights. Encouraged by the show of spirit on the part of the fans back home, the Cubs stepped out and beat the Pirates in 10 innings, 10 to 7, just to show their appreciation of Chicago's confidence.

But they had no idea that the victory was to bring down the deluge of praise which followed the game. When they returned to their hotel this evening the desk clerk handed McCarthy another sheaf of telegrams and before he could open them all messenger boys besieged him with more. He spent most of his dinner hour eating with one hand and signing for telegrams with the other, and at bedtime he had a pile of 500 or more in his room, with the telegraph wires still burning with additional praise from the fans back home.

After today's victory there was only one cloud over the Cubs' hope. Sheriff Blake is still bothered by a stomach muscle which he strained in the Cubs' 20 inning game with the Cards on Aug. 28. McCarthy considered sending him home, but the Sheriff begged to be permitted to remain with the team until it returns to Chicago Sunday, when he will be examined by Dr. John Davis, the Cubs' physician. If he is not improved by then he probably will not go east with the team on Sunday night.

Give Hack Wilson a Big Hand, Writes Cub Fan—Work of Pitchers Praised

Where would the Cubs be without the steady pitching of Root, Malone, et al., and the ability of Hack Wilson to drive in runs? These are points brought out in letters from Cub fans who were invited to tell what makes the north siders a championship baseball club.

Here are two letters in which credit is given to robust Hack and McCarthy's pitchers, notably Charlie Root:

GIVES WILSON A HAND.

I am only a kid, as veteran "grand stand managers" would say, but I can explain myself, and how! The most important member, and also the most valuable, on the Cubs' baseball team is Hck Wilson. Here are the reasons:

1. He holds the National league record for home runs; he is holder of the National league record of 159 runs driven in during a season—he has driven in 153 runners so far this season and undoubtedly will create a new record.

2. Hack is the most colorful player in the National league. When he isn't hitting home runs and strikes out, lots of folks think he is a lemon, but don't forget that in a pinch Hack is one tough hombre to pitch to.

And I don't mind telling you that the secret of successful batting is not centered entirely on compiling a high .300 average. On the contrary, the man driving in the runs in the pinches is feared more.

So, in conclusion, fans; when you go to see the Cubs play ball again, and the little strong boy is having an off day, give him a big hand.

RAY E. PETERSON,
1314 Roscoe street, Chicago.

PITCHING STAFF PRAISED.

How about the Cubs' pitchers? The team has a punch, the best manager in the game, a flock of good reserves, and the best pitching staff in the league.

There is truth in the gossip of the pitchers' unsteadiness, but every team has its shaky hurlers. A short time ago McGraw whined that he would lose the pennant because his pitchers weren't right. And yet you would not say that Walker and Hubbell were poor pitchers.

Charlie Root is the league's best, with Malone and Blake not far behind. If you look over Root's record you will find three hit, two hit, and a few one hit games, and many shutouts. Besides, didn't Root decisively destroy the Cincinnati jinx?

Malone is potentially the best pitcher in the league, but is too erratic. And Blake's luck, or lack of it, will go down in history. Bush is having only a fair year, but still is a world beater. Teachout and Osborn are real finds, too.

Just wait till the world series!

CUBS WIN FROM PIRATES IN 10TH; GAIN ON GIANTS

whence he scored on Grantham's sacrifice fly to Stevle. Traynor fouled to Kelly.

In the fourth the score became 5 to 1 in favor of the Pirates, two runs coming across on three singles, errors by Cuyler and Wilson, and an intentional pass. Both Cuyler and Wilson drew errors when they fumbled grounders to the outfield.

The Pirates made it 6 to 1 in the fifth and chased Bush. They made a run on a double by Traynor and a triple by Bartell. Petty went in against his former mates and put out the fire.

The Cubs made four runs in the sixth. Wilson opened with a triple and scored on Cuyler's single. Ki was forced by Stevie, but Kelly got the first of three successive singles, putting Stevie on third. Hartnett then socked No. 30, Stevie and Kelly scoring ahead of him.

In the sixth, seventh, and eighth innings only nine men faced Petty, a double play started by Hornsby blotting out the only Pirate hit during that span.

Pirates Tie the Score.

Cuyler tied the score with his homer to start the eighth. Stevie then was robbed by the first of the aforementioned miracle catches by L. Waner. Kelly singled to left, then Hartnett was the object of L. Waner's second depredation. Petty, however, amazed the Pittsburgh spectators with a double to left center, which scored Kelly from first with what at the time was suspected of being the winning run. Bell flied to Waner. The score was: Cubs 7, Pirates 6.

French disposed of the Cubs in order in the ninth. Petty struck out Hemsley to start the Pirate ninth. Then he struck out Pinch Batter Bool. But L. Waner wasn't willing to conclude the contest. He doubled past Wilson. He scored when Brother Paul tripled past Wilson. And there was the winning run on third with George Grantham at bat. Good old George couldn't get into the spirit of old settlers' day. He flied to Wilson for the third out.

Cuyler popped in front of the plate for the first Cub out in the tenth, but D. Taylor, who had relieved Stevie in the last half of the ninth, singled over second and stopped at second on Kelly's single to center. Hartnett then took a great swing at one of Swetonic's fast ones and the ball sailed high over the far distant left field wall, scoring Taylor and Kelly ahead of him. Bartell threw out Grimm and Bell.

Malone went in to pitch the tenth, and Traynor and Comorosky nicked him for singles. Bartell relieved the pressure by hitting into a double play, English to Hornsby to Kelly, and the game ended when Kelly knocked down Suhr's grounder along the foul line and recovered to throw to Malone on first.

TORTURED STEEL... can't shave you gently.

YOU can't torture or distort a Probak blade, no matter how tight you clamp it in your double-edge razor. Most of the bending shock and strain escapes through the butterfly channeling—Probak's scientifically shaped blade perforations. Duo-tempered steel absorbs what little shock and strain are left—before they reach the finely-honed shaving edges. Your Probak blade is as keen in the razor as it was in the package.

Your face will tell you there's something new and different in shaving with a shock-absorbing Probak blade. Buy a package now. Use two blades in your double-edge razor (old or new model). See how Probak wipes off wiry hairs without pull, drag or burn—leaving the skin smooth, cool, refreshed. If you don't find Probaks far the best double-edge blades you ever used—return the package and your dealer will refund every cent—$1 for 10, 50c for 5.

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.

In the course of the afternoon's business conducted at Comiskey park yesterday the White Sox were presented with another defeat. The presentation was made by the Cleveland Indians, 3 to 2, the difference in the final score being the result of a homer rolled into the left field section by Ish Sosds while Pat Caraway was pitching in the fourth.

Another item that contributed to the rolling down of the Hose was their own feebleness in attack. Willis Hudlin appeared to dispense things far too puzzling for the Chicagoans to solve, and after they had operated against him for nine innings they could show only three hits for their efforts. Two of these occurred in the second inning and blossomed into the only runs scored by the losers. The other hit was a single by Cissell in the eighth, and it might have become the tying run if a scorching liner by Jolley hadn't traveled straight into Averill's hands in center field.

Indians Score Early.

The Indians started in a fashion suitable to their purpose by driving home one run in the first inning. Caraway, who last week blanked the Tribe on three hits in thirteen innings, walked Porter. An infield out moved the runner to second. Morgan then singled to left and Porter scored. The first of the two hits by which the Sox picked up their only runs was Jolley's two-bagger to right center which started the second. Watwood batted to Hudlin, who threw to third, but Jolley beat the play. He scored while Barnes was forcing Watwood at second. Barnes in turn was forced by Mulleavy, who made partial amends by stealing second. Crouse then sent Mulleavy home by tripling over the center fielder's head. This gave the Sox a 2 to 1 advantage, but their pleasure was short-lived.

Two healthy hits off Caraway in the third blazed the trail for Cleveland's tying run. With two out of the way Porter slashed a hard grounder to Kerr's right and it rebounded off the tiny fellow's glove for a double. Averill scored him immediately with a triple down the right field line. Then in the next inning Goslin produced the homer that carried with it the day's decision.

Not Enough Hits.

After their two run ripple in the second the Sox had a few other chances because of errors and passes, but the hits always were lacking. Starting the fifth Hudlin walked Crouse. The next three batters did nothing. Mulleavy drew passage with one out in the seventh, but Crouse grounded out and Fothergill, summoned to bat for Moore, did the same. After Cissell's hit had failed to do any good in the eighth, Morgan tempted the Sox by dropping a throw to Barnes to open the ninth. He turned right around and made a great stop on a drive by Clancy, who batted for Mulleavy. Crouse went out the same way. As a final hope Lyons was permitted to bat for Thomas. He too aimed one at Morgan for the final out.

Faber will test his skill against the Indians today. Brown will pitch for Cleveland.

Cool Cooper, Wary Walsh Eye Pro Title

BY HOWARD BARRY.

Harry Cooper and Frank Walsh are two of the golfers upon whom many are depending to keep the Chicago district in the running for the national professional championship.

Each goes into the tournament with an outstanding performance to his credit, for Cooper beat a great field of professionals in the recent St. Paul open and Walsh led the Chicago district qualifiers in the preliminary round at the Westmoor Country club.

Cooper's Dad Taught Him.

Each has built up his game on a firm foundation and today is playing better than ever before. Harry Cooper learned golf from his father, Syd Cooper, who was one of the old time professionals who came over from England at the turn of the century, when the game was just getting a start in this country. Harry is now professional at the Glen Oak Country club.

Walsh wasn't lucky enough to receive such expert supervision right from the start, but what he had he made the most of. He began as a caddie at Olympia Fields and worked himself up notch by notch until now he has the reputation of being a free hitting stylist whose game is as sound as that of any golfer competing for the championship. His present club is Bryn Mawr.

One of the traits which stands Cooper in good stead is his assurance. He is able to face critical situations with nonchalance and can play with coolness under pressure. They tell a story about how he stood on the home green at Oakmont in 1927 and watched Tommy Armour squat down to sight a ten foot putt. Armour needed that putt to tie Cooper for the national open championship.

Wanted to Get in Playoff.

Harry lighted a cigarette. "I hope he makes it," he said. "I haven't shot this course to suit myself and would like to get in a playoff."

Armour holed out—and the next day he beat Cooper for the championship.

Harry did the best work of all the Chicago players in this year's national open and was one of the few who were threatening Jones right up to the final round.

Frank Walsh is an easy going fellow and they say he doesn't seem to be able to get mad enough to go out and break the spirit of an opponent. But he may work up that Irish temper during next week's big battle at Fresh Meadow, and then anything can happen.

Hudkins Broke Vow to Wed and Nose, Girl Charges

Los Angeles, Cal., Sept. 4.—[Special.]—Not only did Ace Hudkins, middleweight pugilist, break his promise to wed but he broke her nose as well, Miss Rhea W. Hill declares in two suits asking $160,000 damages, filed in Superior court today. The girl says she and Hudkins became engaged in September, 1927, and planned to marry within one year. Instead, her legal papers declare, Hudkins seduced her, "depriving her of a happy home and future chances to marry."

For the breach of promise Miss Hill asks $100,000 in her first action. In the second suit she names last Saturday, Aug. 30, 1930, as the date on which the boxer beat her "with blows about the head and body and tore her clothes in front of friends."

Football Must Be Back; Hear That Music?

football man power, despite the disappearance of Cagle and his close friends, Johnny Murrell, the full back, and Buster Perry, the tackle, both of whom also played four years. The two regular ends who played through the Notre Dame game last fall, Carlmark and Messinger, are still on hand. Pelly Humber, the captain, was a regular tackle last year, and Miller and Hillsinger will be side by side at center and guard again.

Two good quarter backs with varsity experience, Bowman and Carver, remain to work with the 1929 plebe back field, now eligible for the varsity. This plebe back field, including Fields, Letbelter, Herb, Elliott, Kilday, and Sebastian, was famous in a small way last fall and the young men will carry the burden of great expectation in their first year as freemen at the Point.

Back Field Appears Better.

Aside from Cagle's loose and lonesome excursions, few of which achieved any appreciable progress, the Army's back field played an unhappy season last year. The new talent, coached in some new figures and playing behind a substantial line, should be able to do at least as well if not some better.

Anyway, football is rife and become rifer and if the golfers, the sailors and the ball players want much attention they may be advised to get going and do their routines before the autumn Saturdays begin to show big on the calendar.

Thompson Risks Title Tonight in Freeman Fight

Cleveland, O., Sept. 4.—(AP)—Young Jack Thompson, world's welterweight champion, will defend his title for the first time since he won it four months ago, when he meets Tommy Freeman, Cleveland challenger, in a 15 round contest to a referee's decision here tomorrow night.

The bout will be fought in the Cleveland American league ball park, with the prospects that the gate receipts will exceed $50,000. In event of a postponement, the match will be set back until Monday night. Indications were, however, it would be held as scheduled, as fair and cooler weather has been promised.

Freeman, who defeated Thompson seven months ago, before the California Negro won the championship, will meet the title holder at the welterweight limit of 147 pounds. When he engaged Thompson in his first contest Freeman did not have to make weight and he came in at 152 pounds. This enabled him to retain his full fighting strength and gave him an edge of six pounds over Thompson.

Thompson has had no trouble making weight. He scaled 144¾ yesterday and was so well satisfied with his condition he did no gymnasium work today, spending the entire time resting. Freeman, however, went through a light loosening up workout.

The commissioners met with Chairman Barry this afternoon and went over the referee situation, but declined to reveal their selection until tomorrow.

BECKER SPIES ON DUCKS IN UPPER ILLINOIS RIVER

Finds Yellowlegs, Snipe Sharing Place.

BY BOB BECKER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Upper Illinois River, Ill., Sept. 4.—The lesser yellowlegs, protected by federal regulations this year, and the jacksnipe, on the open list, have to play a fifty-fifty game down here on the pond where we expect to get a little duck shooting later in the fall.

With practically all of the low marshy swales and sloughs around here dried up this fall, both the jacks and the slim graceful yellowlegs are forced to occupy the limited stretches of mud flats around the edge of the pond.

We have just spied on these shore birds with a pair of binoculars to see if they were quarreling over their partnership. But, as far as we could determine all is well, although the population is rather dense.

Tall Weeds Interfere.

With Jack, our springer spaniel, at heel, we got all hot and bothered trying to force our way through the tall weeds and grass around the edge of the pond to a position from which we watched the shore birds. Between thirty and forty mallards, teal and pintails beat it when we crashed the weed line toward the upper end of the pond where just a couple of inches of dirty water covers a mud bar.

When the ducks rose, a flock of six jacksnipe and more than twenty yellowlegs also took to the air. There was a picture to stir the marsh hunter's blood. While the yellowlegs were whistling from the air we hustled into some weeds close to their feeding grounds. Soon the shore birds came back, flying so low over our hideout that Jack looked up, ears cocked, and whined as if wondering why there wasn't some shooting by the boss and some retrieving for him.

Yellowlegs, Jacksnipe Return.

Both jacksnips and yellowlegs came back to the mud bar and there we watched them for some time, preening their feathers in the warm autumn sun. Farther down the pond we could see [quite plainly through the glasses] a tall blue heron fishing in the shallow water, and way down the pond a flock of blue-winged teal banked and turned, their wings flashing in the sun, as they swung to a feeding ground. In less than five minutes they started our way and we had the fun of watching them plop right down in the pickerel weeds not more than forty feet from our observation post.

Top yesterday, $8.85; average, $8.00.

Estimated receipts at Chicago today, 2,000 cattle, 16,000 hogs, and 21,000 sheep.

Medium and weighty hogs came to the front on yesterday's trade, selling upwards to the peak prices for the first time of the season. The extreme top at $11.15 was paid for 238 lb butchers, while 260 lb averages reached the $11.00 line. Gains of 10c were general in the market for medium and weighty stock, while light changed hands at steady prices.

The general average moved up 20c at $10.10 because of the fewer packing sows included in the supply. Outside demand was narrow, but small local packers filled the largest orders in some time and most of the 7,000 left at the close were being held off the market.

Winter Hogs in Demand.

Contracts for hogs to be delivered in December and January were in good demand on the futures market. Prices were generally unchanged, while September prices slipped down 5@10c more. Light weights for this month closed at $10.40. December light sold at $9.00. Mediums for December opened at $9.00 and closed at $9.05, while January mediums brought $9.40. Feeding lambs for this month's deliveries were bid steady at $6.50@7.00, but no offers were made.

The cattle market was a two-way affair yesterday, prime steers and yearlings holding the recent advance and in some instances selling to even better advantage, while common to medium grades ruled weak to unevenly lower. The price range covers nearly $6.00, steers of beef merit selling from $6.75 to $12.60.

About 60 steers averaging 1,185@1,486 lbs reached $12.60, while more than 300 head averaging 872@1,512 lbs reached $12.50. These kinds are 25@50c above a week ago, while medium grades show losses of 50@75c for the week. Butcher stock ruled weak to lower, grassy cows and heifers showing losses of $1.00@1.50 since the high point of last week. Calves were firm yesterday. Stockers and feeders were weak.

Lamb Prices React.

After establishing a new low price level for the last nine years, with the top only 60c above the lowest spot since 1915, lamb prices reacted yesterday and part of the loss was recovered on fairly active closing rounds.

Sorted ewe and wether native lambs sold at $8.50@8.85, the buck lambs going at $7.25@7.75, while top western rangers to shippers stopped at $8.75. Aged sheep and yearlings were scarce and unchanged. Demand for $7.25@7.50 feeding lambs was only fair and many of the common to medium grades are selling at $6.50@7.00.

Receipts at Chicago for today are estimated at 2,000 cattle, 16,000 hogs, and 21,000 sheep, against 3,005 cattle, 14,655 hogs, and 7,688 sheep the previous Friday and 1,459 cattle, 21,095 hogs, and 9,637 sheep a year ago.

CROP NEWS HELPS COTTON

A combination of less favorable crop reports, especially that by E. H. Miller, the J. E. Bennett & Co. specialist, estimating the yield at 13,420,000 bales, with stronger cables from Liverpool, and a rather bullish construction put on the government's weekly weather and crop report, brought in fair general buying and short covering yesterday. The rallies were not fully supported and the close was only 1 to 10 points higher in the various markets, most of the gains being 2 to 6 points. Hedging pressure appeared later in the day and the south sent considerable selling orders.

Spot cotton was 5 points higher at 11.45c in New York, 10.95c in New Orleans, 11.10c in Galveston, and 11.05c in Houston. Liverpool was unchanged to 1 point higher, with spot sales 5,000 bales. Prices follow:

NEW YORK BANK CUTS DIVIDEND RATE $2 A SHARE

Ascribes Action to Low Interest Charges.

New York, Sept. 4.—(AP)—Wall street has become accustomed to dividend reductions or omissions this year, but pricked up its ears today on the announcement of reduction of the annual rate paid by the Manufacturers Trust company of New York from $6 to $4 a share.

This was the first divident reduction to appear among the more important bank stocks, and was explained by Nathan S. Jones, chairman of the board, as due to the low interest rates prevailing. Fears that the sharp reduction in interest rates this year might affect bank dividends was a factor in the sharp break in bank stocks in June, carrying them below the levels of last November.

The June 30 bank statements, however, did not indicate any great curtailment in earnings, and few dividend cuts are regarded in the financial district as likely. Increased deposits have in a measure compensated for the lower interest rates. Furthermore, banks have reduced interest paid on deposits.

Has $500,000,000 Resources.

The Manufacturers Trust company, while not ranking with the largest of the Wall street banks, has total resources of more than $500,000,000, and in that respect is among the first half dozen. It has nearly 50 branches in the Greater New York area. The Goldman Sachs Trading corporation is one of its largest stockholders.

Directors of National Department Stores reduced the annual dividend rate on the common stock to $1.00 from $2.00 by declaring a quarterly disbursement of 25 cents.

Directors of the Paramount Cab Manufacturing company omitted the quarterly dividend of 2 per cent in stock due at this time. A statement by the company said that operations for the fiscal year ended Sept. 30 next probably will show a deficit.

Other Dividend Cuts.

The Reliance Manufacturing Company of Illinois omitted the regular quarterly dividend of 37½ cents due on the common stock at this time.

Directors of the Monroe Chemical company have omitted the quarterly common dividend of 37½ cents due now.

The Peck & Hill Furniture company passed the common and convertible preferred dividends due at this time and the Utica Knitting company passed its preferred dividends. Dividends also were omitted by the Colonial Chair company, the Murray company, Industrial Credit Service, Inc., and Canadian Cottons, Ltd.

The New England Power association declared an initial quarterly dividend of 50 cents a share on its new $2.00 dividend preferred stock. The Chicago Dock and Canal company declared an extra dividend of $1.25 a share on its common stock.

General Electric.

Please send me the following information on General Electric company common stock:

1. Average earnings per share on the stock for the last five years.

2. The monthly high and low prices of this stock on the New York Stock exchange for the first seven months of 1930.

3. In your opinion is this stock one which will reflect in its price the general trend of the market as well as developments in its own fields?

—S. H. R.

1. General Electric company reported earnings of $8.97 per share in 1929, against $7.15 in 1928, $6.41 in 1927, and $6.15 in 1926, based on 7,211,482 common shares outstanding in each of the four years. In 1925 earnings were $20.47 per share on 1,802,870 of the old $100 par common shares. If the company's proportion of undistributed earnings available for dividends of associated companies had been included as income, per share earnings on General Electric company common would have been $1.74 greater in 1929, $1.60 in 1928, and 60 cents in 1927.

2. January, 60⅛@73¾; February, 70¾@78¾; March, 74⅞@86⅛; April, 83¼@95⅝; May, 73@88; June, 62⅝@84¾; July, 64½@74¼.

3. Yes. The stock of any industrial corporation as large as General Electric is bound to be affected to some extent by the same factors that affect other companies. Therefore, the market price of the stock cannot be immune to conditions that govern the general trend of the market.

Southwestern Stores.

Will you please furnish me with an analysis of the Southwestern Stores stock, headquarters at Tulsa, Okla.? I would like to know the history of this company if available.—P. G.

Southwestern Stores corporation, the present company, was formed in April, 1930, as a reorganization of Southwestern Stores, Inc. The old company had been incorporated in 1928 to acquire the assets of Gens Cash Stores of Tulsa, Okla., and other grocery chain stores in Oklahoma.

Southwestern Stores, Inc., had gone into receivership in October, 1929, and its stock had been suspended from trading on the New York curb. In May, 1930, stockholders of the predecessor company were informed that a reorganization plan had been approved by the creditors, the company's directors, and the court.

Under this plan the new Southwestern Stores corporation was formed and the stockholders of the old company were offered rights to subscribe for stock in the new venture.

Southwestern Stores corporation, as of May 19, 1930, reported total assets of $488,486. Giving effect to the sale of unimproved real estate current assets were $142,677, and current liabilities were $25,000. No recent earnings statements have been published.

Southwestern Stores corporation stock is purely speculative.

PLAN 12 STORY APARTMENTS ON KENMORE AVENUE

Will Have 4, 5, and 6 Room Suites.

BY AL CHASE.

Chicago's building situation, so far as apartment projects are concerned, show definite signs of improvement. Yesterday a $375,000 flat building for Woodlawn was reported as financed and ready to go ahead at once. Today a twelve story deluxe apartment building is announced for 5237-43 Kenmore avenue, work on which will start shortly.

John Stellwagen, builder, has purchased a 100x150 site on Kenmore from Leonard P. Burkland and Godfrey E. Larson for an undisclosed consideration, subject to $27,500. The property is now improved with a six apartment building which is to be wrecked to make way for the taller structure. The site is in the block between Foster and Berwyn avenues, a block west of the Saddle and Cycle club.

Plan Good Sized Suites.

A new building will contain four, five and six room apartments. No architect has yet been engaged, according to Hayden Worthington, of Worthington & Worthington, the only broker in the purchase negotiations. This is the third recent purchase of property by Mr. Stellwagen, all made through the same brokers.

The National Tea company has leased a store, 28x80, at 3250 Lincoln avenue from Milton H. Callner for ten years. The store, which has just been opened, is one of the finest in the lessee's chain, it is claimed.

Hayes Sells Flats.

Charles M. Hayes, president of the Chicago Motor club, and his wife, Ella M. Hayes, have sold the southwest corner of Davis and Oak streets in Evanston, to Russell T. Gray and his wife for a price reported to have been approximately $425,000, subject to $335,000. The property is 200x150 and is improved with a three story building, erected three years ago, containing fifty-four apartments of two and four rooms and ten stores.

Two residences at the northeast corner of Grove and Oak streets, Evanston, lot 70x175, were given in exchange at a reported $90,000. One contains twelve rooms and the other fourteen. Elmer E. Stults of the E. E. Stults Realty company and Pierre G. Beach of Quinlan & Tyson were brokers. Joseph H. Braun, counsel for the Chicago Motor club, was attorney for Mr. Hayes.

PREMIUM ON CASH LARD

That there is the most healthy situation in the lard market is seen by a premium of 10c paid for the cash article, as compared with September. Packers are buying the September as speculative holders sell. Speculators were fair buyers of December and January lard and the market closed 7⅛@17½c higher on futures.

Hogs were generaly higher, with receipts less than a week and a year ago. Prices follow:

NICHOLS COPPER CONTROL TO PASS TO PHELPS DODGE

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Sept. 4.—The Nichols Copper company, one of the three independent custom smelting and refining companies in this country, is to pass to the control of the Phelps Dodge corporation, it was announced today. The two concerns have been closely associated for years.

Directors of Phelps Dodge voted today to offer to acquire the Nichols company on a share for share exchange basis. Inasmuch as Nichols stock is largely held by members of the Nichols family and Phelps Dodge already owns 80,000 of the 202,800 shares outstanding, consummation of the arrangements has been assured.

With Phelps Dodge stock at about $30 a share, the offer would indicate a market value for the Nichols properties of about $9,000,000.

A special meeting of Phelps Dodge stockholders has been called for Sept. 22 to authorize an increase in capitalization from 2,000,000 to 3,000,000 shares of $25 par value. Of the 1,000,000 additional shares, 222,000 shares will be issuable to acquire all of the Nichols Copper company stock not now owned. The remaining shares will not be issued now, but are being authorized so as to be available at the discretion of the directors.

MUSIC SOOTHES, SATISFIES AND SAVES NERVES

Tra La, and Toot, Toot All You Want; Its Good for You

When you hear the boys next door, at 1 A. M. render "Sweet Ad-o-line" accompanied by a wheezy mouth organ, just remember it is only a healthy, fortunate sign that their bosses next day will get a full quota of work done, for they are merely soothing overwrought nerves!

Music Soothes

Yes, it's true, without joking too, that more folks ought to develop their latent ability in music. For years, doctors have recommended a hobby of some sort to relieve tired nerves and sour dispositions. No hobby is quite as satisfying as the hobby of music. Think you can't do it? Just try. You need not be born a genius to play the piano or violin well enough to satisfy home critics. You needn't have a barrel chest and an iron larynx to croon happy melodies to sweethearts. If you have talent partly developed, keep up the good work. Your voice can make money for you. Choruses, choirs, and soloists are always in demand.

Some Choose Instruments

Any one who has any ear for music can learn to play a musical instrument of some kind. Violins and pianos are always popular, and the man or woman who can play them, even passably well, is generally popular too. Maybe you'd rather beat a drum, toot a cornet or slide along with a trombone. If you do like these instruments, or even the much maligned but beautifully toned saxophone, go to it, learn to play it as soon as possible. Really, there is a lot of satisfaction in being able to take your place in your Legion drum corps, the lodge band or the church orchestra.

Look for Musical Want Ads

Yes, musical want ads! The Tribune Want Ad Section is just full of them. Offers of teachers, both vocal and instrumental; sales of musical instruments; and offers to join choruses, vaudeville troops, choirs, amateur orchestras and the like. Make up your mind to develop your talent now. It's lots of fun!

Weekly Short Story

The Addisons were moving. Their home was just too small for a family of four, especially so since Bob, Jr., was old enough to have a room to himself. A new home was easy enough to find, thanks to Tribune Want Ads, yet Mrs. Addison had other problems to solve.

Where on earth could she put her porch furniture? Apartment buildings have no porches! And there was the washing machine, a good one, too. Their new home, in a modern apartment building had complete laundry facilities, so the old machine was just so much excess baggage

PUBLIC JUST WON'T DABBLE IN STOCK MART

Brokers' Loans Show This Attitude.

BY O. A. MATHER.

Do you remember 'way back when the stock market was booming and almost everybody was borrowing money to play their favorite securities? That was only a year ago—and what a difference a year can make!

The desultory play in the stock market now is largely confined to professional traders. John J. Public isn't much interested and he isn't borrowing much money for speculative purposes. The tale is pretty well told in the federal reserve board's weekly report on brokers' loans. As the result of stock prices perking up a little bit last week, such loans expanded $8,000,000 and so made the first advance in a month.

But the current total of $3,110,000,000 is an illuminating commentary of changed conditions. It is less than half the amount the brokers were borrowing a year ago and just about what their loans were three years ago. To be exact, the current figure represents a shrinkage of $3,244,000,000 from Sept. 4, 1929, when the total was $6,354,000,000.

Other Loans Reduced.

The New York banks this week show an increase of $56,000,000 in their own loans to brokers but the interior banks and nonbanking lenders, including corporations, reduced their loans by $35,000,000 and $14,000,000, respectively. While the New York banks are lending $618,000,000 more than a year ago, the interior banks and other lenders are furnishing $1,164,000,000 and $2,699,000,000 less, respectively.

The demand for credit for commercial purposes, on the other hand, was somewhat stronger last week, although this was due to the month-end settlements. However, the demand for money is far below a year ago, as evidenced by the weekly statement of the federal reserve system.

Borrowing of the member banks increased $37,985,000 in the last week, now standing at $231,260,000. The New York City banks, which had been out of the reserve bank for several weeks, borrowed $36,000,000. The reserve banks took on an additional $7,121,000 in bankers' acceptances but made little change in holdings of government securities. Note circulation expanded $30,371,000, while deposits fell $16,973,000. Gold and total reserves declined $21,344,000 and $33,413,000 respectively and the ratio of reserves to liabilities sagged to 80.8 per cent, compared with 81.9 per cent last week.

Chicago Borrowings Drop.

The New York reserve bank reported an increase of $32,360,000 in member bank borrowings, bringing the total up to $63,575,000. Bankers' acceptances declined $4,534,000, but government securities remained about stationary. Deposits dropped $28,152,000. Reserves declined $53,858,000 and the reserve ratio fell to 81.5 per cent, compared with 85.2 per cent a week ago.

The report of the Chicago reserve bank showed a decline of $159,000 in member bank borrowings, with the total now standing at $15,762,000. Bankers' acceptances receded $4,356,000. Government securities were practically unchanged. Deposits receded $9,635,000. Reserves declined $6,504,000, but the reserve ratio strengthened to 86 per cent, compared with 85.5 per cent a week ago.

The New York reserve bank made no change yesterday in its 2½ per cent rediscount rate. The banks reported gold imports of $977,000 from Latin American countries for the week ended Sept. 3, while $2,000,000 was exported to Canada. In addition, two shipments totaling $1,300,000 were received yesterday from South America.

Chicago Rapid Transit to Pay Monthly Dividends

At the meeting of the directors of the Chicago Rapid Transit company yesterday a regular monthly dividend of 66 cents a share was declared on the series A prior preferred stock and 40 cents a share on the series B prior preferred stock, both payable Oct. 1 to stockholders of record at the close of business on Sept. 16. Heretofore dividends have been declared for three monthly periods. Because of the proposed consolidation with the Surface Lines, the directors have adopted the policy of acting on the dividends month by month.

Postal Telegraph Reports Gain in Net Earnings

New York, Sept. 4.—(AP)—The Postal Telegraph and Cable corporation and associated companies today reported for the first half consolidated net income of $1,233,691, compared with $1,133,691 in the corresponding period last year.

THE PURE OIL COMPANY

66th Consecutive Preferred Dividend

The regular quarterly dividend of 1¼% has been declared on the 5¼% Preferred Stock, 1½% on the 6% Preferred Stock, and 2% on the 8% Preferred Stock of THE PURE OIL COMPANY, payable in cash on October 1, 1930, to shareholders of record at the close of business, September 10, 1930.

Asserts Railways Treated Unfairly by Water Routes

BY SCRUTATOR.

American railroads, generally speaking, have suffered severe reductions in both gross and net revenues during the eight months of 1930.

In so far as the temporary conditions are concerned, it is the lack of traffic offered for hauling that is more responsible than any unfavorable rate structure for the profit decreases of the carriers. Car loadings are off more than 10 per cent from a year ago. When traffic becomes larger, as it reasonably will in an uncertain term of months, the profit showings will be better.

Quite a few traffic men feel that over the long pull, as the market letter writers term it, rail transportation will have to get itself on a more nearly competitive price basis with other forms of transport. There is perhaps more of a disposition to do this on the part of some railroads than appears, and this disposition seems more marked in the west than in the eastern territory.

Farther from Pacific Coast.

Chicago, and the other cities in the middle west, indisputably find themselves farther from the markets of the Pacific coast on the basis of dollars and cents per ton of freight charges, than they were before the opening of the Panama canal. The seaboard cities are closer so long as they use the water transport. The difference on some commodities runs up into dollars per ton.

Not all the railroads approve the isolation of the central states and their manufactures from the coast markets. F. H. Plaisted, freight traffic manager in Chicago for the Southern Pacific company, has outlined the stand of his road in regard to Pacific coast rates for THE TRIBUNE.

Plaisted Gives Views.

First mentioning a news story from Minneapolis, which stated that Secretary Hurley had been told there that excessive freight rates were ruinous, and that a nine foot channel in the upper Mississippi river would prove a "crowbar to force rail rates down" even if it did not carry all the traffic, Mr. Plaisted continued:

"If the secretary of war would talk with the secretary of the interstate commerce commission he would discover that since the war the transcontinental railroads have been denied the right to make the low rates to enable manufacturers in the Twin Cities and other interior cities to market their products at coast ports in competition with similar products moving via the Panama canal route—unless the railroads were willing to make the same low rates to other western points not subject to competition of water lines."

Nobody, he added, has to use a crowbar to induce the transcontinental railroads to do what they have been willing to do if they could secure relief from the strict rule of the long and short haul clause.

Protests Government Spending.

Mr. Plaisted protested against the spending of government money in building up water competition for the railroads. Whatever may be the view of individuals on this, he seems to be on sound ground when he shows that after building it up the rail carriers are prevented from competing on a price basis. The long and short haul clause, which prevents charging more for a shorter haul than one farther on, makes mileage the basis of rate making.

In effect, the plea is that the railroad should be allowed to adjust itself to competitive conditions rather than to have the law strait-jacket the conditions under which seacoast and mountain cities exist. To get business into the coast cities the railroads must make their service attractive as against ship transport. To get business in the Rocky mountain cities they must make rates only low enough to prevent killing all traffic. Plainly, rail transport is more valuable to a city that can only ship by railroad than to one with an alternative. Injustices have been promoted by a failure to let the roads meet their real competition.

LEGGE MAKES A STRONG PLEA FOR CROP REDUCTION

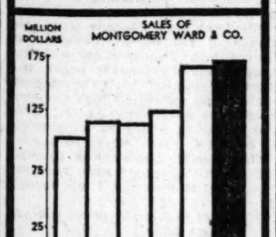
Washington, D. C., Sept. 4.—Unless the wheat farmers of America plant less in the future they can never hope to get a profitable price for their crop, Chairman Alexander Legge of the federal farm board told a radio audience tonight in a speech on the wheat acreage problem.

Mr. Legge's statements were the strongest he has yet made in defense of the farm board's campaign to reduce the production of wheat. One by one he discussed and discarded as futile the alternative proposals for helping the wheat raiser. Among those he condemned were the debenture, equalization fee, purchase of more wheat by the government, and dumping abroad.

"It is our considered judgment," he declared, "that there is just one way that the American farmer can hope to get a profitable price for his wheat, and that is for production in this country to be adjusted downward so that it will not exceed the domestic requirements."

MONTGOMERY WARD SALES FOR 8 MONTHS EXCEED 1929 PEAK RECORD



SHIPPING BOARD FILES PROTEST AGAINST CUT IN RAIL-WATER RATES

Washington, D. C., Sept. 4.—(AP)—The shipping board today filed a protest with the interstate commerce commission against a proposal to permit the Southern Pacific railroad to reduce freight rates over its rail water route between New York and California.

The protest was in reply to a report to the commission by William A. Disque, a commission examiner, recommending that the Southern Pacific be permitted to lower its rates to less than 10 per cent above the charge for all water intercoastal transportation through the Panama canal.

It would apply to the Southern Pacific's "sunset gulf" route which is by rail from California to Houston and Galveston and by water from those points to New York.

"It is inconceivable," the shipping board contended, "that congress would spend hundreds of millions of dollars in building the Panama canal if other legislation made it possible for a government agency to nullify its investment in large measure by granting such relief to transcontinental railroads as would result in the diversion of a large portion, if not all, of the intercoastal water traffic and thus cripple the water carriers."

The protest, filed by A. L. Lansdale, acting director of the shipping board's traffic bureau, also contended the examiner's recommendations conflict with the declared purpose of congress as set forth in the merchant marine acts, the Panama canal act and the transportation act.

Giannini Merger Will Form Nation's 4th Largest Bank

San Francisco, Cal., Sept. 4.—(AP)—Merger of the Bank of Italy and the Bank of America of California, to form the fourth largest bank in the United States, with deposits close to a billion and a half dollars, was announced here today by Transamerica corporation officials. Both the Bank of Italy and the Bank of America of California are virtual subsidiaries of Transamerica.

Details of the union of the two chains, organized under the guidance of A. P. Giannini, will be worked out soon. The Bank of Italy, although more than twice as large as the Bank of America, will cease to exist as a unit and its identity will be submerged in the new Bank of America National Trust and Savings association.

More than 450 branch banks in California will be affected. The Bank of America of California has about 35 Los Angeles branches and 10 in San Francisco, with scores of branches throughout the state. The Bank of Italy, dating back to 1904, has extended control to 292 branches in the state, mostly by purchase of country banks.

Transamerica's control of both the newly formed bank and the Bank of America National Association of New York City, with resources of 500 million dollars and a city-wide system of branches in greater New York, marks the inauguration of a nation-wide financial organization. The Bank of Italy at present operates 292 branches in 166 California cities and the Bank of America of California operates 161 branches in 97 cities. The Bank of America, N. A., has 35 offices in New York and Brooklyn.

The committee handling organization of the merger is headed by A. P. Giannini, organizer of the Bank of Italy and Transamerica corporation, and A. J. Mount, president of the Bank of Italy; E. J. Nolan, president of the Bank of America, California; J. A. Bacigalupi, former president of the Bank of Italy; P. C. Hale and Louis Ferrari, Bank of Italy directors and long identified with Giannini activities.

FOX THEATERS REPORT 40% BUSINESS GAIN

New York, Sept. 4.—An increase of more than 40 per cent over last year in the business done at Fox theaters throughout the country was announced in a statement issued today by Oscar S. Oldknow, executive vice president, and Harry Arthur, general manager of the Fox Theaters corporation.

"A 50 per cent increase over the same weeks last year has been noted in twelve houses for the summer, while a 40 per cent increase has been noted in all other Fox theaters throughout the east," the statement said. "We can take this increase as positive proof of the popularity of the audible film and of improved conditions."

Remember Yr. Ago Today? Beginning of Stock Crash

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Sept. 4.—The first severe break that led to the collapse of the 1929 bull market occurred a year ago today. Leading speculative favorites tumbled 7 to 18 points in a rush to take profits after the pre-Labor day bulge. Sales crossed 5,500,000 shares. Money ruled all day at 9 per cent.

American Telephone lost about 6 points at 292, Consolidated Gas fell about 5 points to 246. Specialties such as Air Reduction and Allied Chemical declined sharply, the former dropping more than 13 points to 200 and the later 18 points to 328. Rails and utilities were also weak.

BY FRED HARVEY.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Sept. 4.—Trading on the stock exchange all but came to a standstill today. The turnover dwindled to 1,519,440 shares and the jerky back and forth course of prices brought no particular joy to either of the rival camps. Toward the last a selling movement of some consequence developed and the close found the list generally 1 to 2 points lower.

Issues usually regarded as thermometers as well as barometers of the market made a show of resistance to pressure most of the session, but they had to give way with the rest in the end. United States Steel closed 1¼ points lower, American Can was off 1⅝, General Electric ¾, General Motors ⅝, Consolidated Gas ⅔, and Foreign Power ⅛ points.

A dozen or so new low levels for the year or longer were recorded—generally on comparatively slight dips, however—Goodyear Tire, Corro de Pasco, Ludlum Steel, United States Hoffman and International Printing Ink being among those to score fresh bottoms. Weakness elsewhere was most pronounced in Western Union, Case, Electric Power, Neisner, Youngstown Sheet and Tube, American Tobacco, Worthington Pump, and Diamond Match.

United Aircraft in Flight.

Here and there a specialty or group favorite stood out in front, but no spectacular gains were recorded. United Aircraft attracted attention during the forenoon with a rise of

PRICE OF WHEAT SINKS TO LOWEST POINT SINCE 1914

September Touches 81c; Up Slightly at Close.

BY CHARLES MICHAELS.

Wheat values continued on the down grade yesterday and all deliveries in Chicago and other leading markets sold at new low levels for the season and since June and July, 1914. September here touched 81c on the break, the lowest since April, 1907, with the exception of the two months in 1914, while October and December wheat in Liverpool sold below $1 per bu for the first time in a number of years.

There was a noticeable lack of support, with the decline checked by buying against bids, and the close was at net losses of 7/8@1¼c, September being 81¼@81¾c, December 87¼c, and May 94¼@94¾c.

At one time the blackboard showed Winnipeg October only ¼c over Chicago September, the smallest difference so far, but the Canadian market rallied toward the last and finished only ¾c lower for the day. Liverpool lost 5/8@¾d, with October quoted at 93¾c at the last, or about 16¼c over Chicago September at the time.

Foreign News Bearish.

Russia and Australia were reported as pressing wheat for sale abroad, with Russia lowering prices in an effort to interest buyers, while No. 3 Manitobas were quoted around 98c abroad, or in line with Liverpool October. May wheat at Winnipeg is selling at a discount of 2½c under Chicago, which is taken as indication that the United States will have trouble in disposing of its cash grain next spring.

The main depressing factor in the wheat market at the present time, however, is regarded as the Canadian situation. The Uhlmann Grain company, in commenting on this, said:

"Ordinarily one would look for reactions considering the low prices and the several days break, but there is another influence in the market this year, namely, the anxiety of Canadian bankers to see that the pool there liquidates its holdings, and merchandises its wheat, and when forced sales of this kind are either made or being planned it naturally gives the buyer a certain degree of confidence which restricts his operations."

Foreign Interest Lacking.

There was a lack of foreign interest reported at the seaboard, with sales of 300,000 to 400,000 bu estimated in all positions, while the movement of new wheat in Canada is increasing rapidly, 6,829,000 bu being delivered at interior points in the three provinces Wednesday, compared with 2,353,000 bu last year. Wheather conditions there remain favorable for harvesting and threshing, and no letup in the movement is anticipated until after the close of lake navigation.

Commission houses commented freely on the fact that wheat prices were the lowest in 16 years, and regarded the market as somewhat oversold, but it was noticeable that no outright bullish views were expressed.

September Corn Higher.

September corn acted tight and while lower early it took but little buying to bring about an upturn of 1½c from the inside figures and the close was at the top, 98¼c, with a net gain of ¾c. Deferred deliveries, while showing resistance to pressure, finished 5/8@7/8c lower in sympathy with wheat. December was 92⅝@92¾c, and May, 96½c at the last.

Crop reports attracted little attention, although the Iowa weekly summary suggested that the continued dry wheather was resulting in considerable premature ripening. There was a good demand for the limited offerings in the sample market with the basis steady to ¼c higher. Industries took hold freely. The shipping demand, however, was only fair with sales of 35,000 bu. No. 2 red durum wheat was reported as selling freely in New England at equal to 23½c under No. 2 yellow corn. The great disparity in prices between the two grains is expected to be reflected in heavy feeding of wheat.

Oats Finish Near Top.

Commission houses were good buyers of oats, and at no time did the market display pronounced weakness. The finish was well toward the top, with prices ¾c higher to ¼c lower. September closed at 39⅝@39½c, and December at 43¼c. Shipping sales aggregated 119,000 bu, and charters were made for 275,000 bu to Buffalo.

Rye weakened with wheat and on selling here against purchases at Duluth by spreaders, and the finish was at net losses of ⅝@1¼c, with September 55c, and December, 60½c at the last. Export demand was not in evidence.

RAILROAD NOTES

Freight volume on the Baltimore and Ohio last month took a definite upturn, rising 3.6 per cent over July this year. Slideoff from August last year approximated 19.4 per cent, due to the golden traffic era which was still in full swing at that time. Actual revenue freight cars loaded on the line and received from connections with other roads last month totaled 240,066, or 9,347 above July and 62,742 below August, 1929.

Freight traffic on the Chicago, Rock Island and Pacific system last month suffered a rather severe setback, falling 4.09 per cent from July this year as well as 18.1 per cent from August last year. Cars loaded on the line and received from connections with other roads were 150,172, or 6,404 less than in the preceding month and 33,224 under 1929.

August was a good month in freight movements for the Illinois Central system, with a gain of 4.8 per cent over July this year. However, the volume was 23.6 per cent less than in August last year. Revenue loadings for the month hit 164,992, topping July by 7,905 cars, but dropping 50,880 below August, 1929.

The Wabash system had a fair freight movement during August, revenue loading of 76,492 topping July this year by 1,770 cars, but falling 24,263 under August last year.

CHICAGO STOCKS FEEL EFFECT OF FALLING WHEAT

Prices Work Lower in Quiet Trading.

BY THOMAS FURLONG.

The public's conservatism in estimating the significance of certain recent trade developments is proving a trial to professional traders who are attempting to point the stock market toward higher levels. The sales figures for the last few days indicates that the outsiders are not getting back into the market at the first drop of the hat.

The market continues largely a professional affair and the bullish professionals are apparently waiting for outside buyers to give them support. Commission house buying has shown no substantial increase, contrary to the opinions which were frequently expressed last week.

Majestic Slips Back.

The weakness of yesterday's market was attributed in part to the declining wheat prices as well as the lack of public participation. Stocks on the Chicago exchange slipped definitely lower, with Majestic Household pointing the way. Stock of the refrigerator concern sold off over 4 points to 46½ before rallying and closed with a net loss of 3¾ points. The weakness in Majestic spread to other issues and the close found numerous losses ranging from a fraction to 2 points distributed throughout the list.

Sponsors of some of the favorites made no real attempt to bull prices, apparently content to hold the losses within a narrow range. Short sellers took advantage of the situation, however, and did their best to depress prices further.

Electric Household, which has shown a good deal of quiet strength recently, was unable to continue its advance and slipped off to 46. General Theaters sold down a fraction in the face of reports of a good increase in the business of Fox Film, in which it owns control.

H. O. Stone at New Low.

H. O. Stone proved a particularly vulnerable spot and fell to a new all time low of 2⅝ on transactions of less than 1,000 shares. There were two specialties which showed stubborn resistance to the trend of the day and made a little headway on the upside. Marshall Field moved ahead a fraction to 4¢, accompanied by reports that eastern interests were accumulating the stock. Libby McNeill was also well supported. Sales in the issue approached 8,000 shares, the largest turnover in the stock in some time.

Pines Winterfront advanced a point on an odd lot transaction, with a statement by President J. F. Raleigh that while business of the company is running behind last year some improvement has been shown recently.

The volume of shares traded in for the day approximated 173,500 shares, which represented some expansion from yesterday's volume. The sales figures include slightly more than 34,000 Insull Utility preferred and common stock rights which were transferred.

MADDEN TO HEAD SEARS-ROEBUCK STORES IN WEST

About sixty executives of the five Sears Roebuck & Co. stores in Chicago last night held a farewell party at the Lake Shore Athletic club in honor of Thomas J. Madden, who is leaving for Los Angeles. Mr. Madden, who has been general manager of the Chicago stores, will be in charge of the Sears-Roebuck retail establishments in southern California and in Arizona. He will be succeeded in Chicago by N. W. Jeran. Both Mr. Madden and Mr. Jeran were officials of Becker, Ryan & Co. prior to its acquisition by Sears Roebuck last October.

The MURDER at the VICARAGE

BY AGATHA CHRISTIE

SYNOPSIS.

Mr. Clement is the vicar of a country village in England. His attractive wife, Phoebe, is nearly twenty years his junior. The vicar's young nephew, Dennis, lives with them.

Col. Protheroe, a pompous parishioner, who makes life miserable for his daughter, Lettice, and his second wife, is expected at the vicarage at 6:15 one evening. At 5:30 the vicar is called to visit a dying parishioner and leaves word for the colonel that he will be late. On returning at 7 the vicar meets Lawrence Redding, an artist, who is living in a studio on the vicarage grounds, coming out of the house in an excited state. The day before the vicar had discovered the artist and Mrs. Protheroe in each others arms, and they had confessed to him their love for each other. In his study the vicar finds the colonel sprawled across the desk, shot through the head; murdered apparently, as no weapon is found. Dr. Haydock is sent for and he says Protheroe has been dead half an hour and calls the police. A note which the colonel started to write to the vicar is headed 6:20. A clock overturned when the colonel fell forward stopped at 6:22, but it always was kept a quarter of an hour fast. Later Lawrence Redding confesses he murdered Col. Protheroe. Shortly after Mrs. Protheroe tells Col. Melchett, the chief constable of the county, that she shot her husband. Melchett and the vicar call on Miss Marple, whose house adjoins the vicarage. She tells them she saw Mrs. Protheroe going to the vicarage about 6:15. From there she went to the studio. Redding came along shortly after and went to the studio. He came out about twenty minutes later and walked towards the village.

INSTALLMENT XVII.

THE MYSTERY OF THE CLOCK.

"Protheroe was shot not later than six thirty, according to the doctor," Melchett said.

"O, doctors!" Inspector Slack looked contemptuous. "If you're going to believe doctors. Take out all your teeth—that's what they do nowadays—and then say they're very sorry, but all the time it was appendicitis. Doctors."

"This isn't a question of diagnosis. Dr. Haydock was absolutely positive on the point. You can't go against the medical evidence, Slack."

"And there's my evidence for what it is worth," I said, suddenly recalling a forgotten incident. "I touched the body and it was cold. That I can swear to."

"You see, Slack?" said Melchett.

Inspector Slack gave in with a good grace.

"Well, of course, if that's so. But there it was—a beautiful case. Mr. Redding only too anxious to be hanged, so to speak."

"That, in itself, strikes me as a little unnatural," observed Col. Melchett.

"Well, there's no accounting for tastes," said the inspector. "There's a lot of gentlemen went a bit balmy after the war. Now, I suppose, it means starting again at the beginning." He turned on me. "Why you went out of your way to mislead me about the clock, sir, I can't think. Obstructing the ends of justice, that's what that was."

I was stung.

"I tried to tell you on three separate occasions," I said. "And each time you shut me up and refused to listen."

"That's just a way of speaking, sir. You could have told me perfectly well if you had had a mind to. The clock and the note seemed to tally perfectly. Now, according to you, the clock was all wrong. I never knew of such a case. What's the sense of keeping a clock a quarter of an hour fast anyway?"

"It is supposed," I said, "to induce punctuality."

The inspector snorted.

"I don't think we need go further into that now, inspector," said Col. Melchett tactfully. "What we want now is the true story from both Mrs.

I found my wife and Miss Marple with their heads together.

Protheroe and young Redding. I telephoned to Haydock and asked him to bring Mrs. Protheroe over here with him. They ought to be here in about a quarter of an hour. I think it would be as well to have Redding here first."

"I'll get the station," said Inspector Slack and took up the telephone. He spoke down it.

"And now," he said, replacing the receiver, "we'll get to work on this room."

He looked at me in a meaning fashion.

"Perhaps," I said, "you'd like me out of the way."

The inspector immediately opened the door for me. Melchett called out. "Come back when young Redding arrives, will you, vicar? You're a friend of his and you may have sufficient influence to persuade him to speak the truth."

I found my wife and Miss Marple with their heads together.

"We've been discussing all sorts of possibilities," said Griselda. "I wish you'd solve the case, Miss Marple, like you did the way Miss Wetherby's gill of picked shrimps disappeared. And all because it reminded you of something quite different about a sack of coals."

"You're laughing, my dear," said Miss Marple. "But after all, that is a very sound way of arriving at the truth. It's really what people call intuition and make such a fuss about. Intuition is like reading a word without having to spell it out. A child can't do that because it has had little experience. But a grown up person knows the word because they've seen it often before. You catch my meaning, vicar?"

"Yes," I said slowly. "I think I do. You mean that if a thing reminds you of something else—well, it's probably the same kind of thing."

"Exactly."

"And what precisely does the murder of Col. Protheroe remind you of?"

Miss Marple sighed.

"That is just the difficulty. So many parallels come to the mind. For instance, there was Maj. Hargraves, a church warden and a man highly respected in every way. And all the time he was keeping a separate secret establishment—a former housemaid, just think of it! And five children—actually five children—a terrible shock to his wife and daughter."

I tried hard to visualize Col. Protheroe in the rôle of secret sinner and failed.

"And then there was that laundry business," went on Miss Marple. "Miss Hartnell's opal pin—left most imprudently in a frilled blouse and sent to the laundry. And the woman who took it didn't want it in the least and wasn't by any means a thief. She simply hid it in another woman's house and told the police she'd seen this other woman take it. Spite, you know, sheer spite. It's an astonishing motive—spite. A man is ill, of course. There always is."

This time I failed to see any parallel, however remote. Miss Marple went on in a dreamy voice.

"And then there was poor Elwell's daughter—such a pretty ethereal girl—tried to stifle her little brother. And there was the money for the boys outing, (before your time, vicar) actually taken by the organist. Their boys outing, (before your time, vicar) actually taken by the organist. His wife was sadly in debt. Yes, this case makes one think of so many things—too many. It's very hard to arrive at the truth."

"I wish you would tell me," I said. "Who were the seven suspects?"

"The seven suspects?"

"You said you could think of seven people who would—well, be glad of Col. Protheroe's death."

"Did I? Yes, I remember I did."

"Was that true?"

"O, certainly it was true. But I mustn't mention names. You can think of them quite easily yourself, I am sure."

"Indeed I can't. There is Lettice Protheroe, I suppose, since she probably comes into money on her father's death. But it is absurd to think of her in such a connection, and outside her I can think of nobody."

"And you, my dear?" said Miss Marple, turning to Griselda.

Rather to my surprise Griselda colored up. Something very like tears started into her eyes. She clenched both her small hands.

"O!" she cried indignantly. "People are hateful—hateful. The things they say! The beastly things they say . . . ."

I looked at her curiously. It is very unlike Griselda to be so upset.

She noticed my glance and tried to smile.

"Don't look at me as though I were an interesting specimen you did understand, Len? Don't let's get heated and wander from the point. I don't believe that it was Lawrence or Anne, and Lettice is out of the question. There must be some clew or other that would help us."

"There is the note, of course," said Miss Marple. "You will remember my saying this morning that that struck me as exceedingly peculiar."

"It seems to fix the time of his death with remarkable accuracy," I said. "And yet, is that possible? Mrs. Protheroe would only have just left the study. She would hardly have had time to reach the studio. The only way in which I can account for it is that he consulted his own watch and that his watch was slow. That seems to me a feasible solution."

"I have another idea," said Griselda. "Suppose, Len, that the clock had already been put back—no, that comes to the same thing—how stupid of me!"

"It hadn't been altered when I left," I said. "I remember comparing it with my watch. Still, as you say, that has no bearing on the present matter."

"What do you think, Miss Marple?" asked Griselda.

The old lady shook her head.

"My dear, I confess I wasn't thinking about it from that point of view at all. What strikes me as so curious, and has done from the first, is the subject matter of that letter."

'Billions More Years to Solve World Puzzles'

Planet Expert Says All Depends on Sun.

BY VIRGINIA GARDNER.

Life on the earth will cease several thousand million years from now. That is a short time for men who think in terms of millions of light years—but it does not worry them. For to astronomers the "inevitable end" of human life is known as a mere incident in the cosmic evolution.

So explained John C. Duncan, head of the department of astronomy of Wellesley college, who with Mrs. Duncan is in Chicago attending the 44th convention of the American Astronomical society, which will adjourn tonight.

"All organic life depends on the activities of the sun. In other words, the sun must be hotter than the worlds to which it radiates heat, for life on them to exist," Prof. Duncan said. "The sun can't go on radiating heat forever. It is bound to exhaust its resources, and will be eventually the same temperature as other planets."

Asked how that affected the theory of biological evolution, and whether astronomers were concerned with it, he replied:

"We are deeply interested in inorganic evolution. The solar system, you must remember, is a mere speck in the universe.

"We know little about the evolution of stars, but we now accept the theory that they are in process of evolution. Stars are different from each other in size, temperature and intensity. There is no doubt that stars are different in age, that each star is in a certain stage of its life history.

"Where are we going? An astronomer can't tell you," he said and smiled. "It is true that there is evidence that the universe as a whole is running down. In the evolution the astronomers know, therefore, there is no one goal or purpose. What the meaning is, we leave to the metaphysicians. The inevitable finish of man is to us like the end of any other animal."

Meanwhile, however, the universe is enlarging, unfolding, in a thrilling manner before the trained eyes of astronomers, aided by their instruments.

"What interests us perhaps more than anything is the now clearly established fact of other galaxies of stars outside our milky way," Prof. Duncan said with enthusiasm. "That fact enormously enlarges our ideas of the universe.

"Until a few years ago our theories concerning spiral nebulae were only problematical. Now we know that they are separate galaxies. The nearest nebula to the milky way is the Andromeda nebula, now known to be one million light years from us, but faintly visible to the naked eye. The farthest known to us is 140 million light years away.

"It is also known now that our own galaxy, the milky way, rotates. We know some of the others do, how many we do not know. At present astronomers are busy determining the distances of other galaxies from our own, the shapes of those galaxies and the motions of the stars in our own."

Prof. Duncan teaches during the winter, and for 12 years has spent his summers in research work in the photography of nebulae seen through 60-inch and 100-inch telescopes in Mount Wilson observatory.

Last night, however, the visiting astronomers were invited to relax and survey the Chicago skyline from the decks of the Mizpah, the yacht of Commander Eugene F. McDonald Jr.

But as the yacht cruised up and down the lake front, there was such conversation as this, "sun spot curve," "abundant hydrogen in the solar atmosphere," "radiation intensity," and so on.

True, one learned professor skipped up and down the deck, tugged by a small daughter, who occasionally pointed impressively at Chicago's skyline. But the majority of men and women chatted amiably of stars and sun and moon, and the inter stellar spaces.

A little group crowded around Dr. R. M. Stewart, director of the Dominion observatory at Ottawa. He has been directing important research in geophysics, which, to be quite simple, means a combination of terrestrial magnetism, gravity, and seismology. When a deposit of ore, unknown to geologists, is in the ground, experts in his line can spot it by the force of earth's gravity that particular place exerts.

Some one mentioned Einstein's opinions on gravity. "O, I can't understand Einstein," Dr. Stewart said, humbly. "I shouldn't dare discuss him."

Another little group surrounded Dr. Dorothea Klumpke Roberts of the Paris observatory and a master of science from the Sorbonne, wanting to know more about the 52 extensive diffused nebulosities on which she read a paper in the morning session. She now is publishing the works of her late husband, Dr. Isaac Roberts, who died 26 years ago.

Miss Harriet Bigelow, head of the department of astronomy at Smith; Miss Anne S. Young, head of the department at Mount Holyoke; Dr. Annie J. Cannon of Harvard university; Dr. Caroline Furness of Vassar, and Miss Jessica M. Young of Washington university, did think Chicago's skyline impressive. And Prof. J. M. Kuehne of the University of Texas, where an observatory is planned, said that the smoke made it more beautiful, in fact, poetic.

The astronomers' meeting will adjourn tonight.

SPHINXLIKE HEAD UPON BURIED STATUE STIRS UP MEXICANS

[Copyright: 1930: By the New York Times.]

MEXICO CITY, Sept. 4.—A group of Mexican Boy Scouts exploring the wildest portions of the state of Guerrero, under technical guidance, are responsible for the discovery of a set of ruins which experts claim may well be the first step in unearthing still one more buried city in this republic.

Members of the expedition found themselves in one of the highest mountain ranges in Guerrero. Nearby they noted mounds varying in size. Uncovering one of the largest they found an enormous head in stone, distinctly sphinxlike in type, the body of which, to be in proportion, must be of enormous size.

It is buried with the dust of ages. The point where the discovery was made is known as Tlaxmalag, and authorities state it has an extraordinary similarity to the archeologic treasures found in Egypt.

The eyes of the image are enormous cavities, and nearby was unearthed an immense round stone carved in hieroglyphics.

Almost innumerable small mounds in the district under exploration are believed by government experts to be the summits of a series of pyramids, and the image of the head which has been uncovered is thought possibly to be some god carved by the Indians in an ancient time and surrounded by pyramids.

The head of the image is about 3 meters [a meter is about 39 inches] in length, with a proportionate breadth.

The discovery has caused a sensation. A firm belief is being held that another buried city will soon come to light.

Fame of Marine Band Woven Into Nation's History

Neither their scarlet coats nor their brass buttons, their gleaming instruments nor their martial melodies, comprise the entire appeal to Americans of the United States Marine band—"The President's Own"—which will be heard in Chicago on Sept. 16, under the auspices of THE TRIBUNE. Traditions and musicians, both of the highest rank, combine to delight the crowds that hear the band annually.

Since the comparatively simple days of the presidency of Thomas Jefferson, the Marine band has made music at the White House for the nation's chief executive. Yet "to the ladies" has ever been one of the chief articles in its creed.

Dashing Dolly Madison might be said to have launched the band socially, since it was she who first had it play at the New Year's receptions in the White House that now are such a distinctive pattern in the nation's life. It is related that 500 miles on horseback was not too far to come to attend one of these functions, at which the first lady and the band divided honors.

In its 130 years of existence as a unit, the Marine band has seen the scope of its services widen materially. It has called the nation to war, blared forth the joy of victories, sighed in muted strains as the honored dead were carried to the grave. Always the band heralds the inauguration of a President. It has greeted sovereigns and statesmen, opened great expositions, and ushered famous brides to the altar.

There was Nellie Grant, whose meeting with Algernon Frederick Sartoris aboard ship was shortly followed by her marriage in the east room at the White House. Amid the banks of flowers and the masses of blossoms laden with fragrance, she moved up to the dais in regal white satin to the strains of the "Lohengrin" wedding march played by the Marine band.

Grover Cleveland, the only President to marry in the executive mansion, met his bride, the former Miss Folsom, at the altar in the blue room during his first administration. And the Marine band played for the ceremony the Mendelssohn wedding march.

More recently, Alice Roosevelt Longworth took her nuptial vows in the east room in front of the windows which view the treasury, while the same band played the "Lohengrin" wedding music.

Fifty musicians are included in the band, which comes to Chicago under the direction of its present and ninth leader, Capt. Taylor Branson.

On Way Home with Nine Others—McMillan.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

CHARLOTTETOWN, P. E. I., Sept. 4.—Capt. Donald McMillan, arctic explorer, returned from his fifteenth polar trip today, arriving for the first time in his life on Prince Edward island, the "Ireland of Canada." He is sailing for Maine tomorrow at sunrise. He brought back with him seven boys from Chicago and vicinity, the first group of their ages ever to visit the arctic circle.

These boys attended a dance in Charlottetown tonight. They are the following Chicagoans: William J. Thomas Jr., 5630 Kimbark avenue; Robert Potter, 449 Barry avenue; John Post, 5811 Dorchester avenue; Edward Hoffman, 203 Delaware place; Frank Elliott, 55 Delaware place; Paul Davis Kenilworth; Bud Grulee, 1410 Asbury avenue, Evanston.

William Thomas, 10 years old, son of Dr. William J. Thomas, was spokesman for the boys. He said: "We had a whale of a time, saw lots of whales and icebergs.

"Not one of us even was sea sick; we were good sailors. We had one adventure when the second mate tried to get across broken ice to a berg at Cape North. The ice gave way, he fell through and nearly was crushed by the ice. He went down; we threw a life preserver, but he sank. Later, a long way off it seemed, he came up and we pulled him out. He was put to bed on the Bowdoin and in a couple of days he was O. K.

"We didn't do much shooting, just shot some wild ducks and small game. We saw no polar bears, but plenty of great black fish, seals, and sea lions.

"We had one wonderful time and will tell all the kids at homo about it. We leave here tomorrow morning for Wiscasset, Me. There we should land in five days, and from there by train back home to Chicago. Some of our dads will be at Wiscasset to meet us. One of the boys, Hoffman, will go to a school in North Carolina, the rest of us go back to Chicago

"It was the finest trip I ever made," Capt. McMillan said. "We had perfect weather. We left Maine June 23, went to Sydney, N. S., from there to St. John's, N. F., and then to Iceland, my first trip to Iceland. It is a land of contrasts, with ice covered mountains surrounded by hot springs from which boiling water spouts.

"I am writing a book on Peary. It will be called "With Peary in the Polar Seas." This perhaps will settle the dispute as to whether Peary really discovered the north pole. I am firmly convinced he did. He had a Negro and four Esquimos with him, but he left no proof he discovered the pole. He could not, for at the pole there is a moving field of ice on which no permanent record can remain. It would float away.

"Scott proved Amundsen was at the south pole, for he brought back to civilization records that Amundsen left there, but there is no proof, never can be a proof, that Peary or any one else ever reached the north pole. Of course, Cook never was at the north pole. Peary had the facilities and the instruments to reach the north pole. He was a truthful man and those who went with him were truthful men. They honestly believed they reached the north pole and I think and shall always think Peary discovered it."

MONTREAL EXCITED OVER PROSPECTS OF ITS OWN HOLLYWOOD

MONTREAL, Que., Sept. 4.—[Special.]—Great excitement has been caused here by announcement of plans to locate a miniature Hollywood near Montreal for regular production of talking pictures.

About three months ago the Canadian American Talking Picture Studios, Inc., was formed with, it is said, a capitalization of a million dollars, presumably with American backing.

Today the plans were made public. The studios, the company says, will be located on 115 acres of land at Chambly Basin, fifteen miles south of Montreal, a few miles beyond St. Hubert airport and only 25 miles from the U. S. border. On Sunday the sod is to be turned for the first studio building. The company says D. W. Griffith, Colleen Moore, George Jessel, and others, are to be present.

Pictures made in Canada, if they fulfill certain requirements, would be admitted into Great Britain on the same terms as the home product. The British quota law specifies that ten per cent of all films shown in that country must be made on British territory. Thus the Canadian American Talking Picture Studio Ltd., announces that, located near the border of the United States, it would be enabled to use American players, technical men, writers and advisers and at the same time keep production costs down and have better talent at its disposal than it would if the enterprise was carried on in Great Britain.

'Pray for Rain?' Some Pastors, 'Yes'; Others 'No'

Church Paper Presents the Results of Query.

BY THE REV. JOHN EVANS.

Prayers for rain by devout church members as they viewed the drought stricken fields have revived the question, "Does prayer affect the weather?" That question was put to prominent clergymen of the nation by the Christian Century, Chicago.

The replies quoted in that journal of current issue, for the most part are negative. One fundamentalist leader, Dr. Mark Matthews of Seattle, declared that God has answered prayer by giving rain. Therefore He can do it again if He so desires.

Dr. James M. Gray, president of Moody Bible institute, Chicago, explained that as God had made the weather, He could change it if He wishes. Dr. Gray pointed out the possibility of divine intervention in meteorological affairs by caring for the problem of surplus wheat and increasing the price of corn. Thus, the divine interposition was a response to prayer with, perhaps, a larger good in view, Dr. Gray argued.

An emphatic "no" was given to the question by the Rev. Samuel Harkness, pastor of the Winnetka Community church. Dr. Harkness declared that if prayer affects the weather, then meteorology becomes an article of theology and not of science. Thus the continued drought is a divine interposition, and a response to a prayer for rain, with perhaps a larger good in view.

"Suppose one state had too little rain and an adjacent state too much," Dr. Harkness continued. "Would conflicting prayers be answered on the basis of a preponderance of Baptists in the arid section, or by a majority of Unitarians in the inundated territory?"

Just as emphatic in the negative was the reply of Dr. W. P. Lemon, a Minneapolis pastor. He declared that an attempt "to involve the God of Betelguese and of Bethlehem in a coöperative scheme to maintain present American standards of living is like asking for an earthquake for excavation work, or for a tornado to fulfill a wrecking contract."

Dr. Lemon called prayer for rain a piece of special pleading to an obsolete deity who made rain only for his favorites. "Let us rather pray for the redemption of profiteers, for the enlargement of human sympathy, and for wisdom to cope with all such exigencies," Dr. Lemon said in conclusion.

Prayer in the time of drought or other calamity—though not specifically praying for divine intervention is of great value to those who pray, was argued by Prof. Henry N. Wieman of the divinity school of the University of Chicago, and by Prof. Walter M. Horton, Oberlin Theological seminary, Oberlin, O. Dr. Wieman said prayer of the right sort is a method of solving practical problems by finding how to operate in such a way as to make connection through which life sustaining processes can function.

The crisis of the drought should be met in such a way that not only character is disciplined, Dr. Wieman pointed out, but also in such a way "that economic, social, and other values may be reaped, it may be, months or years hence."

The Oberlin professor, Dr. Horton, confirmed Dr. Wieman's position by asserting that proper prayer advances scientific research, along with social and economic adjustments, and "makes men keener and more masterful in their efforts to unlock the secrets of the physical universe, and bring nature under human control."

Dr. Harry Emerson Fosdick, John D. Rockefeller's pastor at the Riverside church, New York, scoffed at prayer as a means to get rain. "No imaginable connection exists, that I at least can think of, between a man's inward, spiritual attitude and a rainstorm, nor can the former be conceived as a causative predecessor of the latter," said Dr. Fosdick as he pleaded for the abandonment of a "crude, obsolete supernaturalism" still existing in this "benighted and uncivilized country." This supernaturalism, he contended has caused "many an intelligent mind an excuse for saying, 'Almost thou persuadest me to be an atheist.'"

SCIENTISTS SEAL ANDREE DIARIES, SWEAR SECRECY

Discover Rare Arctic Bird in Explorer's Boat.

[Copyright: 1930: By the Associated Press and all rights reserved in North America, South America and Japan].

TROMSOE, Norway, Sept. 4.—(AP)—The experts have finished their examination of the Andree relics, recaptured from the arctic after 33 years, and tonight began repacking them for shipment to Sweden.

A memorial service probably will be held for the dead explorers in Tromsoe church Monday and then the journey to the homeland will be started. The Swedish naval vessel Svenskund will bear the remnants of the 1897 polar expedition, accompanied by the Norwegian naval vessel Michael Sars and the little sealer Bratvaag, which returned the bodies of Salomon August Andree and Nils Strindberg from White island.

Flew for 46 Hours.

Tomorrow the experts who examined the Andree effects will publish a statement giving their views of the find. Prof. Lithberg stated that all the members of the commission had sworn to keep silent on the contents of the diaries, which are kept in a room that has been padlocked and sealed since Tuesday night. But it is unofficially reported tonight that the notebooks will reveal that Andree and his two companions were up in their balloon 46 hours before disaster overtook them.

It is understood that they came down at 12:30 p. m. on July 13, 1897. There is no intimation of what happened to the balloon.

The preserved body of a very rare Arctic bird, nautical tables and charts, all belonging to Andree, were found among the objects in the boat.

The commission this morning issued a statement on their most recent finds.

"The continued examination of Andree's body has not produced any new finds to throw further light on the fate of his expedition.

Believe Andree Buried Pal.

"In his pocket, however, were found a number of shells for his gun, a box of matches and a pocket knife. After that, Strindberg's body was examined. In one of his pockets was found a pencil. Observations made at the examination seem to strengthen the belief that Strindberg was buried by Andree.

"It seems to be proved that Andree outlived Strindberg, because some things belonging to Strindberg were found in Andree's pockets. These were recognized by Tore Strindberg as belonging to his brother.

"Examination of the boat has begun. The boat had been loaded full with equipment of the expedition. In one end of the boat there has been found the expedition's library of nautical and trigonometrical lists and a copy of the magazine Ymer, in which Andree had published an article."

State May Get Diaries.

STOCKHOLM, Sept. 4.—(AP)—The question as to ownership of the Andree diaries, found last month on the body of the explorer who perished on White island 33 years ago, presents a problem which is puzzling many persons. Since Andree died in 1897 and the ownership of written or printed matter ceases in Sweden 30 years after the author's death, it is held doubtful whether the relatives of those who were on the expedition will be able to claim the books. They probably will be placed in the hands of the Swedish government, it is said.

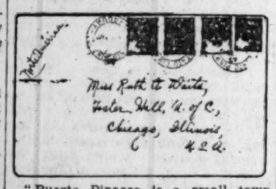
INTERESTING LETTERS

If you have received a letter from an interesting or little known place send the envelope to The Tribune, stating name of place where it was mailed and some information about the writer of the letter.

Letter received from V. Andersen, 5471 Everett avenue, Chicago.



"Puerto Pinasco is a small town three days by river boat north of Asuncion, capital of Paraguay," Mr. Andersen writes.

"It is located on the Chaco side of the Paraguayan river, half way to the Brazilian border and not far from the Chaco land, which has been so disputed by the Bolivians. The population is about 500 humans, mostly natives, and a few whites. A lot of half civilized Indians invariably camp around town, looking for odd jobs, enough to earn a few pesos for sugar and mate, a green tea grown further north, and sometimes they bring a few skins to trade.

"In 1918 an American quebracho extract concern built a factory there and laid down about 100 miles of railroad to transport the logs from the woods to the factory. About 5,000 natives and Indians are employed to cut the trees down debark them, and haul same to the nearest railroad track. Bullock teams are used for this purpose, mostly eight oxen in a span, but sometimes double that amount is necessary to heave the great big wheels out of a hole.

"A quebracho tree two feet in diameter is about 200 or 300 years old, consequently no new planting ever is contemplated. Once a section is cleared the gang moves farther in, the track is extended, or a side line is built. In a few years there will not be any more quebracho trees left. The supply will be exterminated entirely.

"Quebracho [native for 'break axes'] is possibly the hardest wood to be found. The heart is a dark red color. This part is ground into chips, then boiled and cooked in various vats. The final liquid extracted is as thick as sirup, then run into burlap sacks, dried on racks, and shipped to New York or Germany. Once dry it gets hard as rock, and if pounded will turn into powder. This powder is used for tanning leather.

"The Indians still live by hunting. Wild animal life is abundant. One day's horseback riding from town will bring one close enough to hunt jaguars, deer, wild hogs, etc., not to mention monkeys, ostriches, and foxes.

"I left Paraguay in 1923, after 13 years in South America, during eight of which I worked in Paraguay. Strikes and revolutions finally got my goat, and altnough there are days the tropics call, I am through for good and prefer to stay civilized."

Reckless Driving Charges Against Pastor Dismissed

St. Joseph, Mich., Sept. 4.—[Special.]—Charges of reckless driving against the Rev. J. J. Steffens, the pastor of St. Matthew's Episcopal church, Evanston, Ill., whose automobile struck and killed Mrs. Anna Booth, 73 year old resident of Bridgman, Mich., a week ago, were dismissed today, but he was held under $1,000 bond for a hearing before Justice John Kobe. Testimony brought out that the pastor did all he could to avoid striking the woman. Mrs. Booth, who was deaf, walked into the path of the car.

Girl to Tell Rudy When and Where He Proposed

New York, Sept. 4.—(AP)—Attorneys for Agnes O'Loughlin, Broadway show girl, agreed today to furnish a bill of particulars to counsel for Rudy Vallee in her $200,000 breach of promise suit against the blond crooner.

Vallee had demanded that the show girl stipulate when and where he was alleged to have proposed marriage to her and under what circumstances.

He withdrew his motion for answers to these and other questions when the complainant's counsel said they would give him the information.

$2,500,000 Morgan Yacht Floated After Grounding

Islesboro, Me., Sept. 4.—(AP)—J. P. Morgan's yacht Corsair left here today under her own power after an examination of her hull apparently failed to disclose any major damage resulting from her grounding on a reef Tuesday night. Her destination was not announced. Local tugs and coast guard craft pulled the $2,500,000 floating palace into deep water at high tide last night.

FALLS FROM WHARF AND DROWNS.

John Noonan, 47 years old, a deck hand on a turboat, was drowned last night when he fell into the river from the wharf at 311 East North Water street. Don Kinner, 30 years old, a Tribune truck driver of 5211 East 71st street, dove after him, but failed to rescue him.

Sues to Recover Yacht; Charges Fraudulent Deal

New York, Sept. 4.—[Special.]—Barron Collier, New York advertising man, was named in an equity action filed in United States District court today by James Daniel Gully of Brooklyn, who seeks to recover the steam yacht City of Fort Myers. Mr. Collier bought the yacht some time ago for $20,000 from Philip J. Sinnott, who held it as receiver in an action brought against Gully by the Mistletoe Steamship corporation. The complaint charges that the Supreme court order for the sale of the yacht was obtained fraudulently.

Perfect Sauce Requires Care in Blending

Procedure Is Easily Learned.

BY META GIVEN.

"My family dislikes anything that is creamed," is an acknowledgment made by many women. A convincing proof of this indifference is revealed when one observes the careless preparation of the sauce. Too many times the product would make a better wall paper paste — which explains why many families are not enthusiastic about foods in white sauce. Nine times out of ten the white sauce is the offending part.

The preparation of a perfect sauce is not a question of expense but of care. To achieve success one must have some imagination, a fine palate, some patience and judgment. White sauce has three qualities that must always be kept in mind and given the strictest attention—smoothness, flavor and right consistency. Too many cooks throw the ingredients together in any old way thinking the results will be satisfactory. There is no place in cooking where one can afford to be reckless and the making of white sauce is no exception to the rule.

Correct Blending Order.

Carefully melted butter must be blended smoothly with the flour [and flour, potato or wheat, must be used, never cornstarch!]. Salt and pepper are next. Then the cold milk must be added a little at a time, stirring all the while to keep the smoothness. The mixture should be heated slowly to the boiling point directly over the flame and with continuous stirring to prevent the formation of lumps. Actual boiling for just a minute greatly improves the flavor.

Finish the cooking over boiling water, with occasional stirring. Between stirrings a close fitting lid should be kept on to prevent a skin from forming on the surface. All of which means that white sauce cannot cook itself but requires the cook to be right on the job.

Use Flour Sparingly.

If good fresh butter, sweet milk and the right proportion of flour, salt and pepper are used the flavor is sure to be good. But the amount of flour or thickening is where many cooks show a lack of imagination. More times than not there is too much flour. Thin white sauce that is meant for the preparation of cream soups is too often a medium white sauce bordering on to thick and the soup is more like gravy or a blanc mange.

Make a thin white sauce for soup by using 1 tablespoon flour and ½ teaspoon salt to 1 cup of milk. The best sauce for escalloped and creamed foods is a medium one, just a little thicker than the thin in consistency [1½ tablespoons flour and ½ teaspoon salt to 1 cup milk]. Thick sauce should never be used anywhere except in the binding together of croquette materials. Don't use so much white sauce that vegetables are lost in it.

A robber wearing a uniform, apparently stolen from a department store delivery man, gained entry yesterday to the apartment of Mrs. Irene Fisher, 426 Briar place, overpowered her and then admitted two accomplices. They bound her with her husband's neckties, ransacked the rooms, and escaped with approximately $2,000 in jewelry and a small sum of currency after cutting telephone wires.

Mrs. Fay Randall, 20 years old, bride of 11 months, was robbed of an $1,800 diamond engagement ring yesterday afternoon in her home at 154 North Parkside avenue by a bandit who gained entrance by posing as a messenger boy. She is the wife of Abraham Randall, president of the National Credit and Finance company, 3770 West North avenue.

They, too, like the woman who does only lightest work and "wash basin laundering," wanted the caressing allure of lovely white hands. And found them!

What To Do

Use any kind of soap—even ordinary laundry or household soap.

BUT—to the water add one tablespoonful of Climalene. That is all.

That instantly takes the harshness out of harsh water—makes it soft and gentle as rain-water.

Then, you use just ONE-FOURTH or LESS the amount of soap you now use. And thus do your work, NOT with skin eating, harsh suds, but with the MILDEST of all cleansers.

You do your work in ONE-HALF the time—dishes, floors, laundry work. For it DISSOLVES grease, dirt and grime instantly. And thus saves bruising skin-fabric with rubbing and scrubbing. Saves fine fabrics, too, from soap-fade and ruin.

When you take your hands out, they are smooth and white—soft as a child's. For this preparation contains incomperable beautifying agents for the skin.

Believe it or not: but try it. What happens will amaze you. Hundreds of women will tell you so.

Remember—Climalene is what you ask for. Your grocer has it in 10c and 25c packages.

Sweet corn, 15 to 20 cents per dozen, or 50 cents a sack of four dozen.

Do Big Business.

While these seem like bargain prices a huckster might have late Saturday night for the left-overs, these quotations are a fair sample of what hundreds of housewives are paying for choice, freshly picked edibles at some 30 roadside stands operated by the families who actually produced the vegetables they sell at these prices.

The problem for the Chicagoan is twofold in taking advantage of this situation. First, it means a conveyance to and from the markets, and secondly, it means some knowledge of how to select a genuine farmers' market from a huckster's attempt to imitate such a market and supply the leftovers from the Randolph street and other city market places.

Yet, the farmers who were interviewed on a trip circumscribing Chicago declare that they have a fairly regular clientele, some women driving out daily, others once or twice a week, seldom on Sundays or holidays. This latter trade at roadside stands is almost entirely made up from casual visitors out of the streams of traffic.

Last year, and again this summer, when roads have been closed to travel during construction, the farmers have still maintained their regular customers, who in turn bring others each year. In this way the grower who is a good merchant giving full measure and good quality adds to his business each successive year.

The gross intake of such stands varies from $5,000 to as high as $15,000 during the season from late April to November, this season depending for its length upon weather conditions and abundance of produce. Such farmers plant their fields in patches of vegetables, following them along at intervals to maintain a steady supply during the season. Should they run short, however, a neighbor farmer's supply is purchased to meet the demands.

Labor Costs Lower.

The largest farmers' stands maintain a force of from fifteen to thirty people, men, women and children. This labor item is one of the grower's greatest costs. For that reason, vegetables have dropped in price this year, when men will work all day for $1.50 and last year were reluctant to work even at $4 or $5.

Not all the good offered at such markets are homegrown. Farmers soon found that buyers wanted their entire realm of purchases in one spot, so oranges, peaches, apples, bananas, plums, pears, cider, vinegar, honey and other items have been added. Some growers sell soft drinks, ice cream, poultry products, pets and all sorts of sidelines, but they see to it that their mainstay, the vegetables, occupy first attention.

Steady flows of customers to and from these stands continue from daybreak until midnight and later, while most growers keep someone at the market all night, frequently a city storekeeper, or someone from a distant market that is short of certain items comes along at two to five o'clock in the morning and buys large amounts.

Housewives Cautioned.

Housewives have been cautioned by officers of the Cook County Truck Gardeners' association and the county farm bureau to be sure they purchase from growers' markets, if they wish fresh, homegrown vegetables at low-est available prices. Such stands are usually near the farmer's house, or in his fields, while the hucksters, who bring older truck out from the city markets to imitate farm stands, are almost always at intersections of traffic, even though they may pose as farm market operators.

OFFICIALS ASK RESCINDING OF PUPIL TRANSFER

Protests from parents of children on the west side, affected by a recent transfer order of the board of education, yesterday resulted in demands that the order be rescinded. The letter requesting vacating of the transfer order was signed by President W. E. Jones of the west parks; William Ahern, police captain for the park board, and State Senator A. W. Harris.

The transfer, the petitioners assert, affects more than a hundred children, who previously attended the Robert Emmet school, Pine avenue and Madison street, to cross Washington boulevard and attend the Spencer school at Lexington avenue and Fulton street.

"We have had to borrow three city policemen to protect children who are forced to cross the boulevard on their way to school," Capt. Schram said. "If the order is not revoked, these children will be forced to cross as best they can with no protection. Accidents are bound to occur."

William J. Bogan, superintendent of schools, explained that the order was necessitated by seat shortage in the Emmet school. "The order was necessary," he said, "and we intend to stick to it."

DOG SAVES LIVES OF FOUR AS FIRE DESTROYS HOUSE

Pontiac, Mich., Sept. 4.—[Special.]—"Mix," a Scotch Collie, early this morning saved the lives of four persons when fire destroyed a home here. The pet, owned by Hartly McGill, awakened his master by licking his face. McGill smashed an exit through a locked door and threw his two children, Eugene, 8, and Royal, 6, to safety before carrying his wife from the burning building. The home collapsed a few seconds later. The man was severely burned. Only a few days ago McGill was seeking a home for "Mix" because he could not afford to feed him.

Simple Devices Speed Along Kitchen Duties

Need Be Neither Costly Nor Elaborate.

BY SALLY LUNN.

It isn't only the pots and pans, the dishes and silverware and the food on the shelves that make our kitchens most efficient. The little time saving conveniences have their share in it too. And they don't have to be costly or elaborate to serve their purpose.

There are a great number of convenient pieces of kitchen equipment but space permits only a consideration of three—the spatula, apple corer, and rubber scraper.

A spatula which closely resembles a knife is more variable in size than the knife and has a more flexible blade. When purchasing a spatula make sure that the blade is securely fastened.

Serves Many Purposes.

This simple article serves a multiple of purposes. It may be used to level off the top of measured dry ingredients and to smooth and level the top of a cake before baking. A spatula run around the edge of pan of baked material will loosen the food without injuring the material. In fact, the spatula should always be used instead of a knife in the kitchen except when cutting.

An apple corer is a simple device with a curved metal blade that fits into a wooden handle. Its sawtoothed blade with a sharp point and a slit through part of the center adapts it to many uses. One side of the slit edge is raised slightly and is sharpened. The sharp point is pushed through the apple and the blade cuts a cylinder of apple core which is removed. The hole may be filled with sugar and raisins or dates and baked.

The apple corer is also used to peel potatoes. The sharp edge removes a thin skin and the sharp point takes the eyes out. A cylinder of potato may also be removed from the center and the cavity filled with meat or sausage. This makes a surprise potato.

Flexible Rubber Scraper.

Our third article, the rubber scraper, is one of the handiest devices for loosening batter left in bowls or food in pots, and which is generally so much trouble to remove. Also before stacking the dishes for washing a rubber scraper will remove all the bits of food that cling and make washing difficult.

But, as with all other things, good results are secured only when we have a good scraper.

BOMB DAMAGES YANKEE HOSPITAL IN CHINA; 1 HURT

Peiping Papers Wage War on Medical Center.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PEIPING, China, Sept. 4.—A bomb today wrecked the office of the Peiping Union Medical college, constructed, equipped and staffed by the Rockefeller foundation. The outrage came as a sequel to a Chinese newspaper campaign directed against the hospital of the college. One Chinese employe was seriously injured.

An unidentified Chinese left a suitcase containing the bomb which was arranged so that when it was opened it would explode. A previous attempt was made on Tuesday when an unexploded bomb was found in the hospital grounds.

Objected to Autopsy.

Several Chinese papers attacked the hospital a month ago when the doctors performed an autopsy upon an illiterate workman and his widow objected. The Chinese court absolved the doctor, but the newspapers continued to attack the institution as an "organ of imperialism." The Chinese doctors and the Chinese newspaper Takung Pao were the only ones who defended the hospital.

The hospital, which is completely fireproof and modern as far as sanitation and comfort are concerned, has 250 beds and 30 private rooms. Other buildings include laboratories and quarters for resident physicians and internes.

REDS CUT OFF CHANGSHA

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

SHANGHAI, Sept. 4.—Changsha, capital of Hunan province, again is surrounded by Chinese Reds. The various communists armies which have been operating south of the Yangtsze river have combined in a general attack on the city, the apparent purpose being to defeat the government forces south of the Yangtsze and occupy Changsha before President Chiang Kai-shek is able to accomplish the defeat of the Christian General Feng Yuh-siang's army in northern Honan.

According to authoritative wireless reports from Hankow this afternoon the Red force now investing Changsha consists of about eight separate "armies," totaling about 40,000 men, of which about half are armed with rifles, the others carrying spears.

Not All Defenders Loyal.

Gen. Ho Chien, the government commander defending Changsha, has only about 21,000 troops. Half of this number, having recently been sent to Changsha from Hankow, are considered dependable.

Since the Nationalist reoccupation of Changsha on Aug. 5 the troops have built an elaborate defense, consisting of trenches and barbed wire entanglements, which practically surround the city. Foreign observers are doubtful whether sufficient loyal troops are available to hold out against the communists.

The communists last night attempted an ancient strategy. They rounded up more than a thousand caribou, attached blazing torches to their tails, and drove the animals against the barbed wire barricades. The beasts, however, were scattered by government artillery.

GANDHI REBELS AND BRITISH FAIL TO MAKE PEACE

Prison Parleys Said to Have Broken Down.

BOMBAY, Sept. 4.—(AP)—Peace negotiations in India between the government and the civil disobedience leaders, including Mahatma Gandhi, Pandit Motilal Nehru, and his son, Jawaharlal Nehru, officially broke down today.

Mahatma Gandhi's final reply to the proposals of Sir Tej Bahadur and Mr. Jayakar today were being drafted, in consultation with other congress leaders. The letter will be delivered to the two moderates tomorrow.

Made Many Prison Calls.

Sir Tej Bahadur Sapru and M. Jayakar have been trying to compromise the difficulties between the British government and the nationalist leaders in India. They paid several visits to Mahatma Gandhi and the two Nehrus in their prisons.

For a time observers believed the mediators would persuade the Indian nationalists to yield enough to meet the minimum British demands. This hope, however, has waned until only the most optimistic expected the negotiations would be successful.

Mob Injures Police.

KHULNA, Bengal, India, Sept. 4.—(AP)—A mob today attacked a party of police at the village of Daulahat near here and injured several. The police fired at their attackers, but it is not known if there were other casualties. An excise shop was destroyed.

POONA, India, Sept. 4.—(AP)—The government today took new steps to end reported disaffection among the agriculturists of Islampur, in the Satar district of Bombay province. In response to a call for help from the Islampur police a force of 125 armed police, with Indian officers, was started for the scene in motor lorries. An active drive against the agriculturists, reported to have defied the government, was expected tomorrow.

The Islampur residents have left their homes and joined fugitives from Kholapur, who were in the hills on the border of Kholapur state and the Satara district, and are armed with all sorts of weapons.

RADIO LEADS TO 1,083 ARRESTS IN YEAR BY CLEVELAND POLICE

Cleveland, O., Sept. 4.—[Special.]—Police radio has proven a valuable asset in Cleveland's fight against crime, Acting Police Chief George J. Matowitz said today, backing up his statement with arrest figures during the first year radio has been used by the department.

It was on Sept. 19, 1929, that the police radio broadcasting station first was put in operation, chiefly as an experiment.

Five police automobiles were equipped with receiving sets at that time. Now there are 27 radio squads, and electricians are installing sets in 116 additional police cars.

The squad cars, kept in constant touch with central station by the short wave radio receiving sets have made 1,083 arrests during the last year. This record was compiled with only five cars in action during the first three months and only 27 cars during the last nine months.

Inclued in the list of those captured by radio cruisers were 357 robbers, 39 gun wielders, 43 burglars, and 11 murderers.

Two of those arrested for murder were caught before they left the scenes of their crimes.

PIONEER TRIBUNE NEWSBOY DEAD; FUNERAL TODAY

Funeral services will be held at 3 p. m. today at Mount Hope cemetery for Stephen W. Wheeler, 92 years old, one of Chicago's early settlers, who died at the home of a daughter in Hannibal, Mo.

STEPHEN W. WHEELER.

Mr. Wheeler in youth lived in a cabin at what is now Michigan avenue and Lake street. In those days drovers used State street as a lane to drive hogs to market, and it was Mr. Wheeler's favorite sport to jump on their backs.

He was one of THE TRIBUNE'S first newsboys and claimed to have been one of the oldest and most faithful of its readers. Surviving are his widow, 90 years old, and two daughters. In Chicago the couple lived with a daughter, Mrs. B. Frank Corey, 10444 Seeley avenue.

A. F. OF L. UNIONS ONLY TO JOIN IN ILLINOIS MEETING

Victor Olander, secretary of the Illinois Federation of Labor, yesterday notified associated trade unions and the United Mine Workers of America that only delegates representing unions regularly affiliated with the American Federation of Labor will be seated at the Springfield convention of the Illinois federation on Sept. 15. This action will prevent the Illinois miners who participated in the recent rump convention of coal miners from participating in the meeting.

One of the organizers of the rebel meeting was John H. Walker, the president of the state labor federation, who now is secretary of the new miners' organization. Walker resigned his job with the state federation on request of President William Green of the American Federation of Labor.

RECOVER BODY FROM BLAZING TRUCK WRECK

Pinned beneath the burning wreckage of his truck, the body of George M. Wagner, 45 years old, a butcher of Barrington, was found yesterday by passing motorists on a road near Deer Grove. The truck had plunged ten feet down an enbankment and overturned.

This death and one other raised Cook county's motor toll for the year to 687. The victim:

Rocco Andruzzo, 63 years old, 2654 West Grand avenue, a janitor. Died at the Garfield Park hospital of injuries received last Monday when he was struck by a hit and run driver at California and Grand avenues.

A charge of driving while intoxicated was dismissed by Judge John Lyle yesterday when Victor Kallio, 28 years old, 822 Windsor avenue, declared the zigzag course he was driving was caused by a sudden attack of indigestion. Kallio is a district manager of the Automobile Club of Illinois.

Charges against Robert Corcoran, 2346 Farwell avenue, were dismissed yesterday in the court of Justice Percy Harms at Niles Center when prosecutors announced his wife had refused to prosecute after she was seriously injured in a fall from their auto. According to police the couple had quarreled and his wife had leaped upon the running board of the auto when Corcoran, an auto salesman, sought to drive away from a roadhouse.

KILLS A ROBBER AND WOUNDS 2 AT OIL STATION

Pomeroy, O., Sept. 4. — (AP) — One bandit was killed and two others were believed wounded early today at Hobson, near here, when W. R. Athey, 45, gasoline filling station owner, opened fire upon the trio after they had robbed him.

The three bandits, one carrying a pistol, first purchased some gas from Athey. They then followed him into his station and pushed him upon a cot, but while one of the men robbed him there Athey reached under the pillow, grasped a pistol and opened fire. The other robbers fled as Athey fired.

Bank Robbers Get $1,000.

Verdi, Minn., Sept. 4. — (AP) — The fourth bank robbery in the northwest in two days netted three men who held up the Verdi State bank $1,000 today.

Before fleeing southward in an automobile the bandits fired several shots in the air to intimidate residents who had gathered in the streets while the bandits were gathering up all currency in the bank.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Sept. 4.—A seven hour day in all industries was unanimously demanded by the trades union congress at Nottingham today.

The actual proposals are for a reduction in the normal working week to 44 hours, inclusive of meal times—39 hours actual work—seven hours for five days a week, and four on Saturday.

The government is to be asked to introduce legislation accordingly. Compensation for workers displaced by the rationalization schemes and state pensions at the age of 60 are also demanded.

MRS. ARCHIBALD LOSES FIGHT ON FLORIDA DIVORCE

Two years of court litigation between H. Teller Archibald and his former wife, Mrs. Mildred R. Archibald of 854 Castlewood terrace, ended at Miami, Fla., yesterday when Mrs. Archibald's petition to set aside the divorce decree won by her husband was dismissed.

The Archibalds were married in 1911. Mr. Archibald was granted a divorce in Florida early in 1929 on a charge of desertion. He subsequently married Dorothy Wooden of Washington, D. C. Mrs. Archibald sought to have the decree voided on the grounds that it was fraudulent inasmuch as he was not a resident of Florida. Later she sued for divorce here in the Superior court and was granted a decree in June by Judge Joseph Sabath.

SIX ARE SEIZED IN RAID ON LOOP LOTTERY OFFICE

A squad from State's Attorney Swanson's office, led by Assistant State's Attorney Charles Mueller, raided the offices of the Consolidated Lottery company at 309 South La Salle street yesterday. Records and lottery tickets were seized and a woman and five men taken into custody.

After questioning, all the prisoners were released except Frank Van Martin, 35 years old, 614 Forest avenue, Oak Park, who said he was manager of the office. Van Martin said his principal was a Mr. Upham of Montreal, who visited the place biweekly to collect receipts. Forty-two per cent of the ticket income was disbursed in prizes and the rest represented profit and operating expenses, Van Martin said.

When in trouble with the police, ticket sellers were instructed to notify one Hall, described as a professional bondsman and hanger-on at Pekin Inn police station, Prosecutor Mueller said he was told. Van Martin was vague on the operations of the company and declined to state where he procured a star he wore, identifying him as a member of the personal staff of Frank Peska, the city prosecutor. A salesman, who answered Van Martin's blind advertisement for ticket sellers, brought about the raid.

Trusted Man and Now Finds He H... Common Law W...

BY DORIS BLAKE.

"For seven years I have been engaged to a man whom I dearly love and helped financially, and tried to inspire to make good in the business world. He has a good position, never has any money; always needs "sums," and never arriving any to our wedding day.

"He is a prince at love making, telling you how wonderful you are and what you mean in his life, a chance word startled me into investigation. I learned he has been living with a girl as man and wife while I was trusting him, waiting and sending him money. He tells me that he loves me, not to pay any attention to the other incident. We always been a good and clean letter, with ideals about what a home and wife should be. Now my ideals are shattered. Why do good girls receive such rewards as mine? Can you prove to be a real husband after what has happened? D...

Surely your last question, Dale, does not suggest that you consider yourself the man on as a husband. I can answer your question as many good girls receive such rewards as yours. They're good and dumb, that's why, if not a little bit goofy. Don't marry the man now you will regret every bit of the treatment you are sure to get. The only difference is that you will be handing back your money so that he may have a good time on it and without you.

Seven years dragging along on only alibis to prevent the wedding being called doesn't suggest a true nature, but a slightly dulled one as reported by the fact that the man is drawing on you for money and were contributing to his debts by furnishing it, does not set well among the intelligents. Pretty management of your life would the verdict of an open-minded touched as they might be by your plight.

One of the least bright things a young woman can do is to start giving money to a man. Nine times cases out of a hundred that is the beginning of the end for her. If the man is who accepts the money still has enough of the old pride him to resent his position, and turns about and spends on some woman it is because the other woman pays him the compliment of letting him play the provider rôle. Remember that, or the fellow is no earthly good, in which event the less said about him and the sooner he is forgotten the better for you, Dale.

Clothes Badly Needed.

"I have seven children and expect another in December. School has reopened and there are five of them who need shoes and clothing. My husband has not worked in eight months. We owe rent and other bills, and I am just about frantic. The boys are 4, 6, 8 and 11 years; the girls are 9 and 13. MRS. M. E."

Just think what this mother's state of mind must be. She has seven children to provide for, is expecting another baby soon, and has no income. Can you help her by giving garments your children are outgrowing and any baby clothes you may have?

Offers Girl's Riding Habit.

"I have a girl's riding habit in size 14 which I shall be glad to give to some one. Do you know of a young woman who would like to have it? "MRS. H. W."

Riding apparel is one of the luxuries that young women cannot afford to buy, and those of them who ride view with envy the trim habits displayed in shop windows and on the bridle path. If you would like to have this suit, please write me for it.

Jewish Charities Tell Employment Work Done During 1929-'30

The Jewish free employment bureau of the Jewish Charities of Chicago reported yesterday through Alfred K. Foreman, president, that 1,475 persons were placed in jobs between Jan. 1 and Aug. 1, 1930. While the number of applicants for jobs during the first seven months of 1930 has increased 32 per cent over the number for the same period in 1929, there was only a slight increase in the number of persons placed.

"There were 6,748 registrations during the first seven months of 1929, and 9,815 applications during the same period in 1930," the report stated. "Of those given work this year 169 were physically handicapped. Placing of applicants is made possible through the coöperation of a number of business houses.

"There has been a notable change in the type of person applying during recent months. The unskilled, irregularly employed applicant is being replaced by skilled workers, shop keepers, and persons employed at jobs from ten to 20 years."

Premier MacDonald Has Titled Hosts on Vacation

[Copyright: 1930: By the New York Times.]

LONDON, Sept. 4.—No titled prime minister of Great Britain ever spent a more aristocratic vacation than Ramsay MacDonald is having in Scotland. After an almost secret departure from Lossiemouth—so secret that the newspapers made a "mystery" of it—the premier was found to have motored to the magnificent Dunrobin castle in the far north of Scotland, where he was the overnight guest of the duke and duchess of Sutherland. This morning he left Dunrobin for Loch Choir, where he will be the guest of the marquess and marchoness of Londonderry. Tomorrow he goes to Balmoral castle to spend the week-end with the king and queen.

GIRL DRUM MAJOR, 5, LEADS BOYS' BAND AS IT SERENADES HOOVER

Washington, D. C., Sept. 4.—(AP)—Betty Lee Parsons, five year old drum major, took her boys' band from Warren, O., to see President Hoover today and serenaded him on the south lawn of the White House. The President posed for pictures with the group, which represents post 1090, Veterans of Foreign Wars.

We All Want Our Soap Scented, or So 'Twould Seem

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

Patrons of the municipal bath houses at Buffalo, N. Y., are reported as wanting their soap scented, or they'll refuse to avail themselves of the free bathing privileges.

When the health board was informed of the complaints from the users of the public showers, a resolution was adopted to purchase over a hundred thousand cakes of rose scented soap for the objecting patrons. Many of them, it was reported, were bringing their own scented soap to the bath centers.

All of which proves that we are nothing if not a choosey people. We may be down and out—but we want our baths to be more than an experience with soap and water. We have no record, of course, as to what type of soap the public bath houses were dispensing before the "strike" for perfume. It may have justified a kick.

But isn't there something a bit humorous in the demand? Also, something very human in letting the bathhouse patrons have their cakes of rose scented soap?

It's going one better the old recipe for remaking a man: "Give him a bath, a shave, and a clean shirt and he can fight the world." Now, with the scent of the rose clinging to him, what's to stop him becoming president?

Now, if the men are so personally scent-conscious, maybe the women should take a tip and consider their duty to self not finished with only the odor of soap to advertise their charms! Perhaps the gardenless Adams are soul-starved for the breath of a flower. Anyway, women who are adept in scent usage have a tantalizing charm with the opposite sex which cannot be denied. And men, it is well known in the trade, are becoming more and more important factors in the consumption of perfumes the country over.

Certainly, a pleasing odor in a soap makes washing more agreeable. Bath salts in the tub, it is claimed by some women of nervous temperaments, has a sedative effect. By all women bath salts are a bit of luxury to which becoming accustomed would be no cross to bear. It is surprising, too, the number of women not of the luxury class who are accustoming themselves to the refreshing experience daily.

Wrong Party.

A friend and myself were invited to a card party. We did not know the number of the house, but we knew the number of the block. I said, "We will stop at the house we see lighted and people going in it." We went into the house, went up the stairs into the bedroom, like the others, took off our overshoes, coat, hat, fixed our hair, and went out into the living room and sat down. We did not know a soul in the room. Some of the ladies talked to us and we told them we were waiting for a friend as we were to be her guests. They asked us her name and phone number; we told them, but no one knew who we were talking about. We thought it strange that we knew no one, but we just sat. Imagine our embarrassment when the lady of the house said, "I believe I do not know you ladies." We said, "No, we do not know any of you, but we are waiting for a friend whose guests we are to be." She then said she did not know our friend. I asked, "Is this not the Pythian Sisters' card party?" She answered, "No, this is a private party I am giving." I could not get up for a time, but my friend had her overshoes, coat, and hat on ready to go, before I could get my legs to work so I could go. I felt like I was sinking away. We are now acquainted with the hostess of this party and we have had a great many laughs about it. We reached our party, four doors south, an hour late. L. M.

Sliding Hair.

At a party I met a very interesting middleaged man who, like myself, had traveled a great deal. We "chatted" all over the globe, and at last landed in Norway, whereupon he remarked [I being a blonde]: "You are the typical Nordic type. I love your hair. The way you wear it straight back." Whereupon he brushed his hand over my hair. I, in frivolous mood, said: "If I were you I would not wear my hair parted in the middle, but slick back the way I do!" I was trying to demonstrate to him with one touch over his head and lo and behold I had removed his toupee. Was I embarrassed? We both were! M. M.

Bright Sayings of the Children

My little daughter, Jeanne, 5 years old, was playing "house" with her playmate, Louise. They were in the kitchen and I heard Jeanne suggest toast and tea.

Louise said she did not know how to make toast but my wise daughter said: "That's easy. All you have to do is sit at the table with me, talk for a while, then I jump up real quick and run over to the sink and scrape it." D. H.

After our baby came my nurse went into the living room and said to young Tommy:

"Come and see what the doctor brought your mother."

Tommy—Yes, and I bet she blames me. He wouldn't have known where we lived, if I hadn't got the flu. R. C.

Strong Willed Children Are Hailed as Best

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Sept. 4.—Half of the world's girls of school age consider suicide while an equal proportion of boys seriously entertain notions of running away from home, Prof. Annie Olive Wheeler of Cardiff university told scientists today. She spoke at the British association convention at Bristol.

The girls, she said, do not have a parallel for the aggressive instincts found in the boys. The adolescent girl has the hardest job of restraining her passive instincts. That leads to lying, Prof. Wheeler declared, but the boys naturally lean toward "titantic aggressiveness" leading to rebellion against the ideas of God.

These statements were a prelude to a general attack on the conventional methods of rearing children. The old rule of "spare the rod and spoil the child" was dismissed not only as an outmoded theory, but condemned as "diabolical." The axiom "children should be seen and not heard" was attributed to parental vanity by W. E. Blatz of Toronto. He told mothers and fathers to keep out of their children's way.

"Very few parents know how to bring up children," he declared, "and it is difficult for them to learn. There are no university courses and only a few good books, so mothers turn for advice to their own mothers. That is the reason for the perpetration of the old inhuman doctrines."

The mishandling of children is the cause of later abnormality, according to Dr. J. A. Hadfield of London. "Abnormalities go back ultimately to false attitudes of life obtained in the preschool period," he told the scientists. "You will find that every form of psycho-neurotic condition can be observed in a nursery of a dozen children. A really healthy minded child is permitted to develop its self will. Between the ages of 4 and 6 the child is developing its own personality. Parents lay down objective ideals of obedience, consideration of others, and truthfulness. But it is not natural for a child to be considerate of others. To try and force that consideration is likely to do violence to the child's character. Self will is the raw material of character. To crush that is liable to lead to disaster. To crush that self will after it already is beginning to develop is worse still."

PICKED AS PRIZE BABY

"Nap Every Day" Aids Chicago Baby to Win at Aurora

Patricia Cleary, 4 years old, of 6240 North Campbell avenue, always had her nap every afternoon, ate her vegetables, cultivated a sunny disposition, and went to bed every night at 8 o'clock. That's why, in part, she was adjudged the champion baby of all classes yesterday at the Central States fair at Aurora. Today she will receive the Gov. Emmerson cup. The winners of divisional classes will also be given their awards.

Patricia is the only child of Mr. and Mrs. William F. Cleary. Both were elated last night that she scored 99.5 per cent and was the first Chicago baby ever to win the grand prize at the fair.

"Patricia has brown eyes and curly brown hair," said her mother. "Of course we think she is beautiful. If it hadn't been for our not having her vaccinated for smallpox she would have been a very nearly perfect baby. She's never been sick in her life."

Tonight the fair will close with another doll buggy parade. New prizes will be awarded and the audience will choose the winner. On Tuesday, after mothers had berated the choice of judges, another parade was promised.

Miss Noyes stated that several leaders in that field have been called to take part in the program. Among them are the Rev. Don Frank Fenn, Minneapolis; Dr. Hubert Carleton, Wilmette; Dr. Stephen E. Keeler, Chicago, and the Rev. Harold Holt, Oak Park. A demonstration of children's work will be presented on Saturday by members of the church school of the Church of the Epiphany.

Pleasant Town for Boulder Dam Makers, Plan of Uncle Sam

Denver, Colo., Sept. 4.—(AP)—While most towns "just grow," as Topsy did, the federal government is seeing to it that the village to be built for the workers who will construct Boulder dam materializes under scientific plans.

S. R. De Borer, Denver landscape artist, appointed by the interior department to prepare plans for the town, has selected four possible sites for the model city near the dam site on the Colorado river in Nevada.

He has recommended the town be built on a low mountain divide about 6 miles from the dam. His observation indicated this divide gets the benefit of any breeze in the hot desert country and has a good view.

During several weeks spent near the dam site De Borer took temperature readings on hilltops and valleys. He even interviewed old timers to get their ideas about the climate. Most of the places in the valleys were found unbearably hot. The hilltop townsites, besides being cooler and possessing more scenic attractions, offered better possibilities for street buildings.

Europe Beckons to Chicagoans for Fall Visits

BY THALIA

The tide of returning Chicagoans from summer vacations is stemmed by a few of our townsfolk headed in the opposite direction for early fall European trips.

Mrs. Heaton Owsley departed yesterday to sail tomorrow on the S. S. Paris to be with her daughter, Mrs. Paul Bartlett, at her villa at Hendaye, on the French and Spanish border, for about two months.

Her other daughter, Mrs. Sterling Morton, is in New York City and may possibly accompany her mother. Secor Cunningham Jr. departs shortly for France to get his young daughter, Alison, who has been with her mother there, and to bring her back to spend the winter with him in Lake Forest.

Mrs. David Peck of Lake Forest and Mrs. Harry Wanner sailed on Wednesday on the Mauretania, also for some European traveling. Dr. and Mrs. Wilhelm Ludwig Baum have made plans to sail on the 17th of this month to be in Europe for about two months.

As for those who are returning: The George Lyttons and their daughters, Mrs. Lytton Benello and Miss Rosemary Lytton, will soon be back in their Banks street residence. Mr. Lytton arrived this week from the east, where he has been with Mrs. Lytton and Miss Rosemary at Nantucket. The latter plan to be in New York City before coming on to Chicago in about two weeks. Mrs. Benello, who has been in Paris attending the fashion openings, landed last week on the Europa and is expected here tomorrow.

Mrs. Frederic McLaughlin, who believes firmly, I am told, in separate vacations yearly for husbands and wives, is back from her European trip. The John G. Curtises of Lake Forest have returned from a stay at a Montana ranch.

The Charles Garfield Kings are to close their new house in Santa Barbara, Cal., about Sept. 25 to return to Chicago, and the Joseph M. Cudahys are expected tomorrow from California. The Kings' daughter, Miss Barbara, arrives on the 13th, as she is to be in Jean MacLeish's wedding party.

The most recent addition to the ranks of the debutantes is Miss Irene Coffin, daughter of Mrs. Charles Rowells Coffin of Winnetka. Miss Coffin will make her formal bow at a tea to be given in October by her mother at their residence at 675 Blackthorn road. The Coffins are vacationing at present at Camp Wipigaki on Lac du Flambeau, Wis.

Mrs. Robert T. Newberry of 1401 Astor street has returned from a summer trip in Europe, and Mrs. Boyd Hill of 31 East Elm street and her little girls, Cici and Joan, arrived this week from Nonquitt, Mass., where they have been spending the summer with Mrs. Charles H. Fargo and her children. The Fargos are remaining in the east for several weeks longer. Mr. and Mrs. Hill and the children are to be in Lake Forest with Mrs. Hill's mother, Mrs. Victor C. Sanborn, for a month before opening their apartment.

The women's annual powwow and meeting at Onwentsia is to be held at the club next Wednesday. In the morning there will be golf and special tennis events, and after lunch at 1 o'clock the annual business meeting will be held.

The box committee of the Chicago Civic Opera company will begin its fall meetings on Wednesday next, Mrs. Rockefeller McCormick is to be hostess to the group at luncheon, and in the absence of Mrs. Jacob Baur, chairman of the committee, she will preside. Since opera became civic in Chicago this committee, under the auspices of the Friends of Opera, has coöperated with the opera company in the sale of boxes and seats. The fall campaign will include the selling of Saturday evening and Sunday matinee boxes. The Friends of Opera itself, of which Mrs. Arthur Meeker is chairman, will resume its activities in November.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry W. Farnum have had with them recently their son-in-law and daughter, the John Ripley Bigelows [Helen Farnum] of New York City, and Miss Margaret Mix, also of New York, at their summer place, Sun Dial cottage at Marion, Mass.

Mrs. Forsythe Sherfesee has left Ringwood, her place at Cooperstown, N. Y., to sail tomorrow to join Mr. Sherfesee in France. They plan to spend the winter traveling about in the orient.

One of the Labor day events at Cooperstown was the women's sailing race for a cup presented by Mrs. Frank J. Loesch of Chicago.

Mrs. Volney Foster of Lake Forest has been visiting her mother, Mrs. George White Baxter, at Easthampton, Long Island, and is now in New York City.

Reading of Books Helps Patients, Says Official of Hospital

The Presbyterian hospital has a theory that books will speed a patient to recovery. A hospital library established a year ago has circulated 22,000 volumes to patients and employés, according to the annual report. The hospital's own collection, supported by the woman's board, was supplemented by service from the Chicago public library.

The service of a full time librarian and her equipment has proven of definite therapeutic value, according to staff physicians, who plan to open a post graduate training school for hospital libraries similar to the training school for nurses.

"Sometimes patients want exactly the kind of a book their physicians don't want them to have, while others who are most in need of mental recreation refuse to read at all," said Asa S. Bacon, hospital superintendent. "In these cases the librarian is called upon for rare professional skill."

Miss Selma Lindem, librarian, has learned as she wheels her book cart through the corridors, the tastes of her customers. The woman patient nearly always a romantic book, men prefer mystery and adventure, and some travel and humor.

Daughter of Irvin Cobb and Realty Man Married

New York, Sept. 4.—(AP)—Mrs. Elizabeth Cobb Chapman, daughter of Irvin S. Cobb, author, and Alton A. Brody, real estate operator, were married in the chapel of the municipal building today. J. J. Brody of New York.

WASHINGTON SOCIETY

Washington, D. C., Sept. 4.—[Special.]—Mrs. Hoover, who returned last evening to the White House from the presidential camp on the Rapidan accompanied by Mrs. Stark McMullin, returned to the camp this afternoon, Mrs. McMullin also going. Mrs. Hoover drove her own car. They will stay over the week-end.

Secretary Charles Francis Adams will spend the week-end with Mrs. Adams in their country home, The Glades, at Minot, Mass.

Mrs. McChord, wife of Judge C. D. McChord gave a luncheon for 10 today at the Mayflower in honor of Mrs. William M. Jardine, wife of the newly appointed American minister to Egypt. He formerly was secretary of agriculture in the Coolidge cabinet. Mr. and Mrs. McClure Kelley of Aurora, Ill., sailed today for this country after spending two months abroad. Their small daughter has been here with her grandmother, Mrs. William Fotch Kelley in her country place, The Knole, on the Rockville pike. Mr. and Mrs. Kelley are expected to arrive here on the 14th and will go to their home after only a few days' stay. They have been in San Sebastian, Spain, for a visit, where they were entertained at dinner by Senorita Padilla, daughter of the Spanish ambassador to this country. They went from there to Paris.

Valet Saves Life of Man Who Aided Carol to Throne

LONDON, Sept. 4.—(AP)—Brabu Jonesco, who was host in London to Prince Carol, now king of Rumania, and who was supposed to have been one of the promoters of Carol's return to rule, was overcome by fumes in his bathroom today and saved from death by his valet.

Beverly Hills Women Give Garden Show Afternoon and Evening

Beverly Hills Woman's club members will stage their 19th annual flower show this afternoon and evening in the Ridge Park fieldhouse at 96th street and Longwood drive. Saturday and Sunday, Sept. 6 and 7, are the dates set for an annual flower show at Villa Park on the west side.

The Beverly Hills show will be modernistic this year, says Alice L. Munnecke, explaining that the entire gymnasium of the building which will house the show is to be treated as a garden, with a rock garden and pool at one end of the room and garden furniture and gay umbrellas lending atmosphere for garden tea tables which will comprise one of the exhibits.

The Vanderpoel art gallery, in one wing of the fieldhouse, will be open to patrons of the show who also will have opportunity to dance in the evening in the auditorium through arrangements in charge of the junior auxiliary. Prizes in addition to ribbon awards are an innovation for the Beverly Hills competition.

How Can I Make My Boy Feel Responsible? Is Mother's Query

By Mrs. Gladys Huntington Bevans

Many a mother of a 10 or 11 or 12 year old son tears her hair over his irresponsibility. This is one mother of many:

"My Dear Mrs. Bevans: Will you please suggest some books on child training which will help me to better management of my 10 year old son? He is inclined to be a bit shy—has an even, happy disposition—but is so irresponsible that I despair! I want to have something specific as a guide to develop more self-reliance and dependability."

My Dear Mrs. ——: It is a rather subtle thing to cure shyness and irresponsibility in a 10 year old, and not easy to suggest reading that is definite in application. There are several books in which you might find pertinent chapters or a generally helpful approach. Among these are:

"Parenthood and the Newer Psychology," by Frank Howard Richardson, Putnam's, New York. Price $1.75.

"Youth in a World of Men," by Marietta L. Johnson, John Day company. Price $2.50.

"Child Guidance," by Blanton and Blanton. Century company, New York. Price $2.50.

A hint as to shyness. One great help in overcoming it is to introduce into the conversation subjects of real interest to your son when there are guests, or when he is away from home. Also, a hint to your adult friends along that line is wise. Anything which induces self-forgetfulness is helpful in curing shyness.

I found that a practical way to overcome irresponsibility [more common among boys than girls] is first to talk things out with them, explaining the need of a sense of responsibility. Also, make the point that you don't expect them to be responsible as a grown person is responsible, but as a child is. Then make it a point to hold them responsible for only a few things—or maybe only one at first, like helping you about the house, or in their personal grooming.

A fine way to arouse this sense of responsibility is in getting pets for them if they wish it, and then giving them entire charge of them, making them realize that the comfort and even the life of a fish or turtle or dog may depend on them. This should not be begun with small children, though. Praise and reminders are necessary, at first.

Timothy, a coarse hay, is the common adulterant of grass seed mixtures and the greatest enemy of lawns. It comes up quickly, but its coarse stems rob fine grasses of food and inevitably ruin a lawn.

Paris Expedient for the No Longer Slim

BY BETTINA BEDWELL.

PARIS.—[Special Correspondence.]—Fashion seems to be particularly unkind to stout women, but there are ways of getting around their handicaps just the same. I have observed that some of the smartest women in Paris have adapted to their considerable avoirdupois the most difficult of the current fashions. They get away beautifully with the curved in silhouette by the simple device of wearing little jackets with all of their sheer summer dresses, so that there isn't too much revelation. Of course, good corseting is absolutely necessary for any effect; correct corsets are the first rule of chic for both stout and thin these days.

The Molyneux model shown in our sketch was worn at the races by a woman who is stouter than the average stout woman, and she looked stunning because of the clever way the curved in silhouette is arranged. The blouse of this dress is straight, but not fitted, and the sheerness of the green and red chiffon makes it fall in graceful folds that are flattering to the stout figure. The soft chiffon sash at the waistline adapts its normal location to the stout woman, and the fitted yoke of the skirt minimizes the girth of the hips, so that the plaited lower skirt adds not at all to the bulk. There is a pretty soft scarf at the neckline that camouflages the unpretty lump of fat at the back of the neck.

The matching chiffon jacket is unlined, and is quite short and loose. It is trimmed with a band that ends in a bow on the left side below the shoulders, carefully placed low so that no effect of heaviness is given to them.

Adult Charity Tag Day on Monday; Goal Is $100,000

Here is a reminder that when you figure out next week's budget of expenses don't forget have-a-heart tag day on Monday. Otherwise you're likely to be reminded of it many times before the day is over, for little red hearts will flutter all over the loop and the busy places about the city. Taggers for the 43 institutions of the Chicago Federated Charities will try very hard to raise $100,000 set as the goal.

"Owing to unusual conditions," Miss L. Ellen Babcock, president of the federation, said yesterday, "which have prevailed during the last year, the need of money to care for thousands of dependents is serious. Many institutions have not been able to meet their expenses and have a large deficit. Regular contributions have fallen off, and meanwhile crippled children, the aged and helpless, are turned away because of lack of funds."

One of the most worthy of the homes which is to benefit from the tag day is the Martha Washington Home for Crippled Children, 4448 South Michigan avenue. This home is supported entirely by voluntary contributions and has no endowment. It provides not only food and shelter but crutches, wheel chairs, braces, and orthopedic shoes for the unfortunate children. It is nonsectarian.

"You won't keep me awake all night!"

From two to four A. M. last night she hunted wily mosquitoes who played hide and seek with her in the window curtains, and from four to six she lay awake and prayed for Flit. She's learned her lesson now! No more wide-awake nights for her!

Be comfortable and safe. Keep your home insect-free. Spray Flit, which is guaranteed (or money back) to be quick-death to flies, mosquitoes, moths, roaches, bed bugs and other household insects. Yet its clean-smelling vapor is harmless to humans.

Flit kills quicker if you use the special inexpensive Flit Sprayer. Insist on Flit and don't accept a substitute. Get yours today!

FARM and GARDEN BY PAUL POTTER

"What is it?" may become a common question Saturday and Sunday at Garfield park conservatory, if gardeners of the Chicago area respond to an invitation to bring plants for identification while the fourth annual fall flower show of the Men's Garden club of Chicago is being held. The identification bureau will be a free service to those who attend the show, which also is free to the public.

Separate classes for competition have been set up, including those for professional growers, commercial growers, and amateur growers in separate classes, according to whether they are members or non-members. The new class which has been added is that for entries from professionals who are members of the club and W. A. Schueler as president of the organization announces that this competition promises to be one of the most interesting this year.

In the arrangements he is being assisted by a show committee consisting of O. V. Morgan, S. T. Collins Jr., L. W. Nack, John Riva, August Koch, and M. D. White, in addition to the other officers of the club, including A. F. Bronwell, vice president, and P. L. Battey, treasurer.

Entries are to be completed by having flowers ready for display at the conservatory before 11 a. m. Saturday, to be received by a committee and placed in holders provided by the club. Gladioli, asters, and dahlias are expected to be outstanding among the exhibits which probably will total around 2,000 entries, although last year there were approximately 1,500, according to the show committee. Premium lists are available in the office of the corresponding secretary, James H. Burdett in room 1311, 130 North Wells street, or they may be obtained at the show.

King of Belgians Returns from His Swiss Holiday

BRUSSELS, Belgium, Sept. 4.—(AP)—King Albert returned from Switzerland today after a ten day holiday. His return was hastened by the expected announcement of Princess Astrid, wife of Prince Leopold. Prince Leopold and the princess have been staying at Stuyvenbergh castle with their three year old daughter, Josephine Charlott. The castle is closely guarded by soldiers and gendarmes to protect the princess from public curiosity.

Konjola

MRS. ANNA DYKSTRA
942 East 75th St., Chicago

... a new and different medicine of deeds, not words.

Konjola has not made good by luck nor accident; there is a reason why seven million bottles of this medicine of 32 ingredients were used in two years. That reason is that Konjola, time after time, triumphs when all else put to the test has been found wanting.
Read the grateful words of Mrs. Dykstra. No wonder she is strong for Konjola, when she says:

"I believe there is a place in every home for Konjola, for I know what it has done for me and my son. For two years I was nervous: my stomach bloated with gas and I had severe sick headaches. I could not sleep, and the next day was tired and worn out. I have taken four bottles of Konjola. There is very great improvement in my stomach; I am not nervous; sleep like a child and the headaches are gone."

Buy Konjola at any Drug Store.
It is Sold Everywhere in Chicago.
